Governor Brown Suggests Need For Legislation

By VINCENT THOMAS
Assemblyman, 68th District

As had been expected the inaugural message of our new Governor called for legislative action in several new fields. Undoubtedly during the coming months of the current session the attention of your legislators will be focussed on bills embodying his recommendations, regardless of party.

Several bills carrying out some of his suggestions have already been introduced, and others covering the major points of his program will probably be dropped in the hopper as they are prepared. He indicated that he will issue a special statement on water legislation in the near future, and said that his budget will be submitted by the end of the month.

* * *

THE CHANGE in the tempo of our operations which resulted from the constitutional amendment adopted last November has already become apparent. The number of measures introduced has been cut sharply. During the first week of this session, almost two hundred measures were "put over the desk." During the same period of the 1957 meeting when the 30 day recess was in effect almost a thousand measures, five times as many, had been introduced.

The stretching out of the bill introducing period, and the resulting slow-down in the number put in early, is expected to produce more carefully thought-out measures. All of us hope it will also cut the number of bills considerably, and so make our job of working on thousands of them easier and more effective.

* * *

DURING THE first weeks before most bills can be heard in committee or acted on, many of our interim committees are expected to submit their reports and recommendations. One of the first to do so was the Assembly interim committee on government reorganization.

After two years of hearings and study this group has submitted one major recommendation which would profoundly change the financial workings of our state government, if finally adopted as a constitutional amendment by vote of the people.

* * *

THIS PROPOSAL would be to remove from the constitution all existing requirements for financial support of state activities, whether for schools, highways, or whatever. If this were done, it would restore to the legislature full control over all phases of the state budget.

For many years, Legislators and Governors alike have called public attention to the steadily decreasing proportion of the state budget which has been left for legislative and administrative control. During the past quarter of a century more and more costs for various functions of state government have been fixed either in the constitution or in statutes, until now only about one third of the total budget is within the discretion of the Legislature.

* * *

SO FAR AS these fixed costs are concerned, the Legislature is obligated to provide money, and must do so by additional taxation if necessary. Also many special functions have been removed from legislative control by the establishment of separate funds. The proposed amendment would provide one big fund for all functions, and let the Legislature decide how it would be divided among them.

A spokesmaan for the interim group admits the proposal is "idealistic" and may have rough going in the Legislature. But some Legislators believe in the principle involved, so now all of us will get the chance to study the problems and implications involved.
