Port Belt Line Will Cut Costs

Offices for Harbor Road to Be Used by All Carriers Is Opened

WILMINGTON.—First steps toward physical operation of the Harbor Belt Line Railroad were taken with opening of executive offices at Berth 90. George F. Squires, general manager, and James Mee, assistant to the general manager, officially opened the harbor headquarters of the unified port rail system. Actual operation of equipment under the agreement between the city and the rail lines, will start June 1.

Included in the personnel of the belt line to be composed of employees of the Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Pacific Electric and Municipal Belt Line, will be 500 men in the operating department, and 75 in the offices of the clerical and accounting division.

Suboffices will be opened in the Union Pacific station, Terminal Island district; the Southern Pacific station in the Wilmington district, and in the Southern Pacific station in the San Pedro district. Each depot will be a neutral receiving and disbursing point for freight of any of the member lines.

Physical equipment will consist of 13 switch engines, to be manned by 20 switching crews, with 24 hours service.

Executives of the line pointed out that unified operation of all rails in the harbor area will result in speeding outbound freight and will eliminate transfer of cars at a classification yard. Between 24 and 48 hours will be saved on outbound shipments.

Shippers will be saved freight charges by rates of the new line. Freight moving between here and East San Pedro districts will be reduced from 80 cents a ton to 60 cents, while interyard switching charges will be dropped $3.60 a car by newly created zone charges.

By the new plan carload or less than carload shipments will be delivered at any one of the three stations for any high line haul. Cars will be transferred at a central point to a designated line from any loading point in the harbor, while empty cars will be spotted at steamship terminals regardless of the line haul, thus affording a more varied service than under the present arrangement.

11-Year Old Lad Here Wins Medal

James Miller of Torrance Takes Dash at Junior Olympics

James Miller of Torrance, 11 year old entrant in the Junior division of the Junior Olympic Games, was awarded a silver medal last Saturday at the Los Angeles County finals, held at Moore field, U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles.

James was the winner of the 75 yard dash, and flashed by all of his competitors to finish in 9 seconds flat.

His final score was 427, which placed him in 13th place among the 78 entries in the junior division.

Dale Howe, Benito Flores, and George Bradford, the latter two from Torrance Elementary school, also represented Torrance in the junior division.

Bert Merrill, Torrance hope in the senior division, finished in 15th place among the 77 senior entries, with a score of 498. Bert showed a great improvement in the chinning feature, when he chinned himself 22 times. Before the season day he had been able to chin himself only 18 times. On the basketball throw, he displayed nervousness and was only able to pocket the basketball 8 times out of 20.

However, he scored above Richard Williams, the George Washington entry who won individual honors over him at the recent district meet held in Torrance. Richard Williams scored by 44 points.

Howard Totten and Paul Slepny, senior entries from Torrance, were awarded 25th and 22nd places respectively.

Torrance High School qualified more boys to enter the county finals than any other school in Southern California, according to a statement made by Coach Sig Nylander Monday. He also stated that the boys made a splendid showing, and had they been in any other county but Los Angeles, they would have undoubtedly "cleaned up."

Competition in Los Angeles county in the Junior Olympic games is keener than in any other county, and scores much higher. It is probable that winners from some counties will not be allowed to participate in the Southern California finals to be held at Moore field, U.C.L.A. this Saturday, on the ground that their scores were not as high as many in other counties who were not winners because of the keen competition.

It is declared that the expense of bringing these winners to the Southern California meet would be wasted, as the boys would not stand a chance.

Prior to the games last Saturday was a parade and the oath of allegiance to the flag, as is customary before all Junior Olympic games. It is an impressive sight to see boys of every nationality raise their hands and voices to pledge allegiance to the flag before entering the clean competition and sport of the games. Coach Sig Nylander of Torrance was director of the meet.

At the Southern California finals to be held Saturday, there will be a huge program with many celebrities participating. Douglas Fairbanks will present the medals at the end of the meet. Frank Wycoff, John Mack Brown, and Herman Brix, who was awarded second place in shot put at Amsterdam Olympics, will be among the celebrities present.

Geary Searle of Alhambra high school, national inter-scholastic tumbling champion, will give a tumbling exhibition. Glenn Berry, second place winner on the American Olympic Games team, will give a horizontal bar exhibition; boys from Los Angeles playground recreation department will do pyramid building; Los Angeles Firemen and Los Angeles Police bands will play; 150 Boy Scouts will be present and furnish musical numbers.

The public address system will be used, as in games at the Coliseum, and all events announced, so that people may be advised of the progress of the particular boy or school they are interested in.

No admission charge will be made. Moore field at U.C.L.A. on Vermont avenue is the location of the Southern California Junior Olympic finals to be held Saturday afternoon.

Tanseys Swamp Shell Oil Nine

Local Boys Massacre Petroleum Gang at Signal Hill 16 to 0

Two disastrous innings spelled defeat for the Shell Oilers on their home grounds at Signal Hill Sunday in the opening game of the Major Summer League. Torrance was the visiting team and took their hosts into camp by a lopsided score of 16 to 0.

Shell Oil was handicapped greatly by the fact that their team has recently been organized, and while composed of good material, had had no chance to practice together before the opening game. A few flashes of speed which developed during the game would indicate, however, that before the season closes the Oilers will be battling with the best of them.

Torrance led off at bat and piled up a lead of five runs at Cecil's expense with a barrage of 6 hits. Cecil was game for punishment and pitched the entire game. The second inning was more of a slaughter than the first. The Torrance boys batted all around in this inning, and Frost, Duczauz, Wolfe, Turney and Goldman had the honor of stepping to the plate twice in the same frame. Cecil was wild as a hawk at the start, hitting two men and issuing a pass which forced in one run. Torrance picked up ten runs in the second inning, and then settled down to take things easy for the remaining seven. Just for good measure, they tallied one more in the eighth, making the final count 16.

File allowed only four hits, two of these going to Showell, Shell's left fielder.

Shell's only sign of life during the game came in the sixth when a lightning double killed off Duczauz and Wolfe. Turney, next in line hit a pop-up and was out.

Torrance goes to San Pedro next

Sunday, June 2, to take on the Pacific Steamship crew. This outfit had a strong team in the Winter League and can be depended on to show some baseball wares.

Wanted: Plenty of Fisticuff Gloves

Any old bones—any old rags—any old bottles? The man on the dray used to call this familiar call in a humdrum tone. Coach Sig Nylander is getting so desperate for boxing gloves to be used by the boys at the high school that he is tempted daily to hire an old dray and become a familiar figure about Torrance streets calling "Any old boxing gloves—any old boxing gloves."

Boys at Torrance high are intensely interested in boxing, and it seems that there is no appropriation for boxing gloves at the school so "Sig" is issuing a plea to everyone to please look in their attics and dig down in the cedar chests and see if there isn't an extra pair of boxing gloves lying around. Any size, shape, weight, or color will do, and if any one wants to buy a pair of new ones and make a present of them to the school, no one will get mad about it.

Instruction in boxing has been hampered because of the lack of gloves, and Coach Nylander has had to wrap towels around the boys' hands in the place of gloves. Just leave the gloves at the office of the high school, the gymnasium or phone 36-J and Mr. Nylander will find a way to call for the gloves.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Gasser of Allene street, Misses Sadie and Edna Anderson of Los Angeles and Waldo Mallory of Inglewood, enjoyed a drive over the new Malibu coast road Sunday.

Eight Ball Teams Play at Local Hi

Preparing the Junior High and Senior high school boys for varsity competition in baseball in years to come, Coach Sig Nylander has organized eight baseball teams besides the varsity team.

These teams are playing an intra-mural schedule, and showing a lot of pep and interest in the games. Coach Nylander issued a statement this week that practically every boy in school had entered for some competitive sport during the year. In past years, a few boys came out for athletics and played on the football, basketball, and all teams. He is making an effort to get every boy in school out for some sport and develop material for future years.

The Junior Girls' Hockey team triumphed over the sophomore team last Thursday at the high school field, by a score of 4-0. Juniors again spelled victory yesterday, when they met the Fresh team for the last game of the season.
