Mrs. Morton Suggests Fine Menu For Thanksgiving Day

By MRS. MARY MORTON

Below is a suggested menu for Thanksgiving. It is quite elaborate and can be revised or shortened by each housekeeper to suit her taste. Or you can substitute your own particular dishes in place of some of those mentioned. There may be one or two recipes that are new to you and may prove a welcome change. Try to have as much of the work as possible done the day before Thanksgiving, especially if you are your own cook, so that the entire holiday will not be taken up with work, leaving you so fatigued at the end that you feel you have nothing whatever to be thankful for.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Egg Bread—One cup yellow meal, one cup cold boiled rice, three well beaten eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, two cups milk. Stir the beaten eggs into the milk, add the meal, butter, salt, and lastly the rice. Beat well for three minutes. Add two teaspoons baking powder and bake quickly in a shallow pan.

Walnut Fish Sauce—Work into a cup of butter as much lemon juice as it will absorb. When creamy, add half a teaspoonful of chopped pickled walnuts or pickled cucumbers with a little minced parsley.

Chestnut Croquettes—Chestnut croquettes are a delicious accompaniment to turkey. Use fifty French chestnuts, two gills of cream, two tablespoons butter, salt-cream, four eggs, and some sifted bread crumbs for breading. Shell the chestnuts, put into a stew pan with enough water to cover them. Boil thirty minutes. Drain off the water and pound the nuts until very fine; add one tablespoon of butter and pound until well mixed; add balance of butter and salt and pound ten minutes, then add the cream a little at a time. When it is all worked in rub the mixture through a sieve. Beat three eggs until light and stir into that which has been strained. Place in a double boiler and cook eight minutes, stirring constantly. It should by this time be smooth and thick if water in outer boiler has been boiling rapidly. Spread on large platter to cool. When cold, butter the hands and mold into balls or cones. Dip into the fourth egg, then into the crumbs; fry one minute and a half. Arrange on a warm napkin and serve.

Mince for Pie—Take one-half pound raw beef, one-half pound suet, one pound tart apples; chop each finely and separately. Then take one-half pound currants, well washed and dried, one-half pound of citron cut small, one-half pound brown sugar, one-half pint New Orleans molasses, one teaspoon or more salt, one-half ounce mixed spices, a little white pepper, one-half grated nutmeg, juice of one lemon, one-half pint of cider. Mix meat, suet, salt and spices, then add apples, then fruit, then cider, and last of all the sugar. Bake the day before, between two crusts of rich pastry.

He had been married about a year and had taken to spending his evenings downtown with the boys. One night his conscience worried him. So he called his young wife up.

"Hello, kid," he began. "Say, slip on some old clothes and run down to meet me on the quiet. We'll have a good dinner and then we'll get a machine and smear a little red paint around. How about it?"

"I'll be delighted to join you, Jack, but why not come on up here and get me? There's nobody home!"

As the husband's name was Tom, he now spends his evenings at home.

AND—GOOD NIGHT!

As the parting instructions were being given, the young traveler picked up his bag and started on his initial trip.

"Good luck to you," said his chief. "Wire us important news."

Next day the following telegram was received from the traveler: "Reached here safely; good room with bath; feeling fine." His chief wired back: "So glad; love and kisses; good-by."

NOTHING DOING

A western minister tells a story showing how a bishop, accosted in a Chicago street by a neat but hungry stranger, derived profit from the encounter.

Now the bishop took a fancy to the needy one, took him to a hotel and shared a good dinner with him. Yet, having left his episcopal wallet in the pocket of a different episcopay jacket, he suddenly faced the embarrassment of not having the wherewithal to pay for the dinner.

"Never mind," exclaimed the guest. "I have enjoyed dining with you, and I shall be charmed to pay the price. Allow me."

And the stranger paid for the two. This worried the prelate, who insisted:

"Just let me call a taxi and we'll run up to my place, where I shall have the pleasure of reimbursing you."

But the stranger met the suggestion with:

"See here, old man! You've stuck me for a bully good dinner, but hanged if I am going to let you stick me for taxi fare!"

AN OPTIMIST

Blinks was a supreme optimist; nothing ever worried him. One day, during a flood, he was seen by a neighbor lucky enough to possess a boat, sitting peacefully on the roof of his house as the water rose.

"Hullo, Blinks," cried the neighbor.

"Hullo, Sam," responded Blinks, cheerfully.

"All your poultry washed away, I suppose?" inquired the sympathizer.

"Yes," said Blinks, "but the ducks can swim."

"Apple trees done too, eh?"

"Yes, but the crop would have failed, anyway."

"So will you," retorted the other, "if you sit there much longer. Why, the water's covered your ground floor windows already."

"I know," assented Blinks, "and a good thing it is, too. Them windows did need washing."
