Arlliss In Double Role In "House of Rothschild"

George Arlliss, who has given the screen many unusual things in the way of characterization, enjoys a new experience in his latest picture, "The House of Rothschild," his first 20th Century starring vehicle which is the current feature attraction at the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne.

Taking for its plot the rise to world power of the Rothschild family during the Napoleonic era and stressing the loyalty and love between its members, this picture has been pronounced the biggest production in the respective careers of 20th Century pictures and George Arlliss, who plays both old Mayer Rothschild, the father, and Nathan Rothschild, the one of the five sons who did the most to win the family world renown.

George O'Brien, star of Zane Grey's thrilling western saga, "The Dude Ranger," also showing at the Plaza, Hawthorne, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, this week, says that, in his view, this is the best vehicle from the pen of the noted author that he has had. That summing-up includes even the famous "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Famed Romance, 'Mme. Du Barry,' Comes to Plaza

"Madame Du Barry," heralded as one of the great pictures of the screen, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 7, 8 and 9, with Dolores Del Rio heading an all-star cast.

In addition to the uproariously funny situations in which Du Barry involves the dignitaries of King Louis' court, the picture is said to be a mammoth spectacle, with settings built on a magnificent scale. Reproductions of the Palace of Versailles, the court and the Gardens of the Colonnades are among the gorgeous settings for the highly amusing action.

Novel and beautiful dances were created for the picture by Albertina Rasch, in which her beautiful corymbes romp before the king and his court in fluffly nothings.

There is an unusually large and talented cast in the principal roles with hundreds of extras playing the part of ladies and courtiers and the vast crowds to be seen in the production. Dolores Del Rio has the role of Du Barry, with Reginald Owen playing opposite her as King Louis XV.

The companion picture at the Plaza Theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, next week, brings Ann Harding in "The Fountain," a picture of love in conflict with spiritual magnificence.

Ann Harding, the Heroine of "The Fountain," Coming Tuesday

The motion picture screen is now enriched with one of the most poignant romances written in years, as the new starring vehicle for Ann Harding. This picture is "The Fountain," from the highly popular novel by the celebrated English author, Charles Morgan, which presents a romantic triangle powerful in its grip upon the human emotions.

"The Fountain" recounts a great love and a great conflict of loyalty between three fine people—a woman, her husband, and another man.

Interned in Holland, Alison, an English officer, is thrown with Julie, whose husband, Rupert, is fighting for another cause at the front. Julie and Alison try to avoid the love that they know is creeping upon them, and even when it does overwhelm them, they manage to keep it wholesome and beautiful.

Rupert Comes Home It is their intention to tell Rupert about the romance when he returns from the war—but Rupert comes home, seriously injured, to die.

Duty, and admiration for the gallantry and real fineness of her husband draws Julie to him, and she finds she cannot tell him the things that are in her heart. She tends him faithfully, and both she and her lover realize they must renounce their affection for each other.

Rupert, however, even when made aware by a jealous girl that there is an affair between his wife and Alison, takes into consideration that he never had Julie's love as Alison has. So he releases her from her intended great sacrifice, and dies forgiving.

Shown at the Torrance Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Starts Sunday At Lomita Theatre

WARNER OLAND again plays the crafty Chinese detective in "Charlie Chan in London," the thrilling new Fox mystery drama.

Popular Screen Star Returns to Films After Absence of a Year

Ronald (Bulldog Drummond) Colman, seems eager to be handcuffed by Officer Halliwell Hobbes in this scene from "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," 20th Century's new comedy mystery thriller which United Artists brings to the Torrance Theatre Sunday and Monday, November 4 and 5. No doubt leering Warner Oland has something to do with his anxiety to get away.

Lee Tracy makes his entry in the "Lemon Drop Kid" as a companion feature.

Friday and Saturday At the Fox Redondo

Charlie Butterworth and Jimmy Durante in "Student Tour"

Mama Lou Hotel Will Open Friday

Mrs. Lou Freeman, proprietor of the Mama Lou Cafe, has taken over the management of the rooms formerly known as the Antlers Hotel, corner of Post and Sarfari avenues, which will be known in the future as the Mama Lou Hotel.

Mrs. Freeman has had the rooms redecorated in attractive colors, and refurnished throughout. She will maintain a moderate scale of prices for rooms or will furnish both room and board, meals to be served at the Mama-Lou Cafe. The hotel is conveniently located and all rooms are large, airy and comfortable.

Will Rogers Tops All Successes In Latest Role "Judge Priest"

One of America's most noted authors, Irvin S. Cobb, has supplied Will Rogers with his latest Fox Film vehicle, "Judge Priest," which opened last night at the Torrance Theatre for a four-day run.

According to all reports, the film gives Will the finest and most human role of all those he has played on the screen.

The popular series of stories by Irvin Cobb has been used as the basis for this screen history of the shrewd and wise Kentucky Judge who flourished in Paducah, Kentucky, in the late years of the past century.

Rich human interest, it is said, blends with laughter and tears in this tale of a sleepy southern town, which still is not too sleepy to create stirring drama. Millions of readers know this grand old story of fiction. Now millions more will know and love him.

Will Rogers, from all accounts, contributes to the film a memorable portrait of this ex-Confederate soldier, who divides justice with the milk of human kindness and who saves from disaster a helpless girl and the father whom she has never known.

"ONE NIGHT OF LOVE"

Lee Tracy Back In Fast-Talking Racetrack Film

Lee Tracy and Helen Mack are starred in Damon Runyon's newest Paramount film, "The Lemon Drop Kid," which comes to the Torrance Theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 4 and 5.
