ASK PERMIT CHANGE

The Southern California Edison Company requested the council Tuesday night to grant the city engineer authority to issue permits for excavations for poles on alleys and streets where the company has a franchise. Whenever a new pole must be placed the company is forced to wait for a meeting of the council before a permit to excavate can be secured, a letter from the company stated.

Political Advertising

Hugh B. Lawrence Says:—

"I'm an optimist.

"I believe the time will come before many years when there will be no more inefficiency in public offices.

"I look forward to a golden age in political history when there will be no more dishonesty and incompetence on the part of officials.

"No, I don't expect human nature to change overnight. Miracles of that kind don't happen nowadays.

"I simply believe that scientific methods applied to the various units of government will force public officials to be what we want them to be.

"The science of government, while elastic, should be as exact and as honest as mathematics and there should be no chance for error.

"This is no pipe dream. Big business uses science and research successfully. It is high time county governments were following the example of business."

Mr. Lawrence, mayor of Inglewood, is candidate for county supervisor from the fourth district.

Driver Crashes Thru Fence and Glass Window

Melvin Tyler Loses Control of Car at Carson Corner

Returning from the library about 9 o'clock last Wednesday evening, July 18, Melvin Tyler of 1819 Cabrillo, lost control of the car he was driving at the intersection of Carson, Cabrillo and Cravens, ran over the curb at the Standard Oil filling station, crashed through the fence and into the plate glass window of the Wichman Motor Sales building.

The impact caused the door of the car to come open and threw Mr. Tyler out, causing him to sustain a bad cut on the forehead.

When Mr. Wichman, who witnessed the accident, picked him up, he was in an unconscious condition and was rushed to the hospital, where the cut was dressed. Mr. Tyler was then removed to his home.

Owners Meet to Discuss Project

Eshelman Ave. People Hold Thursday Session About Petitions

A mass meeting of the Eshelman avenue property owners was held last Thursday evening in the office of Judge Patterson to enable all those concerned in the assessment district of Oak street, Eshelman avenue and Walnut street, to arrive at a decision concerning the proposed improvements on Eshelman avenue.

There are petitions now in circulation being distributed in the north end by Ira Washburn and on the south end from Weston street to Appian Way by Mrs. J. H. Kurtz and A. M. Colwell. These petitions call for an 80 foot street with sidewalks and curbs. The present boundary line for this district extends about 112 feet east on Walnut and west on Oak street which could be included, while the majority of the expense would be borne by the property owners on Eshelman avenue. Should it be found necessary to do this, the present petitions need not be changed.

Practically all of the residents on Eshelman avenue have signed for an 80 foot street, the only opposition coming from those who live on Oak street and Walnut street because of their unwillingness to pay for an improvement which they think will be of no direct benefit to them. However they would be paying a very small percentage of the assessment and would be benefited to the extent that the children would be protected from traffic on their way to school by having sidewalks.
