ON HISTORIC SITE

CHEVELLAH, Wash. (UP)—John Hentges, Quartzite Mountain farmer, is an unwilling beneficiary to a herd of deer. Last summer the animals ate up a $100 drop of oats. Hentges declared. He tried to scare them "by hand" and failed. He fired shot into the air. The deer just listened. Should he shoot one he would be liable to a fine of $250, and he's counted 17 in one group eating his crops.

WELL GUARDED

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—This jury was locked in, no doubt. After an automobile damage suit, the jury retired. They reached a verdict, but the bailiff couldn't unlock the jury room. In despair he broke in the glass doors and the jury marched out.

FIREMAN SUNSTRUCK

SAN DIEGO (UP)—Eugene Halverson, San Diego fire fighter, ought to be accustomed to the heat—that on his vacation at the beach he was sent to the hospital for sunstroke.

PRINCE BACK HOME

CHICAGO (UP)—Prince, a pony owned by the children of John W. Moore, is back home after spending a two-day "vacation." The pony jumped over the Moore back fence and was found on the grounds of the Presbyterian Old People's home two days later. The old people were taking turns riding him.

NAUGHTY BARNEY!

SAN MATEO (UP)—The bad manners of Barney, a Gordon setter, might not have been so noticeable when he upset Mrs. M. E. Lucas in the street. But, you see, Mrs. Lucas was carrying a watermelon!

FLY, N.Y. (UP)

A fee-receivous African lioness escaped from her cage here and for two days the countryside was in terror. Finally someone thought to look in her cage. There she was asleep. She had got tired and come home.
