'Wagon Wheels' Dramatic Tale of the Old West

Randolph Scott, tall and handsome Paramount adventure star, plays the leading role in the filmization of Zane Grey's "Wagon Wheels," the dramatic account of the adventures of the first wagon train to cross the country to Oregon in 1844, which comes Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 25, 26 and 27, to the Torrance Theatre.

With Gail Patrick, Monte Blue and Raymond Hatton in the chief supporting roles, the film also presents the newest discovery among child actors, little four-year-old Billy Lee, who plays an important role as Gail Patrick's son.

"Wagon Wheels" was adapted from the Zane Grey novel "Fighting Caravans" and depicts the hardships, perils, and romantic lives of the sturdy, adventuring pioneers who helped to forge an empire by their conquest of the West.

Screen's Youngest Romantic Team Seen In "Student Tour"

At least half a dozen new screen stars will be on parade at the Lomita Theatre for three days starting Sunday, where "Student Tour," new musical laughaganzas from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, will be the feature attraction. The new stars are among a bevy of the loveliest co-eds in America, recruited by the studio from colleges and universities. Comedy aspects of the story are handled by Jimmy Durante and Charles Butterworth, while the tender romance is introduced by a team of sweethearts in the persons of Maxine Doyle and Phil Regan. The musical hits include, the "Carole," sensational new dance that is sweeping the ballrooms of the world.

"One Night of Love" Opens At the Plaza, Hawthorne, Sunday

"Cleopatra," Starring Colbert, Is Heralded As De Mille's Greatest

Claudette Colbert heads the list of featured players in Cecil B. DeMille's great new screen spectacle, "Cleopatra," which will be shown at the Torrance Theatre four nights starting next Wednesday, and continuous from 2 p. m. on Thanksgiving Day. Playing the title role in this film based on the life of Egypt's most glamorous queen, she is supported by Warren William, Henry Wilcoxon, Ian Keith, Joseph Schildkraut, Gertrude Michael and Claudia Dell. More than five thousand actors, extras and technicians were employed in the production of the picture which required eight months for its completion.

IS IT A KISS—OR A BITE?

"Don't bite the hand that fed you!" ZaSu Pitts is cautioning W. C. Fields in a scene from Paramount's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," coming Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 23, 24 and 25, to the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne. But despite her apprehensions, Fields, with his courtly "furrin' ways," is merely impressing a kiss on the lily white fingers that have so recently served him his victuals. On the same bill will also be seen Binny Barnes in "One Exciting Adventure." Performances will be continuous on Thanksgiving Day, beginning at 2:30 p. m.

"Mrs. Wiggs" At Lomita Theatre Three Days Starting Sunday

Just as grand as ever, they come to life on the screen. "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and her lovable little brood, played on the screen by Pauline Lord, as Mrs. Wiggs, George Breakston, Carmelita Johnson, Edith Fellows and Jimmy Butler, and Virginia Weidler, not shown in scene above, the picture shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 25, 26 and 27, at the Lomita Theatre.

"6-Day Bike Rider" Joe E. Brown At Torrance Starting Wednesday

Joe E. Brown, the big mouth comedian, will be seen in another of his hilarious roles as the star of a six-day whirl to nowhere, starting at the Torrance Theatre next Wednesday for a four-night run. The performance on Thanksgiving Day will be continuous from 2 p. m.

"The Continental" Is Ballroom Rage

Those dancers de luxe, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, now introduce "The Continental," sensational dance feature of "The Gay Divorcee," RKO-Radio's lavish musical film of which they are the stars. The popularity of "The Continental," in its ballroom form, bids fair to surpass that of the "Caroco," in which these two stars made an international hit. Seen at the Torrance Theatre tonight, Friday and Saturday. Also, Barbara Stanwyck in "The Lost Lady."

WHEN DADS MISUNDERSTAND

Jackie Cooper and Thomas Meighan are a devoted son and father in the new Fox Film production, "Peck's Bad Boy." But a heart-breaking crisis comes in their affairs and for a time one feels that a fine understanding has been wrecked. Shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 25, 26 and 27, at Torrance Theatre.

We Can't Lose—You're My Lawyer!

Lee Tracy Back In Films In Popular D. Runyon Story

Lee Tracy and Helen Mack are starred in Damon Runyon's newest Paramount film, "The Lemon Drop Kid," which comes to the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne, Friday and Saturday, this week.

Adapted from a short story by that popular author, the picture tells the story of the "wise guy" who turned straight for a "swell girl." He finds the going tough, however, until a little son is born to give him the courage and incentive to fight his battle. Baby LeRoy, William Frawley and Mima Gombell are featured in the supporting cast. The directing is

Free Pancakes At Quality Market's Thanksgiving Sale

An interesting demonstration of pancake making will be held this week-end at the Quality Super Market, Torrance boulevard at Portola avenue, in connection with the big independent market's Thanksgiving sale on Friday and Saturday.

Free samples of luscious pancakes will be given visitors at the market. A home economist will have charge of the demonstration and will use Globe A-1 pancake and waffle flour. credited to Marshall Nellan, responsible for many of Mary Pickford's greatest successes.
