

Kanine Korner

By Francis X. Lohmann

From the dawn of history, whenever man looked for new endeavors to conquer he usually took his dog along for company. The Spanish brought their dogs when they came seeking gold in this hemisphere. English settlers came with their hounds and terriers to the American colonies. When pioneer families set out for their cross country adventure, the family dog jumped into the covered wagon, too. Admiral Byrd took his dog, Igloo, to the antarctic. Is it hard to imagine then that some day a dog will add to his species' long, illustrious history as man's best friend by being the first pet on the moon?

Luscious, pulse-quickenng, red-haired Gail McRae's bylined TFH book entitled "How to Raise and Train A Borzoi" ned! . . . Recent news item datelined Istanbul, Turkey, relates the sad news that a young man's pet dog refused to leave his beloved master when both were caught in a binding snowstorm near the Village of Bursa. They both were frozen to death. How typical of the wonderful dog!

BREED OF THE WEEK — Basset Hound . . . The Basset Hound's family tree traces back to the ancient training hounds of Belgium and France. His comical appearance is the result of the desire of Continental breeders to produce a slow moving, keen nosed hound that could easily be followed on foot. With the exception of the Bloodhound, the modern-day Basset tops all other hounds in scenting powers. He excels in patience and reliability. Hound experts consider the deep, melodious Basset bay the most musical of all hound voices.

The Basset Hound is an extremely intelligent dog, obedient, affectionate and most gentle of disposition. A look from a Basset is an unforgettable experience. One roll of his dark, liquid eyes can run the gauntlet of emotions from deep-deep depression to affirmative approval. Further, the sad-eyed, lop-eared, short-legged hound makes an ideal house dog and pet. The demand for the Basset Hound, at the present time, seems to exceed the supply. The Basset Hound Club of Southern California has done so much in fostering the breed in the Southland. The Basset tips the scales at about 45 pounds and in height 14 inches.

HORS D'OEUVRES

Mexican Turnovers Great Taste Treat

By VICKI PELLERITO Southern California Gas Co. For appetizers or desserts, tasty miniature Mexican turnovers hold perfectly in a low temperature oven.

These turnovers are a favorite on both sides of the border. Your guests are certain to rave when you serve these delicious hors d'oeuvres. Empanadas are well worth the extra preparation required. Set aside a morning to make a double recipe or encourage the young chefs at your house to lend a helping hand.

BAKED AHEAD of time, these delicious miniatures freeze beautifully. Before serving, re-heat them in the low temperature oven of your gas range at 170 degrees. For attractive, serving, put empanadas in a festive basket that warms right along with them in the oven. The golden brown crust combines well with many fillings. For dessert, serve empanadas filled with jelly, preserves or applesauce flavored with cinnamon. Meat or fish mixtures add variety to the recipe. Just make sure these fillings are well seasoned.

- Empanada Hors d'Oeuvres
- 1 c. (1/2 lb.) butter
 - 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
 - 2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1/2 lb. lean ground beef
 - 1/2 pkg. (1 1/2 oz. size) Lawry's Spaghetti Sauce Mix
 - 1/2 tsp. seasoned salt
 - 1/4 c. water
 - 1 medium-size tomato, peeled and chopped
 - 2 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
 - 1/4 c. grated Cheddar Cheese
 - 1 Tbsp. Parmesan cheese

1 egg yolk
1 tsp. water.
Cream butter and cheese together until well blended. Add flour and combine thoroughly. Shape into ball and refrigerate.
Brown meat on Automatic Top Burner at 275 degrees until crumbly. Add sauce mixture, water, tomato and onion. Reduce temperature to 200 degrees and simmer 15 minutes, stirring often. Turn off flame and stir in cheese.

DIVIDE dough into fourths. Roll each section 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured pastry cloth. Cut into circles with a 3-inch cutter. Place a rounded 1/2 teaspoon of meat filling on half of circle. Moisten edges of dough with water. Fold other half of circle over filling and press edges to gether with tines of fork to seal. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush empanadas with glaze made with egg yolk and 1 tsp. water.

Bake in modern gas oven at 400 degrees about 14 minutes or until golden. Makes about 5 dozen empanadas.
