OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF TORRANCE
Affiliated a Legal Newspaper of Los Angeles County, Superior Court Case No. 21410, Dated March 22, 1927.

SHE WAS AIDING BUSINESS!

The society leader who insisted on having nothing but locally made products when she made purchases for a brilliant social function took a stand for home industries and increased payrolls that will be felt. She realized that the larger the volume of local goods sold the more people would be required to replace those goods, which, in turn, would relieve the unemployment situation.

In recent issues of this paper there have appeared two 10-inch advertisements sent out by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce urging every buyer in the county to buy goods made here or distributed locally by established firms with local payrolls. This is a sound movement that should be backed up by every buyer.

Will Come West

It is sound because money spent for local products makes it possible for firms manufacturing those products to increase their payrolls—provides work for a larger number of men and women. It will solve the unemployment problem. When this is accomplished we will have more economic stability.

When Eastern and Mid-Western manufacturers and distributors learn that the people of Los Angeles county are loyal to local concerns and call for locally made or distributed products, they, too, will establish plants here, thus providing employment for a large number of idled workers.

Ask Your Dealer

When the unemployment problem is thus taken care of business in general will be good and the way will be open for real expansion in Southern California.

If you do not know what products are made locally, ask your dealer. In fact, ask him to make a display of such products so that there will be no doubt.

Free Roses To Ladies at New Jewelry Store

Baker Smith Invites Public to View Attractive New Store This Saturday

To publicly commemorate the completion of his beautiful new jewelry store at 1321 Sartori avenue, Baker Smith has arranged a formal opening on Saturday of this week, when the public is invited to visit the establishment and view the attractive array of jewelry, watches, and silverware. Mr. Smith has promised to reward every lady attending the opening Saturday with a beautiful rose. This is the third location for Baker Smith since he came to Torrance seven years ago, and each removal has provided a considerably larger store than the former. The present beautiful new store has almost double the floor space as the one vacated across the street last week. The new office, which is situated next to the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, has one of the outstanding store fronts in Torrance. Striking black tile is used for the lower portion of the building and the interior window panels are of rich mahogany. A new floor has been laid and new show cases installed in the interior of the building. It is considered one of the most attractive jewelry stores south of Los Angeles and the 100 per cent increase in floor space has enabled Baker Smith to augment his stock substantially.

"We hope the people of this community will pay us the honor of attending our formal opening this Saturday," said Baker Smith. "Special music will be provided and we'll have roses for the ladies," he added.

court. "I said I wasn't going to leave until Adamson came back home. Then he hit me."

"Olson hurt himself within a minute after he finally left Adamson's house," the defendant maintained. "My partner and I who were alone in the house at the time, heard him fall within a minute after he went out the door. He then described how they took him inside, and attempted to stop the flow of blood, finally putting the injured man to bed in an improvised cot in one corner of the room."

Dr. Leake Testifies
Dr. Norman A. Leake, who attended Olson about 20 hours after he was hurt, declared that the cause of the eye's loss was because it had been penetrated by a sharp instrument. The physician would not state that it was caused by a knife wound.

Chudob, who was not represented by counsel, asked but one question of the five witnesses examined. This query was directed at his accuser, Olson.

"Who cooked the supper that night?" the defendant asked Olson. "You did," came the reply and then Olson left the stand. After the hearing Chudob said he had no particular reason for his single query other than to contradict Olson's testimony. Chudob maintained he was the cook.

Witness is Missing
Other witnesses examined were Dave Adamson, who was not present when Olson was injured but who admitted he participated in a prolonged drinking bout before and during the evening it occurred; Charles W. Murphy, of Hermosa, who was likewise absent when the accident happened but who testified as to the presence of considerable liquor in the house; and A. J. Wilcox, of 374 Eschman, Lomita, who was in Adamson's house for about five minutes when Olson and Chudob were there.

Chudob's partner, known as Jack Roach, had been released from jail previous to the hearing and although Police Judge Rippey declared he was a material witness, he did not appear in court. Roach was not present in court. Roach was to have been Chudob's only defense witness.

Complicated Damage Suit Heard in Court

A damage suit that became still further complicated by the entrance of a cross-complaint was heard in Justice Dennis' justice court yesterday morning. After the presentation of all evidence and the hearing of nine witnesses, the justice ruled that each party involved should pay for his own damage as the automobile accident, which was the cause of the controversy, was caused by negligence on the part of both drivers and was unavoidable.

Henry Voightlander, of Torrance, plaintiff, represented by C. T. Rippey, demanded $70 for damages to his car on December 6 at Andree avenue and Carson street, $15 rental which he said he had to pay for another machine while his was being repaired, court costs and interest. Defendant, R. B. Banks, of this city, declared in a cross-complaint that he sued for $150 damage to his car. Banks was represented by J. R. Jensen.
