Hikers Must Wear Sign to Show Where Bound and Pay Fee

"Hitch hikers" have become a nuisance on the highways that some states are planning to place them under strict legal restrictions. Under a bill introduced in the New Hampshire legislature, any hikers will be compelled to pay $1 annually for a hitch hiking permit. If traveling by night they would be required to carry lights and a tail light.

Tag day is starting in burning manner in one line without a possible license. Hitch hikers would be required to wear a postboard sign showing the destination they are seeking. Violation of any provision of the act would cost $1. according to a report received by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Richfield Shows Increased Profit

during 1928 January 1929 daily average production was at the rate of 12,000,000 barrels for the year or an excess of 1,000 barrels daily compared with 27,000 barrels daily at the end of 1927.

Current production is coming from holdings of 34,000 acres of proven and potential oil lands. In his report Mr. Talbot pointed to the especial success attained by Richfield in operations developed in the production of natural gas from company wells to the extent that for some time past revenue from this source has practically doubled. Four new casinghead plants were constructed during 1928.

Marketing of company products during 1928 has shown unusual expansion. Domestic sales not only in California but in Oregon and Washington as well, show a gratifying increase with export business proving a continually more profitable outlet for the company's products.

During January, 1929, Richfield acquired interests and facilities in the east marking the entry of the company into Atlantic Seaboard states under the trade name "Richfield" and assuring a greatly increased output for the year.

Lomita Giant Is Nabbed by Police

WILMINGTON—Wesley Frownfelter is tall and handsome Lomita truck driver, and two companions celebrated Frownfelter's birthday in the custody of Wilmington police officers when they were caught in the act of stealing gasoline from a ditch digger's machine at Anaheim boulevard and G street and emptying the contents of a five gallon can into their Ford coupe. His companions were Eugene Jeter, 18, and Cyril Ades, 18, Lomita school boys. They were taken to the station by Officers Smith and Brown and booked on petty larceny charges.

The boys came to town in Ade's car and when they ran out of gas the ditch digger's tank offered quick solution of their troubles. A five-gallon can was handy as was also a piece of rubber hose. The boys were under their car when the officers came along and questioned them.

Frownfelter is something of a giant for his age. He stands six feet and one and one-half inches in his stocking feet and is a youth of splendid proportions. All the boys have splendid reputations and their little lark will surprise their friends at Lomita. They will be careful about running out of gas when they go touring hereafter.

Talk about values. Read the 22 Super-Specials this week.

TO TOOT, OR NOT TO TOOT!

Although unnecessary blowing of the horn is out of date in towns and cities, there is still a state law requiring that a driver passing another car on the open road should give a warning "toot," according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Reports reaching the club indicate that many drivers do not give the required signal when passing a car, even on narrow roads where trouble is liable to ensue unless drivers are aware of each other's intentions.

Other reports to the club indicate that some drivers load their cars in such a manner as to protrude too far on the left side of the car. It is little things that frequently cause bad accidents, it is pointed out by the club.

The law requires that "any vehicle overtaking another vehicle proceeding in the same direction, shall pass at least two feet to the left thereof, and shall not again be driven to the right side of the highway until reasonably clear of such overtaken vehicle."

You can't beat Buckeyes at their present prices

If low-priced tires are what you require, you can't beat the Kelly-built Buckeye for real value.

The Buckeye is frankly a second line tire, but it is built in the Kelly-Springfield plant by typical conscientious Kelly methods and is a far better tire than its price would indicate. It is full size and full ply (all 4-inch sizes and up are six-ply), built to give service and altogether is the best tire we know of at anywhere near the price.
