ill permit us to stand on ing a few dollars in our es—dollars that are burning spent—talk about "I rememwhen that depression took us." ter times is what we want, y factory whistles and more it on these honest Torrance s now furrowed with worry, pay rolls and fewer "relief fits"; more steel mills and steal schemes. More home-ing and less home wrecking.

What '32 Can Bring Us

It were in the power of the re, there would be three things en in Torrance in 1932 which d be of prime importance for happiness and welfare of every ent.

'32 we would have:

Prosperity 'till it hurts.

A city owned and operated ter system.

And a municipal park with grounds astore.

Now, dear readers, are in this e's opinion the three best s this youngster Nineteen-ty-Two can drop on our mu-al doorstep any day during next 12 months of his life.

Some Good Resolutions

There are other things which t be accomplished here while ew calendars are being used, look into the future, and pick a few "resolves" for the beneof our community:

SOLVED: that the factories, eld, business in general, and
-building be subject to a g, steady push up the scale he everlasting elimination of ployment and "doled" faces; and in—on the horizon that 1932 see this come to pass. Signa-rs from building contractors during this last quarter of reconstruction and remodel-

-have increased construction yment nearly up to "normal"; low cost of materials is given reason for this "old job" that is helping relieve un-employment; the almost certainty of oil tariff or embargo being d during the present session gress. Either would be a boost to both the oil industry cell as manufacturers of oil and equipment.

SOLVED: that the litigation and the $400,000 water be settled and operations in a publicly-owned and op-
-water system. This one on our progressive calendar help a lot in the uplift of unity spirit as well as pur-dollars in our pockets. Recent s relative to the water bond indicate that a final decision he matter in the State Sue Court is looming in the future and that the court's
