PARIS. (U. P.) — French couturiers are beginning to bring out their first clothes for winter sports. Here is one field of feminine apparel in which it is almost impossible for great changes to take place as, after all, ski suits have to be simple, comfortable and warm.

Marjorie Dunton shows a costume consisting of woolly gray pants worn with a heavy sweater blouse of gray, green and red plaid. For extra warmth and to allow plenty of freedom for the arms, there is a sleeveless jacket of gray leather which is fitted closely so that the bulk of the heavy clothes will not make the body look shapeless. This ski suit is completed with a modified aviator's cap in gray which is worn well back on the head and has a pointed flap which protects the back of the neck.

Schiaparelli's version consists of tobacco brown pants worn with a heavy turtle neck sweater and a chamois jacket. For added warmth there is a shaggy bear skin coat, finger tip length, with a warm hood of the fur which can be pulled up over the head.

The same house shows a suit with a skirt of dark brown sea lion worn with a hip-length brown wool jacket trimmed with sea lion collar and cuffs and fastening with gold gauntlet buttons. Under this is worn a sweater in brown with the front made up entirely of brightly colored medallions of grand point. With this is worn a beret of sea lion tipped with a bow of brown wool.

TODAY'S FASHION TIP

Fur coats with hoods are worn with ski clothes.

METHODIST LADIES' CHRISTMAS PARTY

Ushering in the holiday season ladies of the first Methodist church held their annual Christmas party in the church parlors Tuesday. Mrs. Guy Mowry and her committee were responsible for the lovely luncheon served to some 75 ladies and the pastor, Rev. Carl Allen, at noon. The church was decorated in perfect Christmas style. Huge baskets of poinsettias were placed between the luncheon tables. The tables were decorated with red berries and tapers, and a Christmas tree adorned with gifts for all added much to the occasion.

A short business session conducted by the aid president, Mrs. L. C. Burger, followed the luncheon. An interesting program, which included the singing of Christmas carols, readings by Julia Reed Brown, two cello selections by George Mershon with piano accompaniment by Miss Gertrude Mowry, a talk by Mrs. Allen entitled "Peace and Good Will," and a talk by the pastor on "Woman's Aid."

Grace on the dance floor as well as grit on the gridiron was displayed Friday night at the party given in honor of the Torrance high school football squad. Football decorations lent gayety to the scene, and refreshments were served by a committee of the mothers of football heroes, Mrs. Elsie Smith, Mrs. William Javens and Mrs. Kent.

Hubert Luck and his partner, Miss Laurella Lancaster, were awarded the prize for the best fox trotters, and Johnny McFadden and Miss Ruth Barnard got the decision as the best waltzers. Other prizes were awarded to Coach Bernard J. Donahue and Miss Jean Berger.
