Specifications called for pipe sufficient to withstand a pressure of 300 pounds to the square inch.

Seek Court Order To Compel Election

City officials of Hawthorne today were notified to show cause in superior court on next Monday, May 29, why a writ of mandate should not be issued to compel the Hawthorne city clerk to certify to the sufficiency of petitions and thus bring about a special election to vote on the recall of Mayor F. A. Jones and Councilmen William P. Reese and Halsey Pink.

The order to show cause was made returnable in Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson's court at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Olson to Head Stabilization Work In County

Resignation of Harvey Fremming Accepted This Week

Direction of the county employment stabilization bureau will be under Leslie F. Olson beginning July 1, with the resignation of Harvey R. Fremming accepted this week by the board of supervisors, it was announced today.

The stabilization bureau will continue to aid in finding jobs for unemployed persons, the supervisors also decided.

Olson formerly was a field investigator for the bureau. W. R. Mitchner, industrial development worker, will be Olson's assistant in his new position effective July 1, it was stated.

Decision to continue operation of the bureau on its former basis means that its activities will not be concerned with administration of work relief under the R. F. C. program. This type of relief will continue to be administered by the county welfare department. The stabilization bureau will continue to find employment for men in industrial plants and with contractors on public works projects.

Safeway-Piggly Wiggly Stores Conducting Canned Food Sale

Special Quantity Prices For Householders Stocking Their Pantries Against Price Increases

In line with a definite trend of rising markets on commodities and the opinions of the numerous nationally known economic advisers, many people are stocking up pantry shelves with food in an effort to assure next summer's meals at today's prices.

So pronounced is this public trend that Safeway Stores, Inc., are launching a sale of tremendous proportions in point of volume, throughout Safeway and Piggly Wiggly stores in Southern California especially for the benefit of those people who believe that prices are to rise substantially in the very near future.

Foods of keeping qualities, particularly canned goods, are specially priced in units of three, six, and dozens, and in some instances, case lots. In this way, patrons of Safeway or Piggly Wiggly stores will be enabled to take fullest advantage of current market conditions. They will have their dollars invested in the safest possible kind of investment—foods, and when probable fluctuations in the dollar's purchasing power are taken into consideration, they are most, apparently, justified in doing so.

This is especially true when it is considered that food is a necessity—it must be purchased either now or later and the primary decision of every housekeeper is whether today's admittedly low prices are to be taken advantage of or whether purchases are to be postponed to some future date when market prices seem most likely to be much higher.

In promoting this sale, the Safeway organization does not take the position of advisers to the public, but recognizes its sole function in the economic scheme to be the distribution of foods of all kinds without waste, at minimum cost and with maximum efficiency to permit lower food costs to the consumer. Instead of conserving its stocks for the purpose of benefiting itself, from price increases that seemingly are certain to come, the policy of the company is to pass on to the public whatever savings market conditions afford.

Prominently placed in the canned food sales event, will be the nationally advertised and recognized Libby, Stokely, and Del Monte lines, in addition to numerous other national brands of publicly acknowledged worth.

The sale takes place during the five days beginning Thursday, May 25, and it is anticipated by officials of the Safeway organization that the stores will be doing what is substantially a wholesale business during that period, dealing direct with individual consumers.
