Employee—I don't like your methods of doing business, Mr. Grafton. I resign.

"Practical" Business man (sneeringly)—You're a holier-than-thou guy, eh?

Employee—No; merely a square peg in a crooked hole.—Puck.

Retired Auctioneer—"And what can you give my daughter?"

Prospective Son-in-Law—"A thousand a year, a car, a country-house."

Retired Auctioneer (absent-mindedly)—"Sold!"

"Before I take the room," said Mr. Bibbles' prospective lodger, "I'd like to ask you a question."

"What is it?"

"Would you—er—object if I did a little home brewing in your kitchen?"

"No," said Mr. Bibbles as a gleam of interest came into his eyes. "Not if you are good at it."

"Good morning, sir," said the landlord to the new tenant. "Just called to see if it would be convenient to pay your month's rent."

"Do you know, landlord, that none of the doors in this house will shut?"

"New house, new house; you know it takes time for it to settle."

"Ah, then, there's a pair of us I'm a new tenant; it takes time for me to settle, too. Good morning. Call again."

Pat O'Dowd met Mike Casey coming out of the local Police Court.

"O' had a most illigant toime on Saturday, O'Dowd—sure, 'twas the toime av me loife!"

"Indeed, Casey, and how was that?"

"Why, O' was at the Blue Pig and divil a thing do I remember after about 7:30."

"But if ye can't remember anything, Mike, how do you know that ye had such an illigant toime?"

"Well, O' ve jus' overheard a dirty policeman telling the magistrate all about it!"

WONDERS OF AMERICA

By T. T. MAXEY

© Western Newspaper Union. VALLEY FORGE

IN THE picturesque valley of the Schuylkill river, twenty miles northwest of Philadelphia, there is a sacred spot at which every American should give himself the privilege of worshipping sometime during his or her lifetime.

It is the then, unattractive site, lined with barren, frozen hillsides, where General George Washington and his little army of about 10,000 half-starved, poorly-clad patriots bivouaced, suffering unthinkable hardships, from December, 1777, to June, 1778, following the tragic battle of the Brandywine and the occupancy of Philadelphia by the British.

This circumstance of history bequeathed to this hallowed place a glory and a fame which will attach to it throughout the ages to come as will the more recent struggle to the region of the Argonne in France.

A tract of about 500 acres has been purchased by the state of Pennsylvania and the government, with patient determination and admirable completeness, is restoring ancient landmarks and transforming this historic camp-site of the Continental army into an everlasting National Shrine.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have erected a noble shaft to the unknown who sleep here and the Valley Forge Museum of American History contains many relics of the day. One fills with emotion as he enters the little cottage where General Washington had his simple headquarters and feels the odor of sanctity as he steps into the Washington Memorial Chapel, sometimes called "The Westminster of America."
