Move to Save Row of Trees On Cedar Ave.

Chamber of Commerce Asks Sidewalks Be Built Between Rows

Directors of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution Tuesday afternoon requesting the City Planning Commission and the Board of Trustees to save the cedar trees on Cedar avenue.

Specifications for the sidewalks to be constructed along this street between Redondo boulevard and and Carson street would necessitate the cutting down of the rows of cedars that line the highway on both sides.

The directors of the Chamber urged that the sidewalks be constructed between the cedar and eucalyptus trees, if such a plan is practical. It is thought that this plan would make Cedar avenue one of the most beautiful streets in Torrance.

It is thought that the trustees will agree to the plan.

New Shoe Store Is Opened Here On Cabrillo Ave.

With the informal opening this week of the Johnson Shoe Store at 1510 Cabrillo avenue, Torrance can now boast of a shop devoted exclusively to footwear and hosiery.

D. M. Johnson, proprietor of the new store, has been in the shoe business for the past 42 years. He first came to California in 1884, and for the past four and a half years has conducted a shoe store in Venice. Recently, however, Mr. Johnson decided to leave the beach city and has selected Torrance as his future home. He will be associated in the business with his wife and his daughter, Miss Helma H. Johnson. Miss Johnson will have charge of the hosiery department, and Mrs. Johnson will give her attention to the stock of fancy buckles and hose supporters.

For the past month alterations have been under way for the opening of the Johnson Shoe Store at 1510 Cabrillo avenue. The store has been entirely redecorated and attractive furnishings have been installed.

Mr. Johnson stated that while the store is now well stocked, and that they are doing business, the formal opening will not take place until the complete line of Spring goods has been received.

Santa Fe Gets Right to Cross Anaheim Street

Contract Grants Temporary Permit Until Viaduct Is Constructed

Of striking importance to Torrance is the agreement signed yesterday which will enable the Santa Fe Railroad Company to carry its line to Los Angeles harbor at Wilmington.

The agreement was signed by President Allen of the Harbor Commission and General Manager Eiler of the Santa Fe.

The contract provides temporary entry shall be made by means of a grade crossing over Anaheim street at McFarland avenue, the route sought as permanent entry by the railroad. Connections shall be made as soon as necessary authorization to the contract is granted by the State Railroad Commission.

Easement over the tracks to be built by the city under the Dominguez viaduct, at the joint expense of the city and the railroads, is granted to the Santa Fe as a permanent entry. Owing to the length of time required for construction and condemnation of property, it is expected that 18 months or two years will elapse before the permanent tracks are in use. The Santa Fe agreed to use the temporary franchise only until the viaduct line is completed and then handle its freights by the newer route.

Ends Ten-Year Effort

The signing of the contract ended ten years of effort on the part of the Santa Fe to secure an entry to the docks at the harbor.

It also marked the close of a three-year fight on the part of the city to prevent the Santa Fe from making a permanent grade crossing at Anaheim street. The agreement was the result of two months' negotiations on the part of Harbor Commissioner Allen and members of the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred, and was declared by officials of the Harbor Commission to be the greatest step in a decade toward the systematic development of freight handling at the local port.

Although the railroad will gain a permanent easement to the harbor and will pay a total of $300,000 toward the expense of the permanent line under the Dominguez viaduct, the city will retain title to the actual right of way, where there will be room for the construction of additional tracks as necessary.

OBSERVATIONS

psychology and city environment.

Anyone who does this, or helps to do this, is helping to better the morality of our adolescents, and adults as well. But this is only what has been going on for thousands of years and will be going on for thousands of years from today.

Meanwhile we need students of history, that we may learn of the behavior of mankind under similar conditions—and thus have an idea of the reactions of civilization.

Americans must quit kidding the European because his knowledge, while it was not best for fighting Indians and settling up a prairie country, is better fitted for the coming events than ours.

ALL of these things concern the adolescent in college. If the papas and mammas lose their balance the children will show it first when they get away to the big city university.

The American has been propagandized into believing that the farther a boy goes along educational lines, regardless of what he learns, the greater success he will be in life.

Read in McNaught's Monthly for January "Why I Left College."

THREE-FOURTHS of the time in a big university is wasted in so far as learning anything worth while is concerned. It takes a wonderful fellow to be able to issue from the tangle of social and athletic life swishing knee-deep about his unsophisticated self.

A hundred critics of the present system of education have called attention to the present credit system of public schools, which permits flooding the higher colleges with men and women who do not wish to learn.

Colleges now devote their time and energy to the men and women who must be forced, while they should ignore them and devote attention to the men who are eager. Through a system working out of Columbia University a standardization of education has issued, largely based on theory, which has resulted in displacing thousands of the most experienced teachers, and replacing them too often with others who, although they have finished the courses and been thoroughly legalized, still lack the breath of devotion to this work and love in their methods.

There are universities which have gotten this vision and are demanding strict entrance examinations. Stanford in the west has recently adopted this standard. California Tech is another. At such institutions the standard of morality will be wonderfully satisfactory.

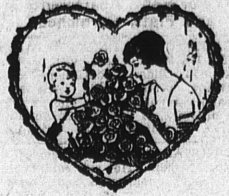

So you see, I have no solution to offer. Even as adults, adolescents must work out their own salvation. However, any help from the grown-ups will be greatly appreciated, I am certain.

Six men apprehended at 4454 Whittier boulevard pleaded guilty to the charge of gambling, and each paid a fine of $50. H. Ponder, already in for 200 days, had an additional 50 handed him. Jacob Stein, charged under the same ordinance, received a suspended sentence of $250.

George Gunther, Altadena, pleaded guilty to violating the Wright act and paid a fine of $200.

A. B. Reynolds and A. S. Reynolds, of 280 Harding avenue, asked until Feb. 8 to plead to the charge of the possession of liquor and apparatus for the manufacture of same.

Dave Usher, former proprietor of the Eastside, on Narbonne avenue, charged by O. B. Gefeke of the county dry squad with possession of liquor, was released under $1000 cash bond, and will appear Feb. 5 for a preliminary hearing. This is Usher's second offense, which makes it a high grade misdemeanor.
