Torrance has unteld possibilities of montes, sunate, low priced acreage for factories, plenty of room for expansion, is planned right for future growth.

Torrance has not the disadvantage of the conges-tion of a through-travel boulevard, but is the hub of roads radiating in every direction to the port and city and other communities, and is close to a good pleasure

Torrance is the gem of the creative genius of Olmstead, one of the greatest city planners: it has the physical foundation to build from. But physical advantages alone do not make a city. t takes human beings to put animate life into these things to make a city. But not only human beings. Canton, China, is called a city, but it is not a city. It is only a swarming hive, a mass of humanity. o-operative, public spirit of its people, and all these other hings combined that make a city—the spirit that says this is my town and your town, the only town on earth.

And a Chamber of Commerce must not only be well organized but have this spirit, have ideals, to work for and toward.

Pick out your star, know why, and don't go to -keep your eye on the star.

Secretary Pomeroy of the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce spoke briefly on ideals and the need of practical realization of them. The only justification for our being here is that we have tried to make the world a better place to live in.

A Chamber of Commerce should have its head in the clouds, but its feet on solid ground. And he suggested three things for a program:

1-Make this an ideal city.

3-Develop community spirit and correlate community forces.

Secretary Pomeroy also called attention to the DR. J. S. LANCASTER effort of northern California, as evidenced at the France First NATIONAL BANK BLDG. meeting, to prevent Southern California getting its proper representation in the state assembly and second to the need of greater respect for the law, all our laws. Disrespect of the law is throwing mud on the flag. I and the boys who built this hall, fought for.

After another song by the Masonic quartet and the gathering was entertained by Joe Stone and his committee with hot coffee and doughnuts.

SCHOOL NOTES

Th engineer who designed the heating system for the Torrance school building made an error in the size of the boiler. The boiler installed was one-half the size it should be, and the consequences are that the temperture in the class-room on Monday of this week was so low that it became necessary to send all the elementary children home, shut off the heat in that part of the building in order to keep the high school warm.
At noon it became advisable to discontinue the high school. The business department expects to double the size of the boiler as soon as it is possible to do so.

The Torrance high school boys played their fourth league game with Venice on the home grounds last Friday. The Venice team won with a score of 32 to 16. the whole school. The Junior Red Cross drive for nembership in the school is just closed. Each year less interest is being shown in the Red Cross work. This seems to be a natural thing for both the Junior and Senior Red Cross. We expect now that the war is over we don't see the need, but if we should take the time to investigate we would find that the greter part of the re construction, in the health of the disabled soldiers, is being carried on by the Red Cross. #### BACK FROM CENTRAL AMERICA

Mr. Charles Allen of Torrance has just returned from an eight months' trip to South and Central America and Mexico. His trip covered 1300 miles, and he saw a great deal of interesting country and had a glorious time, nevertheless he is glad to be please come. home with his mother again.

YOU CAN UNSCRABMBLE SCRAMBLED EGGS

Mr. Whitnall, of the Los Angele City Planning Commission, referring to the problems of eastern cities in trying to rectify the mistakes of the past in city growth, referred to the saying current at one time, "you can't inscramble scrambled eggs." great cartoonist, McCutcheon, had a cartoon illustrating this saying and it was the little daughter of a Los An geles banker who found a way to un cramble eggs. She was found of ooking at the cartoons in the papers out not old enough to read. She asked her father to read the legend at the top and he said: "Why it says,

You can't unscramble scrambled eggs," "But you can, father,' said the lit tle girl. Just feed them to the hen."
"And so," Mr. Whitnall said, "to olve our problems and mistakes we must go back to their source to find a solution." We often get some of our best answers from the everyday man. We experts and those close them have them on our minds so that we cannot vision them clearly and the outside man can see the solution better than we can. And so we always get the views of as many as possible.

"I remember being called to meeting of the Forum of Central avenue, composed of colored folks, many of them I found I knew, the street sweepers and other employes of the city, and we told them of our probems and they knew what they were and many of their suggestions were of the most vital importance.

"So in your Chamber of Commerce work get all your citizens interested your work and plans and problems and get the help of all in their solv ing at your monthly meetings,
"The Board of Directors will man age the execution of your work and plans, but go to all the people for liscussion of the community's needs and the betterment and upbuilding of your city."

At a gathering to celebrate the opening of the great aqueduct, Engineer Bill Mulholland, in charge of its triction, after a speech, asked one had any questions to ask.

One elaborate dame of the Five lundred, wanted information: "Mr. Mulholland I have always heard so much about this antelope
