MONEY IN YOUR POCKET!

For some time there has been too much talk about the "slowing down of business." There is no reason why business should be slow, especially in Southern California. In this section of the state there are more than 5000 industrial plants. Over 1700 different articles are now manufactured in this industrial area. That statement ought to set the average citizen to thinking. With 1700 different articles to select from, certainly the local purchaser has a wide range, and every penny spent for locally made goods goes to build up local payrolls. It places money in the pockets of local factory workers who spend their money in local stores. Some of it goes for food, some to the doctor, some to the landlord, some as payment on a home. And so it goes. The money paid for goods made in Southern California, or carried in stock, by established distributors, helps to swell local payrolls and is put into circulation and kept in circulation. It brings money to you and me.

This was brought out in a four-column advertisement sent out by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and which appeared in this publication. The advertisement was one of a series of the "Los Angeles County Return to Prosperity" campaign sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce of the county, civic and business men's organizations and women's organizations.

Buy what you need to make life pleasant and comfortable. Insist upon and buy products made here. Spend your money where it will come back to you. Let everyone realize this individual responsibility. Soon we will forget that there ever was any talk about slow business.

County Health Officer Comments On Tuberculosis and Children

"Tuberculosis starts in childhood and every child in Torrance who shows signs of falling below normal should be given a slight fever at times or has a continued light cough, has had any history of having been in contact at any time with an active case of tuberculosis, should be given an examination by the family doctor or at a clinic," Dr. H. C. Smiley, health officer for Torrance district, said today.

"The annual report just given out by Dr. W. H. Buecher, superintendent of Olive View sanatorium, shows the tragic fact that not only are a great number of children received at the institution, but of these practically all are already in the advanced stages of the disease when little can be done for them.

"This is doubly heartbreaking since it shows that we have not been able to impress parents with the importance of early diagnosis of the early detection of tuberculosis when it is comparatively easy to bring a child back to health.

"I feel that all school children should have regular physical examinations in cooperation with their physical education program. Through these examinations both this school and the home may know what program of physical education, rest, nutrition, school load and health habits should be carried out.

"And above all, it is important to remember that tuberculosis starts in childhood. Don't wait until you know that a child has tuberculosis before taking precautionary measures. That may be too late. Build up the health of all physically below par children and keep a check on their condition. It is towards this end that the health education program of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association, which is financed through Christmas seals, is directed."

FOOD FOR SQUIRRELS

By the United Press

LOS ANGELES—The matrimonial voyage of Alexander and Sarah Hemmel came to grief on account of raisins and nuts. Mrs. Hemmel testified that her spouse insisted upon that diet to her embarrassment, particularly when company came to dinner.

The famous mansion of Monsieur Jean Patou deceives a great deal of crime this season. It is most noticeable in his creations when displayed in cases filled with muffs to match. He allows for great diversity of treatment but his favorite combination with the ermine is black velvet.

Patou for the evening frequently allows the ankles to show as much as two or three inches above the floor. A time-fashioned in the same manner as the lower portion of the skirt is another distinctive feature of Patou.

As well as skirt lengths, muffs and wraps, Patou has given shoes a great deal of attention. The low, shaven lip singly over the shoulder, becomes almost immediately quite large, and as suddenly rushes in again tightly at the elbow or wrist. His short sleeve is almost always puffed from shoulder to halfway of the elbow.

Study of Mexican Problem in State Reveals Many New Facts

By the United Press
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26.—One out of every six children born in California is a Mexican.
Furthermore, 26.3 per cent of all babies born in Los Angeles county last year were of Mexican parentage. These facts were disclosed here this week in a report to Governor Young by his fact-finding committee appointed to make a thorough study of the Mexican problem in California.

In Southern California the Mexican problem is most acute, the committee found. In the rural districts of Imperial county more than half of all births are Mexican. In the rural areas of San Bernardino and Riverside county, Mexican births are 40 per cent. Other facts brought out in the report were:
One out of every ten orphans, half-orphans and other children receiving state aid is a Mexican. Ten per cent of the prisoners received in San Quentin state prison in the last 20 years were Mexican. In the Folsom prison 6.6 per cent of all prisoners were Mexican. The average number of children per Mexican family was 4.3.

Of 701 families visited, nearly 70 per cent had monthly incomes of less than $100; 20.5 per cent had incomes of $100 or more, and 5.9 per cent received $150 or more. Mexicans in California tend to live in colonies, both in cities and in farm districts, which slows down the process of assimilating American standards. In the state hospitals for insane, and correctional schools for boys and girls, Mexicans represent only a small percentage.

At least eight of the new wells being drilled in the Torrance field are expected to come in before December 25, reports the Herald of 1922.

Youngest Visitor Is Frankly Bored At Herald Office

It's an unusual newspaper office that isn't visited by "the oldest resident" or the "prominent citizen" or the "well-known club woman" at least once a month—but it's a distinguished newspaper office that receives a formal call from a resident that is but seven weeks old.

Sue Ann, one of her first public appearances from her home at 1229 Craven avenue, paid the Herald office that honor this week, but would you believe it—Sue Ann merely yawned and yawned and yawned all the while she was within our portals.

Perhaps Sue Ann was bored—but honestly we tried everything—the paste-pot, snipped the shears, made paper caps out of our last week's paper, and even offered to show her how a linotype works.

Every effort to entertain was received with a yawn—it was discouraging. Sue Ann wasn't interested at all. We did everything possible to show how much we appreciated the visit from one of our newest residents, but we didn't get over at all.

We must admit that Sue Ann was one of the finest babies we have ever welcomed in the Herald office, but we wish she'd have shown a bit more interest in our work. Perhaps Sue Ann's mother will bring her in again sometime—will you, Mrs. L. R. Chedde?

Bank of America to Build and Remodel

The Bank of America will expend more than $1,500,000 within the next six months on a building program, which already is under way in some cases. The projects are in various parts of California, from Chicago on the north, to San Diego on the south, and include the construction of new buildings, remodeling of present structures to house branches, according to announcement by E. J. Nolan, chairman of the bank's board. Other remodeling work is planned in various cities, much of it for the accommodation of tenants.

The work will be pushed during the winter months, partly with the object of providing employment during the period when work is hardest to find; however, much of this construction is needed in the normal development of the bank's business. The plans include 29 different projects in 14 cities of California.

Ford Shows Faith in Future by World Wide Construction Program

Long Beach, California—This plant, recently completed to serve Southern California, has a capacity of 400 cars a day. Operating at capacity it employs 2,600 men.

Edgewater, New Jersey—The Edgewater plant, one of the company's largest assembly branches, has just been completed to serve New York City and surrounding territory. It has a capacity of 600 cars a day and employs 6,000 men.

Richmond, California—Work was started recently on a plant at Richmond, to be completed next year. It will have a capacity of 400 cars a day and will employ 2,400 men. It will supply cars to the San Francisco area.

Buffalo, New York—This plant will have a capacity of 400 cars a day and will employ 2,500 men. Seattle, Washington—A site has been acquired and plans for a plant are being drawn.

A new manufacturing plant being erected at Dagenham, England, eighteen miles from London, to supply the present works at Manchester, will be completed next year. It will be the largest automobile factory in the world outside the United States. Its capacity will be 200,000 cars a year.

An assembly and manufacturing plant is being built at Cologne, an assembly plant at Antwerp, and a service plant at Stockholm. Two branches—one at Perth, Australia, and one at Port Elizabeth, South Africa—were completed.

In addition the Ford Motor Company is spending several million dollars to increase the power capacity of the Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich., and several million more in miscellaneous improvements.

THE Ford Motor Company's faith in the future of business, and especially in the future of the automobile, is evidenced by the fact that it is spending more than $20,000,000 for new plants and improvements in the United States and in foreign branches and associated companies.

The company has nine new plants under way throughout the world, while plans are being formulated for several others not yet announced. Wherever possible the new plants are being erected on sites accessible to both rail and water transportation so that, with each form of transportation supplementing the other, substantial savings will be effected.

Five of the new plants are in the United States, as follows:

Side Dishes Point Up Flavors

By ETIENNE ALLIO, Chef, Hotel New Yorker, New York City

Slaw, a bit of fruit prepared in some unusual manner—point up the flavors of the dishes with which they are served, and go far toward giving the added zest of surprise and variety.

Deserving a far greater popularity than they now enjoy, it is hard to say why, except for the ordinary cole slaw, they so seldom appear upon the home tables unless guests are present. They are inexpensive and easy to prepare, and there seems to be no good reason why they should not become regular items of the family menu.

Peach and Pineapple Curry—Fill the bottom of a casserole with a layer of sliced, canned pineapple. Dot with butter and sprinkle with two teaspoons brown sugar and one teaspoon curry powder. Add a layer of canned peaches and sprinkle with the same amounts of brown sugar and curry powder. Repeat the process until the dish is filled. On the top layer, which should consist of peaches, double the amount of sugar and curry. Bake for one-half hour in a moderate oven. For those who like more or less curry, the amount may be varied. Delicious with roast lamb.

Cheese Slaw—Let one pint of shredded cabbage stand in cold water until fresh and crisp. Dry and mix with five tablespoons grated cheese. Mix one teaspoon mixed mustard, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon brown sugar, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, five grains cayenne. Add three-fourths cup buttermilk, mixing thoroughly. Pour over the cabbage and cheese. Garnish with green pepper rings.

Banana Vinaigrette—Peel and slice lengthwise four or five large, firm bananas. Place in shallow casserole. Mix together one tablespoon vinegar, one-half cup beef stock, one-fourth cup brown sugar, four tablespoons butter and bake in hot oven for twenty minutes. Serve with roast beef.

Public Park Plans Given More Details equipment from either the general fund or the Chamber of Commerce promotional fund at no further cost to the taxpayers.

Throughout the meeting the city officials and the chamber directors stressed the fact that acquisition of a large park and its subsequent improvement would furnish considerable employment for residents of the city who are now in dire need of work. It was proposed that the project be entirely a Torrance-made improvement to assist the unemployed in every respect.
