HAROLD LLOYD SCALES SPRING ST. BUILDING

And the Film, 'Safety Last,' Comes to the Torrance Theatre

Wherever "Safety Last," Harold Lloyd's latest feature comedy for Pathe, is shown, it unquestionably will win the applause of the entire audience. But even the most enthusiastic applause can't compare with the cheering of the crowd that witnessed the filming of the climb in "Safety Last," which will be exhibited at the Torrance theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Somehow the news got about that the famous comedian was to use the Bank of Italy building at the corner of First and Spring streets in Los Angeles to film a scene for one of his forthcoming productions. Three hours before the comedian arrived the streets around the tall building were crowded with admirers of the star. When Harold appeared on the scene he was noisily welcomed, and as the directors and cameramen made their preparations the crowd settled down, expecting to see the filming of a comic street scene.

They saw, instead, one of the most daring stunts ever performed for the camera. As Harold continued his climb the huge audience showed its appreciation by breathless interest, applauding now and then at some especially reckless performance by the star, but, on the whole, watching the comedian in tense admiration.

When the climb was finally completed the crowd relaxed into a veritable ovation, and the gratifying demonstration when Harold Lloyd stepped into his car to leave surely must have been some compensation for the long hours of tedious training necessary to perform the clever feats in "Safety Last."

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

Charged by County Officer J. D. Wilnot with violating the Wright act, B. J. Gilmore was sentenced to $200 or 200 days. He had no money, so —

Jas. D. Ryan, up for vagrancy, drew 180 days. Sentence was suspended for as long as he keeps out of this locality.

J. T. Blanton, out on $500 bail, will have a jury trial January 29. Blanton escaped arrest when his home (the old Andre place on South Cypress street) was raided New Year's eve. Three kegs of 3 per cent hooch were found. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but he eluded the officers until last Saturday, when Constable Miller gathered him in.

Tagged by W. E. Thomas for having no rear lights on their machines, B. M. Welke and H. S. Isengren were each fined $2.

C. D. Hess, arrested for reckless driving, denied that he was driving recklessly, but did plead guilty to exceeding the speed limit. He was fined $2.

MUCH SAWDUST—LITTLE 'DUST'

George J. Rowe reports to Constable Carl J. Miller that the Oil Workers' Social club at 428 Narbonne avenue was entered early on the morning of January 18 through a hole cut in the wall of the building. The thieves got away with 300 pennies from the cash register, 100 nickels from the player piano, and eight or ten tins of tobacco.

IS IT YOURS?

A stripped Chevrolet, bearing license plate 482-352, was found recently in a corn field west of Lomita by Constable Carl J. Miller.
