Keeping Up With Torrance High

Torrance high students had an unusual experience last Monday when motion pictures were taken of the various special activity periods. The department of visual education, interested in the new activities plan at Torrance high, took the pictures to show other schools how Torrance students have an opportunity to carry on vocational work or hobbies every day. Classes had two periods instead of one Monday to carry on their work under the motion picture camera.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wright have invited the entire class of senior A's to their cabin for a picnic lunch Sunday, June 3. Mr. Wright is the sponsor of one of the A12 home rooms.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Eischen and several students attended the opening performance of the Bach musical festival, held in and sponsored by the First Congregational church of Los Angeles, and extending through Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. In the interval between the afternoon and evening concert of Friday, the party returned to Mrs. Eischen's home, a few miles from

Two Titles Settled Next Tuesday Night

Byrd McKinney, hard-finding Pasadena motorcycle racer, and "Lammy" Lamoreaux, from the same city, settle two titles in a two-lap dash at Moto Speedway on Long Beach boulevard next Tuesday night.

The two will be battling for the 1934 short track championship of Pasadena and for the season's title to date at Moto Speedway. In last week's "all Pasadena" eliminations, McKinney raced away from Cordy Milne, and Lamoreaux nosed out Jack Milne in a hair-raising finish. Inasmuch as they are the two outstanding winners of the season, having again split main event money last week, their race likewise settles the track championship.

Torrance, for a barbecue dinner. The Saturday evening's concert was particularly enjoyed by the students who had studied the different music for several months in order that they might better appreciate and enjoy the anti-pastorals.

RESTAURANT LOOTED
Unknown parties broke into a restaurant in the Pueblo Sunday night and looted the player piano of $10 in nickels.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Oh let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end, but establish the just: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins." These words of the Psalmist are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Lesson-Sermon denounces ancient and modern necromancy, alias mesmerism and hypnotism.

One of the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon includes the verses from Leviticus: "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy... and ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shall you profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord... Heard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God." Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, are these words: "Divine Mind demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser faculty. Obedience to Truth gives man power and strength. Submission to perfect superinduced loss of power."

Series of Four Ballets Offered By New Company

The California Ballet Company, newly organized, has leased the Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles, and will present a series of four spectacular ballets there this summer on Wednesday nights, July 11 and 25, and August 8 and 22, at popular prices. The soloists and an ensemble of 100 dancers will appear in each ballet. A symphony orchestra will provide the music. The air-cooling system at the Shrine will assure patrons of added comfort. Seats are now on sale at the Doley Drug Company, Torrance.

Ballets under consideration for the Shrine season include Rimsky Korsakov's "Coe d'Or," de Falla's "Three Corners Hat," Gershwin's "American in Paris," Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours," Nabakov's "Triton Pacific," "Alice in Wonderland" and "The First American."

Personal Injury Suit Heard June 1

Trial of the $11,000 personal injury suit brought by Leon M. Smith against the Pacific Electric Railway Company as the result of injuries received when his automobile was struck by a freight train, has been set for June 1 in Los Angeles county superior court. The accident happened at the Hawthorne boulevard crossing, between Torrance and Redondo Beach. Smith contends that the electric wig-wag signal was not operating and that there was nothing to warn him of the train's passing. The accident happened last January 3.

OLD GRAY MARE'S COMEBACK
OGDEN, Utah, (U.P.)—The old gray mare is all that she used to be. If a recent horse sale here is any indication, top prices ranged near $167.50 each, while the team prices averaged $240.

at Narbonne High School

Lloyd Jones and Charles Lupin, members of the Narbonne F. F. A. won second place honors in an agricultural contest sponsored by the state agriculture board of education. Lloyd took his ribbon in home beautification while Charles won his honor in vegetable gardening. Contestants competed from 18 different high schools.

Members of the Bookworms Club at Narbonne are planning a trip to Los Angeles Saturday, June 2, to make a tour of the various book shops and to visit the public library. Luncheon will be enjoyed in some park and a continuation of the tour will take place in the afternoon. Miss Wylie, the sponsor, will accompany the girls. Lorena Robertson, the president, is making the plans.

Students of Narbonne high school are eagerly awaiting the 22nd of June, which brings the long summer days of vacation. But they are also looking forward to another event just before school closes. That is the issuing of the school yearbook.

Helen Hall, the editor, under the direction of Miss McGarry, journalism adviser, has spent many hours of work on the annual to make it the finest. Elmo Narbonne has yet put out. Those who have been assisting her are Melba Shafer and Chloell Alkman, class editors; Frances Morris, activities; Mary Tarlico, organizations; Dwight Eubank, achievement; Loyce Bunge, girls' sports; Carl Starkey, boys' sports; Frank Hinckley, humor and snapshots; and Jane Blyam, calendar.

The theme is Indians of the Southwest. Merrill Pankey, art editor, together with Miss Mallin, art instructor, is making the El Escorpión pictorially as possible. Each section page is to be worked out in colors. The California-Indians will characterize the faculty. The class section will be represented by the Pueblos: The Hopi Snake Dance and a Navajo weaving a rug will be used for the activities and achievement, respectively. The sports section page will be carried out by an Apache on the hunt. Koshare or the clowns of the Pueblos will be used for the humor section.

Miss McGarry, with the help of Deane McMinn and Billy Buker, business managers, and Edna Tucker and Melba Shafer, circulation managers, has charge of the circulation and advertising. Mr. Hunt and his drafting classes are mounting the photographs, while Mr. Vogler with his boys is working on the printing. Only one more section remains to be printed.

Dreams come true sooner or later, and the one of dancing at night on a yacht became a reality at the Junior-Senior promenade at Narbonne in the gymnasium the evening of May 25. The prom was effectively carried out in a yachting motif.

Captain Jack Weber successfully steered the good ship Narbonne, which, according to the log that made part of the dance program, left Harbor City Slough at 8:00 p. m. and arrived at Port Waleria at 11:00 p. m.

The gay affair was started by the Grand March led by the class presidents. The whistle blew and all hands were on deck as the dancers started on their way to the tune of a four-piece orchestra directed by Otis LeGrand. Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Vogler were patroness and patron.

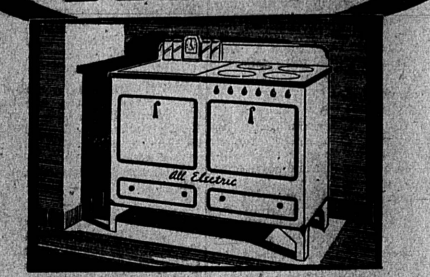

Gay streamers were strung from the corners of the room to the center and large clusters of balloons floated in the breeze. Those who wished could go out on deck and recline in a steamer chair, watch the fish and octopus that formed part of the ocean scene.

For those who did not care to dance, there were such diversions as cards, table croquet and ping-pong.

The program consisted of a sailors' horn pipe dance by Lily Hayward, Alice Johnson, Viola Ferguson, son, Ruby Meara, Inez Smith, Evelyn Young, Mary Jo Alkman, and Emma Shafer; a song by Neil Haynes and Harold Smith; a sailor monologue by Frank Hinckley; a humorous reading, "Madeline," by Freda Gohlman and Darrell Hartline; and a toe dance by Patricia Bullock. Fourteen sophomores—the girls in white sailor dresses and the boys in white sailor suits—served the refreshments which consisted of ice cream, adorned with the picture of a yacht; cake, with a little sailor boy on top; and nuts. Punch was served during the dancing. As the S. S. Narbonne pulled into port to the strains of "Home Sweet Home," and the popping of balloons, the gangplank was lowered and the guests set foot on land once more.
