TRADE AT HOME SPIRIT MUCH IN EVIDENCE, SAYS W. A. RENN

"Trading in Lomita means something more than trading at home," says W. A. Renn. "It is the inception to something better and bigger and more happy and prosperous homes, because in the development of the retail merchants of Lomita one cannot but lend their part towards the development of the city. In our business long ago we were convinced that all one needs to encourage people to trade at home is to be able to furnish them quality, extend service and meet the outside prices. This done the home institution readily receives the preference."

"Our greatest trouble has been to get enough of the products we sell to meet the demands. But at present we have big shipments coming in of varieties of goods all the time. This, we are proud to say, is due to home trading and home loyalty."

"Lomita holds for us all great possibilities, with its unexcelled home homey homes, and the best of all the wonderful location it enjoys—so accessible from the outside world through the great paved boulevards."—W. A. Renn.

They then adjourned to the regular prayer meeting. Miss Applin was a charter member of the Lomita C. E. and has served very efficiently as chairman of the prayer meeting committee. She expects to continue in C. E. work in Arizona and when she again returns to Lomita, her many friends here will welcome her joyously.
