Roominess Enhances a House

W. G. Angus, Builder

This attractive 5 room bungalow located at 2530 262nd street, Lomita, was recently completed for Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hodson by W. G. Angus, builder of homes.
The exterior is of white stucco, with black outlining the windows, and a red tile roof.
Inside are a living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, enclosed porch, two bedrooms and bath.

The living room is finished in a manner that gives it a homely and charming atmosphere, with the rough jazz walls oil painted in a tone of rich tan, and gumwood woodwork. A fireplace of real brick with built in bookcases on one side, and a desk on the other, distinguishes the room. There is a large window on the front and a smaller window on each side of the fireplace. A picture moulding finishes a cove ceiling.
The arch or opening from here to the dining room is of unusual design, and this design is repeated in the arch above the built in buffet. Triple windows light this room, which is finished in the same manner as the living room.
A kitchen in white is beyond, and has a double sink, and bits of orchid tile trimming on the spotless white of the tile drainboard. At one end of this drainboard is the combination ice box and cooler, which is iceed from the enclosed porch. At the opposite end is the built in spice cabinet, a decidedly different piece for this convenience. Above the dish cupboards is storage space.
The breakfast nook, has green and yellow for its color scheme, with the colors in the jazz finish of the walls, and worked together in the woodwork. The corner cupboard has a lining of deep reddish orange showing behind the glass doors, and the effect is striking as well as having a modern touch.
Facing the front are the triple windows of the dining room, and the large living room window. On the enclosed porch are conveniences such as laundry trays, ironing board, and a large broom closet.
Off the hall, in which are the two small doors to "hideaways" are the two bedrooms and the large bath.
One bedroom is finished in two tones of salmon pink, with wall paper in harmony. In it are two sets of double windows, and a large closet with two built in shoe boxes. These shoe boxes are a bit unusual in the fact that they are boxes about two feet tall and the width of the closet, and have a swing top.

The other bedroom is, in cream, with papered walls. It also has two sets of double windows and a large closet. How much more attractive would the newer small homes be if they gave just a few more feet of space to the bathroom, as has been done in the bathroom in this home. In large homes they have thought of this feature of beauty, but in the smaller homes beauty, but in the smaller homes it has seemed that the idea in mind was that the smaller the bath, the better.
The bath in this home is large and well planned, with individual deep arches for the fixtures. A long built-in is a linen closet above and a compartment for soiled clothes below.
The bath is almost entirely in white tile, with touches of orchid trim. Wall heaters have been installed throughout the house, the one in the bath all white.

At last A finish especially for linoleum!

Lin-o-bone
—that does 6 things!

Now, for the first time, you can modernize your linoleum with a brush coating that does the 6 things a scientifically correct linoleum finish should do.
Lin-o-bone has been created just for linoleum. It does all these 6 things:
(1) Preserves the linoleum's original beauty and freshness.
(2) Dries with bone-like hardness, wears like iron, saves money.
(3) Forms a protective surface that dirt and grease cannot penetrate.
(4) Makes the surface easy to clean—saves labor.
(5) Gives a mellowness—not shiny—lustre to the linoleum.
(6) Easy to apply, quick to dry.
Apply Lin-o-bone to new or old linoleum. Dries almost instantly. Buy a can here to day and brush it on yourself or we will have it applied for you—a new, quick, and inexpensive service.
