The growth of Mr. Hoffman's business since he started a shoe repairing store in Torrance about two years ago has grown by leaps and bounds. By quality work only, courtesy and attention to the trade, he has made a wonderful success in the repairing of shoes. In order to accommodate his trade he added a stock of Hamilton-Brown shoes to his business and his wisdom has proved beneficial to him since doing so. His business son outgrew his old location, which was small, and now he is snugly located in a fine new store room that will give the necessary space. He intends to employ another man to assist him in the repairing end of the business.
