YOUTH HEROINE

Nifty But Not Truly Naughty Comedy Coming

"This Is the Night" at Tor-rance Theatre Starting Sunday, a Laughfest

"This Is the Night," a sparkling comedy, into which is interwoven several catchy new song hits, comes to the Torrance Theatre for several catchy new song hits, comes to the Torrance Theatre for a three-day stay beginning Sunday, June 26. The plot opens when Cary Grant, young Parisian business man, returns suddenly to his home to find his beautiful blonde wife, Thelma Todd, entertaining Roland Young, say bachelor friend of her girlhood days. Grant is immediately suspicious of Young's presence, and the situation is not so pleasant for Young.

But Charlie Ruggles, Young's wine-imbibing pal, arrives, sizes up the trouble immediately and attempts to smooth out the difficulty by starting an enthusiastic conversation about Young's charming "wife." This mollifies Grant who realizes that if Young has a wife to whom he is really attentive, his presence with Theima must certainly'be only an innocent visit.

Grant is so fooled indeed, that he invites Ruggles, Young and Young's "wife" to take a holiday trip with him and Thelma to Venice. Ruggles and Young must carry out their bluft, and so Ruggles, always the fixer, engages Lily Damita, beautiful Farisian actress, to pose as Young's wife. She agrees to the scheme, but announces that she will act as a wife only in public, for the purpose of fooling Grant—and that in private she will freeze up on Young ifte an ice-berg.
