I. H. Hawkins Is Host to Employees

I. H. Hawkins entertained his employees with a dinner at Earl's cafe Monday evening. Covers were laid for 25.

Following the dinner, a business discussion was held.

Mr. Hawkins plans a get together dinner for his employees once a month.

HAVLIN TRANSFERRED

Thomas N. Havlin, formerly chief chemist and metallurgist at the Columbia Steel Corporation, has been transferred to the foundry, where he will resume duties as metallurgist and have charge of the electric furnace directly under F. E. McIntyre, general foundry superintendent.

We are happy to state at this time that a noted improvement has been made in the condition of Mrs. Charles Ganster who has been seriously ill at her home on Redondo boulevard. Mrs. Ganster is now able to sit up for a while each day.

Torrance Woman Makes Lovely Rock Garden in Back Yard

With an ordinary tablespoon, a butcher knife, and a stowpan for tools, some old pipe, cement, some rocks and shreds for materials, and a love of beauty for inspiration, Mrs. Hallie D. Klidder has completed an enchanted rock garden in the back yard of her home at 734 Border avenue.

Three months it took to work out her idea, mixing cement by the three tablespoons, but the result is one of rare beauty.

A wealth of detail comprises the rock garden, which sets in the miniature a mountain, with a tiny waterfall spilling over the side, lakes full of goldfish, a cove with a stretch of beach, and tunnels.

On the mountain is a log house, completely furnished with pictures, furniture, etc., and a doll mother and babe standing within. Outside on the grass and Italian moss, another child is playing, while yet another swings gaily from the branches of a Jerusalem cherry tree. The rock well, containing "The Old Oaken Bucket" and foofed with reed, which has been stained to imitate hewn saplings, stands nearby.

A hidden spring on the mountain provides the water that spills softly over the rocky cliff to the pool below. Here an arched bridge, (this too, the reed handiwork of Mrs. Klidder) spans the clear pool and leads to the sandy beach, where doll figures are reclining in the sand.

A farmer boy fishes in the pool, and a second boy discloses that he has brought his dog and his lunch.

Gortlow from the two placed lakes runs to a lower lake, from which the water is run into a channel that waters a border of flowers some feet away.

Looking back into a couple of natural tunnels one seeks lakes, highways, tiny cars and lovely scenes, reflected by a mirror placed in the back. Objects seen in the mirror may not be seen from any outside angle, and the effect is picturesque and intriguing.

A miniature paradise tree, tiny acacias, and Boston fern, all add to the scenic effect, as well as two very interesting rocks. On one rock, one may visit a house and chimney, the moon and clouds. The other is shaped like a tooth, and looks like a huge molar from every angle.

It is truly a paradise, and one could spend the entire day looking at the garden, seeing new things all the time.

WELCOME

Lewis Brown, of Fairbury, Nebraska, arrived Monday morning to spend the winter in Torrance, as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conner at the Plaza Hotel.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

They love shall chant its own bedtime After its own self working. A child's kiss Set on singing lips shall make thee glad. A poor man served by thee shall make thee rich; Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense Of service which thou renderest. —B. R. Browning.

Good Dried Fruits

IT IS often most satisfactory to have a few pounds of dried fruits to use for variety and in emergency, when other fresh things are not at hand. When we consider that these dried fruits have been subjected to four or five days of drying heat and a longer period to free them from moisture, we can understand that it is necessary to reverse the process. As five or six pounds of fresh fruit have gone into the making of a pound of dried peaches, apricots or pears, our problem is to make five pounds of palatable juicy fruit out of one.

First wash the fruit well and soak it over night in lukewarm water. One pound of fruit, by soaking and heating, will absorb one and one-half quarts of water. After the soaking then place in the same water, over slow heat; when it is tender enough for the use it is intended for, stir often and cook to the desired consistency. If for jam, inferior grades of fruit take longer cooking. If the fruit is desired crystallized, soak as usual and steam until tender. Prepare a thick candy syrup and process for other fruits. The sugar syrup is prepared with one and one-half cups of the juice and four cups of the sugar. Add as much fruit as can be stirred without crowding. As the fruit grows clear dip out a piece at a time and place on an oiled platter. Let stand in the sun or in a warm place to dry. Roll in powdered sugar and pack in glass jars.

Dried apricots with pineapple make a delightful conserve. Prepare the apricots and stew all together for jam. When thick pour into glasses and seal as usual.

For a plain marmalade, put the stewed fruit through a sieve, add orange if desired, or lemon, and cook as usual.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 4

Score: Y Z - 20 - A B - 0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. A bid two clubs, Y bid two no trump, and all passed. A opened the king of clubs, Y and Z followed suit and B discarded the deuce of hearts. A then led the king of diamonds which Z won with the ace, all following suit. At this point Z made a bad mistake and led back the four of clubs. A won this trick with the jack and proceeded to set up his club suit so that Z only made the odd at no trump. As his opponents made game and rubber on the next hand, Z's misplay was very costly.

According to the system just advocated Z should make a note of the cards held by all four players and analyze the proper play. Here are the actual hands of all four players. Figure out how you would play the hand before looking at the solution that follows.

No score, rubber game. Z won the bid at four hearts. A led the ace and king of spades and then the queen of diamonds which was won in Y's hand with the king. How should Z now play the hand so that he can win four odd against any defense? This is a problem in stripping a hand, so think it over and see how your solution compares with the one that will be given in the next article.

Vegetable Ways

NOWADAYS we are urged to cut down on proteins and eat more of the succulent vegetables as well as those of woody fiber. The latter are needed in our diet to add roughage. Here are a few suggestions:

Spanish Onions, Stuffed.—Select large even-sized onions, one for each serving. Use a grapefruit knife to scoop out much of the center of each, leaving a shell to hold the filling. Cook the centers and the shell until tender. Chop the center portions very fine and saute in butter until a light brown. Add to the chopped portion one-fourth cupful of minced onion, one-half cupful of minced celery, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper and six teaspoonfuls of grated cheese. Fill the onion shells with this mixture, arrange in a baking dish, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and cheese and bake, until brown. Dust generously with paprika and serve.

Lima Beans With Prunes.—Soak one cupful of lima beans overnight and in the morning parboil them until their skins break. Soak one-half pound of prunes in water to cover overnight, pit and cut into halves. Pare six potatoes and cut into lengthwise slices. Select a two-pound neckpiece of beef, sear it in three tablespoonfuls of fat, put into a deep scotch kettle, with the beans, prunes and potatoes. Add a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of chili powder, one-fourth cupful of molasses and three cupfuls of water, using all the prune water that they were soaked in. Cover and cook in the oven three hours.

Carrot and Onion Salad.—Grate three or four new carrots, using two cupfuls of the grated carrot and one grated onion with a few stalks of celery for flavor or a bit of minced green pepper. Season well and mix with a thick, highly seasoned mayonnaise. Serve two tablespoonfuls on a bed of lettuce, topped with a spoonful of the dressing mixed with whipped cream.
