Consider Jesus Seriously, Rev. [illegible]

[illegible] one's [whole] mind. It is [illegible] more. As its heart, prayer is communion with God. It is loving, trustful intercourse of friend with friend. It is the highest activity of the universe! It is God and man in creative interaction!"

Instead of this high view of prayer, the rank and file of people today are confused and afraid of prayer, according to Rev. Walter A. Bischoff, who occupied the pulpit of the Central Evangelical Community church here Sunday. He urged the congregation to take "Jesus seriously in the practice of prayer." Jesus taught that "Men ought always to pray and never to lose heart." "There is a great gap between this ideal and our common practice today," the minister said.

As the teacher can do very little for the student who does not study, neither can God do much for that person who does not pray. "There are some things that God cannot give to the man who does not pray, for prayer is the means by which God creates redemptive values in one's life," Rev. Bischoff declared. "Prayer does more. It unifies a person within; it organizes and integrates the individual life. It is the means by which God creates the Christian fellowship. It is the means by which God gets things done in the lives of others."

Rev. Bischoff, recently from the Illinois Conference of the Evangelical church, is the minister of the Burbank congregation.

Newspapers, Communities Thanked For Support of State Guard Drive

Gratitude for generous community [support] in the recent in[tensive drive] . . .

"Because the newspapers, radio KFOX, the City Councils of Long Beach, Torrance and Compton, various organizations and individual patriotic citizens got behind the State Guard in this movement, the battalion now is approaching full strength," Major Fish said. Two companies, "A" of Long Beach, commanded by Captain Charles C. Church, and "I" of Compton, commanded by Captain Robert F. Genter, now are practically full strength, and the other seven units are making remarkable progress in recruiting, Major Fish declared.

Newspapers throughout the battalion area, both dailies and weeklies, carried generous space on the campaign, with both community sponsored advertising and in the news columns. Radio KFOX, Long Beach, gave a series of announcements about the State Guard. Resolutions urging enlistments were adopted by the City Councils of Long Beach, Torrance and Compton. Similar resolutions were adopted by a number of veterans and civic groups.

The campaign is continuing on a volunteer basis and will not let up until full battalion strength is reached, according to Major Fish.

"Governor Earl Warren, Brig. Gen. Ray W. Hays, the adjutant general, Major General David McCoach, Jr., commanding the Ninth Service Command, and Lt. Col. John C. French, U.S.A. (Ret.), commanding the Ninth Tactical Command of the Guard, have urged men to enlist in the State Guard for the protection of their homes, communities and the facilities and commodities of the State," Major Fish said. "We are not going to stop until we can tell them that we have a full strength battalion to protect this area. We want to be and probably will be the first battalion to reach full strength."

The battalion includes Cos. A and C of Long Beach; D, of Wilmington; E, of Bellflower; F, of Hermosa Beach, Redondo Beach and Manhattan Beach; G, of San Pedro; H, of Torrance; I, of Compton, and Headquarters and Service units, of Long Beach.

Civilians Face Tight Situation On Gasoline

The nation's stockpile of civilian gasoline is at point where any further increase in military demands will result in a very tight situation for civilians, Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies announced.

From July 1 to Aug. 19, the stocks of civilian grade motor gasoline held at refineries and terminals in the United States decreased 4,417,000 barrels. Total civilian stocks as of Aug. 19 were 41,857,000 barrels as compared with 43,123,000 barrels during the previous week. Stocks are now 40 per cent below the pre-war level of August, 1941.
