

Great Interest Continues In the Kellems Revival

Meetings May Carry Over Into Next Week, Says Christian Church Pastor

What seems to be the greatest week thus far in the Kellems revival meeting in the big tent of the First Christian church on the corner of Ingraham and El Dorado streets is now in progress. The unusually large audiences which have packed the tent nightly, if anything, are larger still, and the interest is intense. Hundreds of new people who have not before attended the meetings are joining the crowds now, and room is at a premium.

Dr. Jesse R. Kellems, speaker of the Kellems party in the present campaign, is forcibly demonstrating the fact that his reputation as the outstanding evangelist of the Christian church throughout the world is well earned. His sermons are masterpieces of logic and reasoning, unquestionably the products of a mind that has known the highest training and the widest experience. Dr. Kellems is a great exponent of Bible preaching—"if a minister does not preach the Word of God," says he, "he has no business preaching at all." And by the way people are flocking to hear him, he is proving that they like to hear the Bible preached.

Dr. Homer Kellems is nightly leading the big audience and choir in enjoyable and enthusiastic song services. By his cheery disposition and ability making the singing one of the finest parts of the services.

Mrs. Homer Kellems is delighting all with her beautiful pictures, drawn before the eyes of the audience, while Mrs. Jesse Kellems is thrilling the hundreds present with her violin solos.

Quite a rivalry exists each night to see who will or will not be fortunate enough to secure one of the drawings of Mrs. Homer Kellems. A picture is given free of charge to each person having present by special invitation at least 25 people who were not at the service the night before. Sometimes as many as four to six of these pictures are given away in one night.

The meeting will continue all of this week and over next Sunday, and there is a probability that it will go into the week following.

RENDERING a worthy service in fruits and vegetables in our many Safeway and Piggly Wiggly Stores involves an extensive, organized effort in the produce department at headquarters. Our produce building provides loading and unloading space for 20 railroad cars and over 50 ten-ton trucks at the same time. These facilities represent the point of transfer through which many thousands of tons of ripe fruits and fresh green vegetables pass from the farmers' orchards and fields into Safeway and Piggly Wiggly Stores. The speed with which most of our merchandise reaches the display stands in our stores is a most important factor in our business. The more perishable products are harvested in the late afternoon and delivered by the farmers to our produce dock in the early evening. These all merchandise is received, checked and graded to our rigid quality standards. It is then assembled into individual shipments, loaded aboard our own fleet of trucks, and delivered to most of our stores in the early morning of the following day, ready for our customers' selection. A large percentage of our fresh goods reaches our customers' kitchens in prime condition within 24 hours after harvesting. In the rendering of an efficient food service to its customers, the Safeway-Piggly Wiggly institution has but one policy and that is: "Nothing but the best in quality." In its purchasing, this department combs the market carefully each day in a serious, conscientious effort to obtain the very finest fruit and vegetables available for the patrons of Safeway and Piggly Wiggly Stores.

Respectfully submitted,
A. P. POWELL, Manager Produce Department.
