Climinating seventeen years of successful catering to the motoring public of Southern California, Nelson and Price, India Tire distributors, recently opened a magnificent new home at 1323 South Flower street, Los Angeles with an elaborate public reception.

Nelson and Price also operate a modern tire service business in Torrance at Marcelina and Cravens avenue.

"The equipment in the Los Angeles headquarters as well as in the Torrance branch store has been chosen with but one idea in mind: To enable Nelson and Price, Inc., to render the quickest and most efficient tire service possible," said Frank Price.

Nelson and Price, Inc., will continue to distribute India tires, for which it is the world's largest retail dealer. The firm also distributes United States tires. E. W. Isenhower is the Torrance manager.

NATIONAL SUPPLY-LIES
SOME WISE—SOME OTHERWISE

Now that the Misfits are the National Supply inter-departmental baseball league champions, the silver baseball trophies donated by Manager J. A. Glass are the largest part of wearing apparel for twelve of the Nationals most outstanding baseballers. Wilson of the employment department will tell you that himself.

Tommy Bowker says one might say 'breaks' won the old ball game, but the Torrance Automatic vs. the First National Bank game is spelled 'broke' as far as he is concerned.

We found out that the next issue of the Oil and Gas Journal will contain a picture of the two bowling teams (senior and junior) who won the cups from all the bowlers in Southern California. Both are National Supply teams.

George "Red" Watson, Jr., having discovered that there are many things that he can do better than play this new game of baseball, has put his contract up for sale, and from all accounts his present manager, George Probert, is very busy trying to procure a "Red" contract. Not a buyer for "Red's" contract. Not that he wants to get rid of "Red," but he figures that "Red" is worth more to him if playing on an opposing team.

"Young" Art Hodge of the power house just returned from his vacation up around Yosemite. He said his new DeSoto perked along just fine so long as none of the party dragged his feet.

Keuple McMannus, the old song and dance man, has been planning on taking a trip around his old stamping grounds in the east side "dog town" and the Plaza. Harry is an old side kick of John L. Sullivan. Although he is now a pipe-fitter at the National Supply he ought to be in Hollywood doing the funny stuff in front of the camera.

The "Misfit" hand ball team and the Foundry team played the final game for the championship; the "Misfits" winning. All the players were given a free dinner by the N. S. Co., with the result that it's being free they all over-ate and the rest of the employees who ate in the plant cafeteria had to go hungry.

H. A. (Ham) Miller, we notice, has shaved off his newly acquired mustache that he cultivated while on vacation. We understand that it's rapid growth was sapping most of his strength so he had to get rid of it.

Mack McGuire the boring mill hand just bought a new car and sure feels proud of it and there is nothing he likes to do more than tell about its good points. So boys, if he begins talking "car" to you you'd better pull up a chair and make yourself comfortable for it takes him at least an hour to unload.

George Forsburg, airplane enthusiast, predicts that in the next ten years there will be no more railroads. All freight, as well as passengers will travel by air. He says he can see a big airplane pulling as many as a hundred and forty box cars through the air at once, each box car will be hanging on a sky hook and will be unloaded at its destination by parachute. For this reason George is buying up all the airplane stock he can. For any advice about air-ships, ask George.

THOUSANDS DANCE ON CARSON ST.

The East Torrance residents would cooperate with him in continuing the friendly progressive spirit exemplified by the crowds at the celebration.

The Torrance Municipal band played until 10 o'clock, while the crowd danced on the pavement. Merchants on West Carson street served lemonade.

Grover C. Whyte was chairman of the jubilee committee and expressed his thanks to everyone who had helped stage the epochal celebration. Particular mention should be made of the conscientious work done by Paul Vonderahe in working with the Carson street merchants and the East Torrance Chamber of Commerce; also Paul Eby for his work in decorating the street. Dave Preston and Robert Lewellen in assisting at the dance, and last but not least our faithful Andy Gascoigne, superintendent of streets—Andy worked after hours to haul street barricades and lanterns to block off the traffic. The Torrance police also helped in handling the crowds.

The directors of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce appropriated the funds to pay for the band and other incidental expenses.

Robert Myers of Phoenix, Arizona is a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Ferguson, of Redondo boulevard.
