Reception For Babies at Physicians' Offices

A baby reception at the offices of Dr. Jesse S. Lancaster and Dr. George P. Shidler in the First National Bank building, Friday afternoon, welcomed babies delivered by the doctors in the past four years. The children with their mothers were welcomed by the doctors and Mrs. Olive Lee, office attendant, who weighed the children. They were then registered by Mrs. J. C. Snow and photographed by photographers from the Stork Studios in Los Angeles. Six poses of each child were taken by motion picture camera. A copy of the pictures will be mailed to parents and framed for display in the doctors' office. Each mother was presented with a lovely red rose. So successful was the affair that the doctors plan to make it a regular event. Children registered during the day included:

EVENING HIGH SCHOOL

The art department has the record for attendance this week. On Monday evening there were 35 working at one time on the various projects. It was a very interesting sight to see so many people so interestedly busy in one room. This is only one of the splendid opportunities offered by the school. If you are not enrolled in some class you are missing something.

The district superintendent visited the evening school on Monday night and reported as very well pleased with the work being done. He was shown around the school by Principal Guy L. Mowry. It was the first time that a superintendent has visited the school since Mr. Mowry became principal. The work and the problems of the different classes were discussed and suggestions made that will greatly benefit the school.

A very interested group met last Thursday at the school and listened to Mr. Corcoran of the vocational department talk on gardening. The result of the discussion was that a class in gardening is to be organized to meet every Thursday evening. It is hoped to have Mr. Peters of the Germaine Seed Company as the instructor. All those who are interested are asked to enroll at the earliest minute so as to boost the class as much as possible.

The sewing and the commercial classes have been so large that one teacher could hardly handle them. However, Miss Hardman and Mr. Andrus say that they welcome all who wish to come.

Due to an insufficient enrollment in the mathematics and English classes the two were merged into one under Mr. Walters. The class will meet on Monday and Thursday. Mr. Walters will welcome all those who have asked for either English or mathematics to his class.

The class in beauty culture or cosmetology started off with a bang last Wednesday evening. About 30 people have already enrolled, and more are coming. If you have not signed up for this class don't delay as the number of students may have to be limited.

Mrs. Ortiz, the new teacher of Spanish, is developing a splendid enthusiasm for her work. If you want to learn to really talk and understand Spanish this is your opportunity.

The class in commercial law is gaining very valuable information about one's rights under the law.

It is not only useful information but it helps one to appreciate the problems of his government.

Mr. Alfred took some of the members of his Diesel engine class to the harbor during the week-end to see some of the engines on some of the boats. It is hoped that plans can be made to visit several such places where the men may see some of the different types of engines in operation.

Convicts Are Hungry JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (U.P.)—The 4,700-odd convicts in the Missouri penitentiary here eat 150,000 pounds of meat, 40,000 loaves of bread, 200,000 pounds of vegetables and drink 1,500 gallons of milk every month. Policy of the prison to raise most of its food on state-rented ground cuts down the cost of feeding each inmate to 147 1/2 cents a day.

State Picnics

University Building Fast

AUSTIN, Tex. (U.P.)—University of Texas' building program has been so fast that a lot of students are all mixed up. One freshman co-ed applied for a vaccination certificate at a boys' dormitory. Another co-ed confronted a pajama-clad young man in a corridor early one morning, and demanded to know if her English class met there. She was in a boy's dormitory.
