Chanukah Festival To Begin

Festivities to celebrate Chanukah, the festival of lights, will begin at Temple Menorah, 1101 Camino Real, Sunday, at 4:30 p.m.

Rabbi Jerome Unger will kindle the first light in a ceremony involving children from the Religious School of Temple Menorah. After the brief ceremony, a Chanukah carnival will be held.

Chanukah is a celebration of the recapture and rededication of the temple from the Greeks in the second century B.C. when the Jews rekindled the Eternal Light within the temple.

The festival is symbolized by the lighting of one candle each day for eight days—thus recalling the miracle of a day's supply of oil lasting eight days.

Spare the rod or the seat of the trouble will never be tapped.

Covenant Church Slates Building Fund Campaign

Members of Rolling Hills Covenant Church, 2221 Palos Verdes Drive North, will launch a building fund drive at a kickoff dinner tonight. The dinner will be held at the church, according to the Rev. Robert A. Honnette, pastor of the church.

Plans call for the construction of a two-story Educational Unit to house the Sunday School and an additional 100 worshippers. Construction is expected to begin early next year.

Tonight's program will feature special music by Helen Alexander and the Covenant Gospelaires Quartet. Olof Akerstrom, chairman of the church's trustees, Mel Anderson, building committee chairman, and Gilbert Bouma, fund drive chairman, will present a report on the drive.

The new unit will contain nine new classrooms, four large assembly areas, and a new study for the pastor. It is 32 by 60 feet and will eventually connect the existing chapel and a proposed sanctuary.

The church has been using homes of James Nixon and John Speight for Sunday School classes for the 90 students.
