LOMITA CHURCH NOTES

Christian Giving was the subject of the morning sermon from the text: God loveth a cheerful giver. In the context the Apostle Paul makes an appeal in behalf of the poor saints at Jerusalem. He bases this appeal not on the poverty of the poor, nor on the promised pledges of the Church at Corinth to help, but on the ground of the salvation of Jesus Christ. Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift. Our giving is an act of worship. It should be cheerful, systematic and proportionate. In the evening the theme was the question: Is doing good enough? The text was: "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly and to love mercy and walk humbly with thy God."

The Bible and the Christian church are not needless luxuries. They are necessities. Wherever they have gone they have changed human hearts and transformed human lives. Compare the treatment of women and children in Christian countries with their treatment in heathen lands. Our text is a triple command. We must not divide and separate it. Justice and mercy are brought to their perfection only as we walk humbly with our God.

Next Sunday at 11 a. m. the church will observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Mr. Jenkins of Torrance has kindly consented to sing for us at that service.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock we shall have Rev. C. R. McMillan. He will give a missionary address, using a moving picture film to illustrate his talk.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF TORRANCE

The pastor, having returned from his trip to the north, will preach at both services Sunday, the title for the morning sermon being, "The Lord Teaching Prayer." In the evening "Nemesis."

The Bible Study Class will resume its consideration of the Book of Genesis at the hour of 7:30 on Wednesday evenings. Bring your Bibles and come.

"For by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."—Ephesians, 2-8.

Rev. Stanley H. Thorpe, pastor.

Central Evangelical church program was unusual entirely last Sunday. Mrs. Dessa H. M. Fultz, director of story telling, Ellison White, Chautauqua, told some delightful stories to the primary children, and addressed the school briefly, and then told one of Count Tolstoy's best stories, "Where Love Is There Is God." Her presence was greatly appreciated, especially by the young people.

Mrs. E. M. Spreng, president of the Home and Foreign Woman's Missionary Society of the Evangelical church denomination, having landed in San Francisco Tuesday, April 12th, after having traveled for eight months in Japan and China, was with us and spoke very interestingly of her travels and experiences in traveling through the famine, robber-infested and warring sections of the country. She spoke of visiting mission stations of nearly every Protestant denomination. She praised the missionaries for their simple faith in God, and their perseverance in teaching, training and winning the heathen to Christ. She said Japan is different. Conditions there are much more pleasant in some ways but that Japan is not so eager for the gospel as would be desired. Our schools are recognized as among the best for women in Japan. The morning passed all too quickly to all present. The congregation was marked by several new faces from Long Beach and Los Angeles. Mrs. Spreng's home and office are in Cleveland, Ohio.

It has just about gotten around to the point in this country where a lot of girls think they can't attract attention without being naughty.

We overheard a teacher say in school the other day that he doesn't know why he picked out school teaching as a profession when there are two or three other easy ways of landing in the poorhouse.

CAUGHT BY WIRELESS

A little boy at Sunday school being asked what is the chief end of man, replied: "The end that's got the head on."

"Have you called on your new neighbor yet?"
"No; they're hardly our kind, my dear. They're the sort of people who never do anything they can't afford."—Life.

"What do you think of a man who marries for money?"
"He undoubtedly earns every cent he gets."

Parent—What is your reason for wishing to marry my daughter?
Young Man—I have no reason, sir; I am in love.

It was the week before little Willie's birthday, and he was on his knees at his bedside petitioning for presents in a very loud voice.

"Please send me," he shouted, "a bicycle, a toolchest, a—"

"What are you praying so loud for?" his younger brother interrupted. "God ain't deaf."

"I know he ain't," said little Willie, winking toward the next room, "but grandpa is."

"I heard the other day of a man who lives on onions alone."

"Well, any one who lives on onions ought to live alone."

Our advice to gardeners is not to fight over which has the largest radishes or spring onions. Bring them to this office and let us decide.

Unwelcome Collector—Dunn and Grabbit have commissioned me to collect their little account.

Stoney-Broke—Then I congratulate you on getting a permanent job!

She—A woman has to give up a great deal after she gets married.
He—A man does nothing else but give up after he gets married.

During one of his lecture trips Mark Twain arrived at a small town. Before dinner he went to a barber shop to be shaved.

"You are a stranger?" asked the barber.

"Yes," Mark Twain replied. "This is the first time I've been here."

"You chose a good time to come," the barber continued. "Mark Twain is going to read and lecture tonight. You'll go, I suppose?"

"Oh, I guess so."

"Have you bought your ticket?"

"Not yet."

"But everything is sold out. You'll have to stand."

"How very annoying!" Mark Twain said with a sigh. "I never saw such luck! I always have to stand when that fellow lectures."

Attorneys for the prosecution and defense had been allowed, by mutual consent, fifteen minutes each to argue a certain case.

Counsel for the defense began his argument with an allusion to the old swimming hole of his boyhood days. He told in overy oratory of the balmy air, the singing birds, the joy of youth, the delights of the cool water—and in the midst of it he was interrupted by the drawing voice of the judge.

"Come out, sir," he said, "and put on your clothes. Your fifteen minutes are up!"—The Green Bag.

A teacher was reading to her class when she came across the word "unaware." She asked if any one knew the meaning.

One little girl timidly raised her hand and gave the following definition:

"Unaware is what you put on first and take off last."—Buffalo News.

"Do you believe in the beneficial effects of laughter?"

"I certainly do. If I can get a man laughing I can nearly always borrow $5 from him."—Boston Transcript.

"Is your son out of danger yet?"
"No; doctor is going to make three or four more visits."

Wife—Now, dear, here's the doctor to see you.
