TOWNE TALK

Just for Fun By RAS BERRY

We are having some cuts made for the police book and among the cuts is one of the 1st Nat'l on a busy day and right there in the picture is a picture of Geo. Fritts talking to Ed Nelson and when it is printed we are going to offer a prize for the person who can guess from the expression of Geo's face what he is talking about.

It was a pretty good game that the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs played last Thurs. Nick Gallucci played a star game in left field for the K's only missing one fly which was all (fortunately for his team) that was hit in his direction.

Fay Parks he win the game with a four base clout. Fay swung with his eyes shut and leaped around them bags like a frightened gazelle.

The funny part about the home run plumb's swat was that when he went up to the plate to hit he found he had forgot his bat and this so disconcerted Ben Rappaport, the Kiwanis pitcher, that he grooved right after Fay had started to swing.

W. Post hit a home run and come into home like a glider or a flying squirrel. Just as he descended upon the plate the ball, sped from the outfield, hit him on the rear and he rushed to the bench to read the rules and see if he was out or safe. To his surprise he discovered he was safe.

Henry Frank Ulbright, brains of the Kiwanis team, was credited with no hits, no runs, no assists and no putouts, a very consistent record.

Paul Venderah only objected to two decisions by the umpire and strangely enough he was right both times.

If all the Kiwanis had of been good fielders and known as much about the rules as Paul they would of been no game.

Ed Taney, Kiwanis assistant brains sent his self in to pinch hit and socked one pretty darned near the pitcher's box.

W. Post in the first three or four innings looked like he thought he was playing tennis because every time somebody threw the ball to him he batted it back with his right hand. Along about the fifth inning he realized they was playing ball and ketches one.

Parent-Teachers Close Good Year

Torrance Organization Install's Officers for Next Season's Work

The club year of 1928-1929 began June 10th, 1928, when Mrs. A. Montgomery, president of the Glendale Symphony Orchestra installed Mrs. W. M. Brooks, president; Mrs. O. E. Fossum, first vice president; Mrs. H. E. Reeve, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph Howe, third vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Jamison, federation secretary; Mrs. F. W. Sammons, recording secretary; Mrs. S. C. Collins, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Archie Lewis, treasurer; directors, Mrs. C. E. Chambers, ways and means; Mrs. E. A. Lock, child welfare; Dr. Minnie Proctor, Junior Auxiliary; Mrs. P. L. Parks, Parliamentarian; and Mrs. Isabel Henderson member of the corporation.

Early in the club year, Mrs. Fossum resigned as first vice president and Mrs. H. H. Dolley was appointed to take her place. In December Mrs. Brooks resigned the presidency on account of entering the business world. Mrs. Sammons who had served the club as its second president took her place and Mrs. Thomas Edmonds taking Mrs. Sammons' place as recording secretary. Two of the directors Dr. Minnie Proctor and Mrs. C. E. Chambers resigned and Mrs. R. V. Ruelofs and Mrs. George Peckham were appointed to take their places as directors.

Many good programs were given during the year with speakers from out of town who were familiar with the topics on which they spoke.

The club which has ever stood for civic betterment protested the erection of large advertising sign boards in Torrance. During the summer members of the club were in charge of the Chamber of Commerce booth at the Pacific South-west Exposition in Long Beach. A beautiful cedar tree was planted in front of the club house in December which at Christmas time will be decorated with lights for a living Christmas tree. Many bags from the Good Will Society of Los Angeles have been taken by club members and gifts of candy and cakes have been sent to the disabled soldiers in the hospitals as well as old silk hose for their rug making.

New members have been taken into the club during the year from among the younger women of Torrance which will furnish good material to draw from in coming elections. One member, Mrs. Julia Crossmeyer, passed to the "Great Beyond" during the year.

WIGGINS SCHOOL

By Phoebe Milburn

George Powell, janitor at the Torrance Elementary school graduated from the janitor engineering department of the Frank Wiggins Trade school, Los Angeles, Friday night.

Besides the department from which Mr. Powell graduated there are nine other departments teaching forty-four trades. Each teacher is a craftsman in his field with from seven to twenty years successful trade experience. As there are no terms or semesters observed by the trade school students are being continually admitted, as others, qualified for employment, give up their places in the classes to enter industry. The minimum age for enrollment is sixteen and only those who can definitely profit by trade training may be enrolled.

The objectives of the school are first, to prepare young people to enter gainful employment in the skilled manipulative occupations.

Second, to extend the knowledge and skill of those already employed in the manipulative trades through short courses or evening classes.

Third, to develop in the potential craftsman code of ethics, a respect for the right of employers and fellow workmen, a belief in honest service well rendered as a foundation for all trade contracts.

Fourth, home and community citizenship, to instill a respect for duly constituted authority, to encourage participation in political and community affairs, to raise the standard of the home as an American institution.

The floor space of the school covers four acres. The building and equipment cost $2,000,000. Sixty-two instructors are employed at the day school where 2,100 students are now attending. Fifty-five instructors are in the evening school with an attendance of 1,600. During the year 4,000 students have received instruction.

Several pupils from Torrance are attending this school. Miss Nellie Lapping who is studying beauty culture, is editor of Trade Winds, the school paper; Russell Roberts, who is studying in the art department, is on the basketball team, playing forward, and Mrs. A. W. Brown is studying in the food trades department.

A splendid exhibition of the work of this school was held at the Shrine Pavilion last Thursday when those attending saw exhibitions of the work taught as pupils were busy doing the actual work of their trade.

Pupils in this school are in such demand for situations that the supply cannot equal the demand and there is always a waiting list for them. The instructor is military styled that when her pupils were ready to go out as workmen they received from $12.00 to $20.00 a week.

FLOWERS IN JUNE

By WM. REARSON

I think this is about the most beautiful month of the year, for there are more flowers in bloom now than most any other month. America's adopted flower, the beautiful gladiolus is now in bloom in all its glory. It is unsurpassed for cut flowers and for landscaping there are few flowers so equal to it. The roses are in their prime, filling the air with their fragrance and myriads of red, yellow, white and pink blossoms are covered with trellises. Every garden should have a few roses. They brighten the most unattractive room and add beauty and fragrance everywhere they are placed.

This month of June is also a very busy time for the real flower lover. Dahlias are now ready to be planted for the late blooms. If your tubers were left in the ground they are probably up now and you should add more tubers to your good strong sprouts and nip out the tip when a few inches high, as the side stems are the ones which bear the most flowers.

This is also the time to plant chrysanthemums. Get your root-cuttings from your nurseryman. Buy the best you can get, stopping at Berkeley, Portland and various points enroute. In Seattle they will meet and drive to Vancouver and Victoria.

They expect to return about July 15. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Singer left Saturday for a three weeks vacation at Yosemite and northern points.

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Briney and daughter, and Mr. J. H. Briney west returned from a week's business and pleasure trip to Tonopah and Goldfield, Nevada.

Mrs. Charles A. Davis of Youngstown, Ohio, arrived in Torrance Monday to be the guest of her sister Mrs. Mae McNally of Maricopa avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Maxfield of Encinitas and Mrs. Maxfield's mother, Mrs. M. Balgook of Los Angeles, motored to Oceanside Sunday, and also visited San Luis Rey mission near there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kingly of Los Angeles were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dolley and son and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dolley left Sunday morning for a vacation at Yosemite and San Francisco. They expect to return in about ten days or two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Preston drove to Ocean Park Sunday.
