CONSTRUCTIVE WORK BY LOCAL PASTOR

REV. A. LYALL, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Torrance, has devoted considerable of his talent and much of his energy to the promotion of high morals and the desire for betterment among boys of the Torrance High School. He has made chums of a group of lads with wonderful results and much personal interest and satisfaction to himself.

The boys regard him as a pal and seek his advice. This is because he won their respect, not by offering advice but by looking at things from their viewpoint, playing with them, promoting their interest in the very things in which youths are generally interested. But once he had their interest and respect they sought his counsel in other matters.

The work Mr. Lyall has done with the boys has been interesting and beneficial to them and extremely interesting to him. It has been constructive. And certainly the church through its ministers should seek to build up, particularly as regards character.

MONEY IN ALL OF OUR POCKETS

A LREADY one distinct advantage has accrued to a Torrance as a result of the recent annexation election. The Petroleum Securities Corporation last week took out a permit for the construction of oil storage tanks to cost $960.000. When these are filled with oil their assessed valuation will be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, it is estimated. Taxes on such a valuation will go into the treasury of the city, to the material benefit of every taxpayer of Torrance, including those whose propercy recently was annexed. At the same time the company which pays the taxes on the filled tanks will pay less taxes on the property than they would have, had the territory on which the tanks are being built remained in an unincorporated area.

MAKING TORRANCE SHIPPING HUB

MAKING TORRANCE SHIPPING HUB

PERSISTENT in their campaign to make Torrance the retail shopping hub of the district of which it is the geographical center, Torrance merchants are making splendid headway.

The dollar days last Friday and Saturday were unusually successful. Business was good at almost every retail store in Torrance and the public obtained hargains in all kinds of merchandise. Thus the effort was doubly advantageous.

On the semi-monthly bargain weekends being conducted by Torrance merchants, the public finds the city one large department store. Each merchant offers special inducements to shoppers. The sum total of the retail offerings in Torrance on these occasions matches the most gigantic sales event staged by metropolitan institutions.

By patronizing Torrance merchants on these occasions—as well as at other times—residents of Torrance enjoy the advantage of saving money and of patronizing home business.

If the passed, what should Z open This hand is a real puzzler, for the proper lead is really a gue between the low spade and the king of dhannums. Ferromally, it writer would lead the dence of spades, thus requests the king of diamonds as an equally sound opening. Either lead will save gam but the lead of the ace of clubs, followed by a low dish, will be the game. It just goes to show the importance of the pumper open life lead.

Answer to Problem No. 31 Hearts—10, 8, 4 Clubs—K, Q, 10, 8, 3 Diamonds—A, 7 Spades—A, J, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. All passed, and A opened the eight of spades. Z ployed the saven from Y's hand, B played the king, and Z the four. What should B now play, and why? B should lead the four of diamonds in the endeavor to establish a diamond trick for his partner. He will, never again be in the lead so should lead the only suit in which the lead up to dimmy will possibly benefit, his partner. A number of players would probably lead be spade suit in the hope that the eight of spades is a singleton. There is no sound reason for thinking so, however. There is no singleton in the dummy's hand or in B's hand, so why should B figure that A has a singleton? Singletons have a great habit of repeating, so if there are none in sight, don't figure the other players for one. The lead of the diamond at trick two is the only lead that will save game.

OLD-FASHIONED DISHES
Potato Biscuit.—Take one cupful of mashed potato, one cupful of lour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of sat and one-half teaspoonful of sat and one-half teaspoonful of loured board. Cut into small infoured board. Cut into small sating pan and bake twelve to lifteen minutes.

The old recipes handed down from generation to generation often lack the flavor or seasoning which was present in the original. We all feel that no mince pie tastes, cuite like that which mother used to make. Each cook adds a touch of something which makes the dish individual, therefore it is often difficult. unless every small detail feel.

Most of us have had experience in getting some delightful dish pinned down to proper measurements which can be followed by anyone who reads a recipe intellisently. With bowls, spoons and cups of yarying sizes as well as pinches by different fingers, it is small wonder that it is hard to follow an old-fashloned recipe. These days with standard measuring cups and spoons we should be able to pass on a satisfactory recipe.

Suet Pudding.—Take one cupful ach of molasses, sour milk and chopped suct. Add three one one-half cupfuls of flour, one cupful of raisins or other dried chopped fruit, we oggs well beaten, and spices to taste. Add a teaspoonful of soda and steam two hours in baking powder cans.

Sauce for Suet Pudding arate the yolks and whites of two eggs; beat the yolks and add one cupful of sugar, mix until the sugar is all dissolved, then add one cupful of hot milk and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Fifther whites of the eggs. (Copyright, 1927)
