Impressive Ceremony Marks Cummings-Wood Wedding

The Angelus Mesa Presbyterian church in Los Angeles was the scene of a very beautiful and impressive wedding ceremony, when Miss Anna Blanche Cummings of Torrance became the bride of Hollis E. Wood of Brawley, Saturday evening, Oct. 5.

At eight o'clock in the beautiful new cathedral-like church a hundred and fifty guests assembled and enjoyed a half hour of music rendered by John Young of Torrance, a cousin of the bride. The music consisted of piano solos, "Liebestraum" by Liszt; "The Love Song" by Fritzi; and the "Sacred Movement Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven.

Mrs. Charles T. Frantz, an intimate friend of the bride's family, well known in musical circles in Pasadena, rendered two beautiful vocal selections, "Because" and "Oh, Perfect Love."

The wedding procession marched in to the strains of "Elsa's Bridal Procession," by Lohengrin. First came the ushers, Jack Carr and Louis Cramer, followed by the bridesmaids, Evangeline Cummings and Margaret Julian, and the maid of honor, Frances Fuller. The dainty little flower girl, Constance Smith, daughter of the officiating minister, scattered rose petals from a tiny, exquisite basket.

The bride, who came in on the arm of her brother, Carl Cummings, was met at the altar by the groom and the best man, Louis Rosenberg, a business associate of Mr. Wood. The officiating minister was Andrew P. Smith, a cousin of the bride, who used the Presbyterian ring service, "Traumerei" which was played softly during the wedding service and the bridal procession left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Wonderful dahlias, zinnias, and ferns made a visible bowler of autumn coloring.

The bride, Miss Blanche Cummings has made her home for some time in Torrance. The groom, Hollis Wood, is manager of a chain of West Coast Theatres, between Los Angeles and Imperial Valley.

The bride, a charming brunette, was lovely in a French gown of eggshell satin with a long veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bride's bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were all in pastel shades of moire silk. Miss Cummings was in pink with pink sweet peas. Miss Julian wore yellow with lavender and carried yellow roses. Miss Fuller wore lavender and carried yellow roses.

The ushers were in formal evening dress. After the wedding the guests drove to Torrance where a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Cummings. The guests enjoyed seeing the many beautiful gifts to the bride and groom.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cummings, assisted by Mrs. W. Harold Kingsley and Mrs. John A. Young.
