Twenty featured displays, millions of citrus fruits combined with a classical Grecian decorative motif will make the Nineteenth Mid-winter citrus classic the peer of all expositions. This great exhibition is attended annually by more than 250,000 persons. Among the features will be a display of more than 400 fresh fruits. Here we see a huge pomelo. Judging from the smile of pretty Daisy Herlinger it is soon to disappear.

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by WYNNE FERGUSON

ARTICLE No. 13

Good deductive bidding is very rare, not only because it is not an easy proposition but also because the opportunities seldom arise. Here is a hand in which the dealer had his opportunity and took advantage of it:

Hearts—A, 4
Clubs—A, K, Q, J, 7, 3
Diamonds—10, 6
Spades—J, 10, 7

Y :
A Y B :
Z :
Z

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A passed, Y bid one club, B bid one spade and Z bid two diamonds. A bid two hearts, Y bid three clubs and B passed. What should Z now bid?

This is the problem Z had to solve and the correct solution depended on proper deductions from the bidding:

Problem No. 16

Hearts—Q, 8, 7, 5
Clubs—A, K, Q
Diamonds—4
Spades—none

Hearts—A, 10, 9
Clubs—8, 5
Diamonds—6
Spades—K, 5

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win six of the eight tricks against any defense? Solution in next article.

Here is a good problem in the bidding of slams at Contract:

Problem No. 17

Hearts—Q, 6, 2
Clubs—J, 7, 5
Diamonds—A, Q
Spades—A, Q, 9, 8, 2

Y :
A Y B :
Z :

Answer to Problem No. 15

Hearts—none
Clubs—6, 5
Diamonds—7, 4
Spades—9, 7, 6, 3

Hearts—K
Clubs—K, Q, J
Diamonds—Q, J, 10, 9
Spades—none

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win all the tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the trey of hearts and trump in Y's hand with the trey of spades. Y should now lead the nine of spades. B must discard. He cannot discard a heart or Z, with two re-entries, can establish his hearts. B must, therefore, discard either a club or a diamond. It is really immaterial for no matter which of these two suits B discards Z will discard the same suit and the result is the same in either case. As A has more strength in diamonds than in clubs, suppose B, at trick two, discards the trey of diamonds. Z should then discard the five of diamonds. A should discard the nine of diamonds. If B had discarded a club at trick two, Z should have discarded the four of clubs.

At trick three Y should lead the suit B discarded, which we have assumed to be diamonds. Z wins this trick with the king of diamonds. Z should then lead his ace of hearts. A is forced to discard. His best discard is the jack of diamonds. Y should discard the five of clubs. Z should then lead the seven of hearts. A should discard the jack of clubs and Y should trump with the six of spades.

Y should now lead the seven of spades, his last trump. A is forced to discard. He cannot discard the queen of hearts or Z's ten of hearts will be good. He is thus forced to discard the seven of clubs. Z should discard the ten of hearts. A is now forced to discard. If he discards his last diamond, Y's seven of diamonds is good. If he discards the queen of clubs, both of Z's clubs are good. It is apparent, therefore, that irrespective of the card A elects to discard at the sixth trick, Y Z must win the balance of the tricks. It is a clever little problem and full of pitfalls for the unwary. After you have mastered this solution, try out the variation, discarding the seven of clubs from B's hand at trick two, instead of the trey of diamonds.

WALTERIA NEWS

Miss Pearl Mfner, principal of the Walteria schools entertained the graduates from the sixth grade who are now entering the N. A. N. high school in Lomita, with a trip to Los Angeles, where they visited several places of interest. The pupils are Helen Crowe, Catherine Lupin, Mable Young, George Roberts, Delbert Getchel and Clayton Schaeffer.

The pupils of the Sunday school of Walteria accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. De Vite attended the annual centenary Young People's Congress of the Salvation Army, held in Los Angeles last Saturday and Sunday in the T. V. G. and Patriotic Auditoriums.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Polston of Santa Ana spent a few days with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Polston of Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Greaves of Park street accompanied Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mecke of Long Beach on a motor trip to San Clemente Sunday.

Fathers' night given by the Walteria P. T. A. Wednesday was a great success. Mr. F. L. Daugherty, physical education director of the Los Angeles Board of Education gave an excellent talk. The Woodcraft boys entertained with stunts and the school orchestra furnished the music. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. S. Lawrence and Mrs. R. B. Sage and their assistants.

The Walteria Chamber of Commerce will meet at the school Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 7. Representatives from the local stage and motor bus company will speak on the subject of the new time schedule and its benefits to Walteria. There will also be important business concerning the water question.

Mrs. C. S. Edmundson, president of the Walteria P. T. A. was nominated council president at a business meeting held in Torrance Monday by the San Pedro-Lomita council.

The Campfire Girls of the Walteria school with their guardian, Mrs. G. Blanchard, enjoy a picnic in the Palos Verdes Hills, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phebus and daughters Leona and Melba of San Pedro attended the Fathers' Night program in Walteria Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. McLain of Madison street visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Richardson of Compton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Cadwell and granddaughter Marjorie motored from Balboa Beach Wednesday for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Edmundson of Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eckles, formerly of Walteria now from Prescott, Ariz., are visitors in Walteria.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westenhagen of Park street Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R. Haun and Mrs. May McSteen of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. E. Fleming of Los Angeles.

There was a time when it was said that only French women knew how to wear scarfs. This was in the dark ages when American women drew them tightly about their necks in flat folds and looked for all the world as though they had sore throats.

But you have only to visit smart American resorts nowadays to find how well our tall American girls wear scarfs and how they are always discovering new ways to wear them. One thing to remember is that a scarf, to serve its purpose as a striking costume accessory, must be immaculately fresh and new. And this is always possible since the very smartest scarfs will stand frequent cleanings, and some of them will even stand tubings.

At the top in the accompanying sketch is shown a scarf of brown jersey lined with printed jersey. This combines the two materials of the coat, and worn in this manner makes the wearer look beautifully well groomed.

In Paris, the mole scarf shown at the upper left was worn by several women as a change from animal scarfs. Similar ones are now made of dark jersey, lined with a bright color.

The triangular scarf shown at the upper right is a Rodler scarf made of kasha incrustated in two colors, such as blue and white, or red and white. This is excellent for resort or summer wear, especially when tied in the manner illustrated.

At the lower left is shown a Schiaparelli scarf of last season, but it is so smart and adapts itself so well to many types of necklines that it is recommended in silk or jersey for spring use.

A sweater blouse, which employs a diagonal striped jersey, has a matching scarf that ties in an unusual way. It is illustrated at the lower right.
