SPRINGTIME GREENS.

There are no more appetizing, stimulating and blood-purifying substances grown than the early spring greens, and every family should indulge as freely as possible in them. The piquant appetizing water cress may be found early along streams and running brooks. Dandelion greens may be procured in almost any plot of ground; pepper grass and mustard should be sown early so that it may be used with lettuce as salad. Spinach, chard and sorrel, as well as other weed plants, are all wholesome cooked for greens.

A platter of lamb chops garnished with a generous border of water cress may be eaten with only a sprinkling of salt.

Dandelion greens found under leaves or pieces of wood are white, tender and especially delicious dressed with olive oil and vinegar with a bit of chopped onion.

The tender young onions (the multi-pliers), are the richest, full of mineral salts and vitamins, needed to tone up the system.

The poke in the scallion, the milkweed stalks, just as they appear, make most delicious eating; for asparagus lovers the milkweed makes a dish which will appeal, for it is very similar to it.

Dock and wild mustard make very good cooked greens, while the sheep sorrel, so common in field and pasture, is another.

For a simple lettuce salad there is no dressing which can take the place of the French dressing; but one which has the French dressing for a basis with other highly seasoned vegetables will make a pleasant variety such as:

Springtime Salad.—Arrange a salad bowl with well-washed, crisp green water cress; sprinkle over it three or more tablespoonsful of finely minced green onions, stems and all. Garnish with thickly sliced red radishes and serve with a well-seasoned French dressing passed with the salad. The blanched leaves of early dandelion may be used in place of the water cress, making a most attractive and tasty salad.

A CALENDAR OF DINNERS

"Hardware" Reeve is very enthusiastic this week as the great sale of Florence stoves and ovens starts, which is to last one month. It is the aim of the dealers throughout the United States to sell one million stoves during the four weeks. "A Calendar of Dinners," a neatly bound book, printed in two colors, with 615 recipes, will be given away free to anyone buying a Florence stove. A three-day demonstration was held this week at the Torrance Hardware, with Mrs. C. Kavanaugh, of Los Angeles, an experienced cook, in charge of the demonstration, which was well patronized.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF TORRANCE

Sunday, May 29th, will be observed as Memorial Day, and the service in the morning will be of a patriotic nature. The pastor will preach on the subject, "Soldiers." Returned men are especially welcome.

Sunday School
 Commences sharp on time, 9:30. The subject for study this week is "Making the Neighborhood Christian." There is a class for everybody.

"After Death—What?"

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Uncle Sam said he wanted nothing when he entered the war, and it begins to look like that is what he's going to get.

As a matter of fact, the average woman is only cross when pay-day comes and her husband doesn't come across.

Deliver us from the citizen who thinks that culture consists in reading books they don't know anything about after they've read them.

The lessons your mother learned at her mother's knee had nothing to do with the price of silk stockings and automobile coats.

There's one thing you can bet on—the fellow who's talking war with Japan isn't paying taxes on the one we just got through with.

If there is one type of citizen we enjoy dodging it is the one who has the kind of religion that makes him gloomy.

DR. LEAKE SURPRISED

Dr. Norman A. Leake was the honor guest on his birthday anniversary on Friday, May 13, when a surprise gathering and dinner was planned by Mrs. Leake in her Arlington street home. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion and a large birthday cake adorned the center piece on the dining room table.

Those present were Mr. Leake's mother, Mrs. M. A. Leake, of Cranthor, Cal.; Mrs. M. A. Bruere of Fresno, Mrs. Leake's mother; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Collins, the latter a sister of Dr. Leake, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Leake of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Overman of Gardena.

TORRANCE SCHOOL NOTES

Over one principal's desk hangs a motto that, if followed, would mean so much to any ambitious student:

"It's the extra that pays." It means that after we think we know our lessons, if we were to study a little longer we would have a better standing with our teachers and a better mark.

"It's the extra that pays." If we think that we cannot help talking just once, and afterwards find ourselves assigned to detention, we realize then that a little extra effort to control ourselves would prevent this punishment.

"It's the extra that pays." If we think we cannot do our home work because of the many things we have to do at home; if we use a little extra effort to accomplish these tasks we will find plenty of time to do our home work.

"It's the extra that pays." The reputation of our school or of any school is based largely upon the impression we make on the public. In all school affairs we are judged by those who represent us.

The last Community Sing will take place at the Central church tonight, May 27, and will be conducted by Mr. Bobbins of the Torrance school orchestra. You are invited to come.

Word has just been received from Washington, D. C., that the Smith-Towner bill is in some danger of being defeated at the hands of the opponents of the public school system. They are spending millions in money and flooding Congress with letters and telegrams, and are maintaining a very large and effective lobby to defeat the bill. For the benefit of those who don't know what the bill is we will explain. The bill, as is generally known, provides for a secretary of education in the President's cabinet, $300,000,000 for distribution among the States for education purposes, a closer co-operation between national and state governments in educational matters. It interferes in no way with the present school system or in the power of the state authorities. Anyone who wishes to do so might assist materially in getting this bill through Congress by writing letters to our representatives and senators.

NEWS FROM KEYSTONE

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thomas of Los Angeles were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Erie Feller.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bartske, who two weeks ago came from Denver to visit relatives here, are planning to make this their permanent home and have already started to build.

An eight and one-half pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Douchak May 15 at the home of Mrs. Douchak's parents. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

Mr. Miller's family arrived from Harrisburg on Monday. The father had been here for the past five months and the family reunion was an exceedingly joyous one. His seventh baby was born in Pennsylvania since his leave, Monday being the first time he had seen his new baby.

C. T. Hatfield, a consistent booster for Keystone, is just completing a fine new bungalow on Harbor Boulevard.

The Keystone Commercial Club held their regular meeting the first Saturday in May in their new hall on Harbor Boulevard. A large crowd was in attendance, and a lunch was served after the business session. The Keystone Commercial Club is one of the most active organizations in Southern California and have many deeds already accomplished to their credit. Their unity of action is commendable.

POST GETS ARTISTIC RANGE

Chicago Organization Acquires Use of Famous World's Fair Field Museum Building.

The American Legion will soon have the use of a building known to millions in America as the embodiment of beauty in art and architecture, the old Fine Arts building of the 1893 World's Fair. The crack of army rifles will be heard in the famous structure, for it has been turned over to the Hyde Park post, No. 34, of the Legion in Chicago, as an indoor rifle range.

The large edifice, known as the old Field museum after the World's fair, was evacuated with the completion of the new Field museum. Various organizations of Chicago immediately besieged the park commissioners for permission to use the building, but the Legion post's request alone was granted.

Legionnaires now have a rifle range de luxe, one that will tend to erase the veteran's memories of sweltering days, shivering days and cold, moist days spent in trying to locate the bullseye on the army's outdoor firing points. The building is so large that a 200-yard range was established without difficulty, along with the shorter distances.

GETS MONEY FOR W. A. A. L.

Hungry Rooster Proves Gold Mine for Woman's Organization in Kansas.

How many grains of corn will a terribly hungry rooster eat after he has missed his meals for five hours? The Plymouth Rock in the photograph tucked away 283 grains in record time and made $328 for the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion in Cimarron, Kan.

The bird was placed in a show window on the main street in the Kansas town. For five hours he scratched and crowed for provender, which was not forthcoming. Then 1,000 grains of tempting yellow corn were spread before him. Guesses as to how many grains of corn it would take to assuage his hunger were sold at ten cents each. In three hours Mr. Rock had gulped 283 kernels of Kansas corn and retired for the night. Then he was sold twice, given back to the women, and was finally auctioned off. In all, he netted $328, a fraction more than $115 for every grain of corn he ate.

Mrs. Leah L. Klein, national executive committee woman from the Kansas department of the Auxiliary, handled the contest. One of the most active workers for the Auxiliary in her state, Mrs. Klein was educated in Wellesley college and in the New England Conservatory of Music. Her husband, who was a captain in the medical corps, was gassed in the Argonne-Meuse offensive.

THE AMERICAN LEGION GIRL

Miss Margaret Sousa, Daughter of Famous Bandmaster, Acquires New Title.

Miss Margaret Sousa, daughter of John Phillip Sousa, famous band director, has acquired a new title. She is known as the "American Legion Girl" because of her starring in a Legion motion picture, "Lest We Forget," a film depicting the struggles of disabled veterans to obtain justice and unemployment conditions among those who escaped injury in the World war.

Every now and then we run across some fellow on the streets who seems to think the Bible does not contain enough "Thou shalt not's."

After a fellow has figured out his income tax blank he knows everything about his income except when it went to.

Considering wages paid, there's a lot more money now in making white paper than in printing on it after it's made.

Another thing we are going to quit trying to understand is why the sugar market is at its lowest level when there is going to be a shortage of fruit.

Many a man has saved himself a good kicking by springing that "respect for old age" stuff.

A California man says he recently saw a snake as long as a wagon tongue. Considering that the State is dry, we don't know whether to take that as a knock or a boost for California.

We've noticed one queer thing about some men. They find it easier to be good when they don't feel good.

We can stand a whole lot without wanting to fight, but when Germany starts talking about the "spotless purity of her good name" we are in favor of going to war again.
