By Bob Lewellen

Well according to the publicity department at the University of Southern California, they have at last hit their stride and have finally found a team that can play football. They are making this rash statement because they beat poor little Oregon 14-0 with their publicity men. Oregon does not belong in the same Conference with U. S. C. It has been so long since Oregon produced a team that could win a game from the Trojans that the natives of California can not remember the date. (Or has Oregon ever beat a Trojan football team?) It has been the largest margin in the 1934 game. Well U. S. C. needs a warm-up each year. But it is too bad that a Conference team, is the one to furnish it.

Maybe we should not be too harsh on the Oregon team. No doubt the game with U.S.C. which is usually played at Los Angeles is paying their entire athletic expense each year. People in Southern California will pay a high price for seats to see this annual slaughter. About 50,000 football fans attend the game when it is played in the Coliseum in Los Angeles, but 15,000 would be a large attendance at Eugene, Oregon. We football fans of Southern California are noted for our fortunate anyway.

If U. S. C. beats the University of Washington Saturday this writer will then be convinced that the publicity men on the Trojan campus are truthful in saying the team has finally hit its stride. This game would be another set-up if the Trojans were playing as of years gone by. But on paper these two teams will start the game on par. Neither team has played impressive ball this year. Here are the scores of each team to date:—Washington, 13, Idaho 0; Washington, 16, Oregon 6; Washington 13, California 7; Washington 14, Oregon State 7; Washington 0, Stanford 24; Washington 34, Puget Sound 0. Now for the Trojans:—We will not consider their scrimmage games with Occidental and Whittier. (U. S. C. won these games) U. S. C. 6, College of Pacific 0; U. S. C. 0, Washington State 19; U. S. C. 6, Pittsburg 20; U. S. C. 6, Oregon State 6; U. S. C. 0, Stanford 18; U. S. C. 2, California 7; U. S. C. 14, Oregon 0. Now you figure who is going to win. We will string along with the Trojans by a small score. A Washington University team has not beaten a Trojan team for 11 years—yet they are in the same conference.

My idea of a great conference, California's own. Disband the present Pacific Coast conference and form a new league in California, leaving out the northern schools to form their own. Here it is: St. Mary's, Santa Clara, Loyola, University of Southern California, U. C. L. A., Stanford, California and the College of Pacific. This league will never be formed because it would be too tough for some of the present Pacific Conference schools. But after all it would be something to look forward to. St. Mary's and Santa Clara are now playing Stanford and California nearly every year. Why not invite them to join up?

Now that football season is over it is time to pick who were the outstanding men on the Torrance championship team. It is indeed a job because all of the boys were outstanding but there are always a few players who stand heads and shoulders over the rest. My idea of the two best players on the team are, Jack Javens in the backfield and Roger McGinnis in the line. These boys should receive some credit for their outstanding ability. Jack and Roger are also modest about their playing which makes them many friends. Javens has another year and should be a shining light next year. Roger wants to go to college (U. S. C. preferred) and further his education. He has a

The Referee Ruled This Interference

The referee in the Stanford-California game Saturday ruled this play interference with the pass receiver. He penalized the Stanford team by permitting the Bears to have the ball at the point of the foul, claiming that a Stanford man illegally interfered with a pass receiver. The picture shows the ball after being knocked down by Muller (33), Stanford, and Mueller (66), California's intended pass receiver. The Stanford team clinched the Rose Bowl bid by defeating the Bears, 9 to 7.

Races Start Christmas Day At Magnificent Santa Anita Plant

The Los Angeles Turf Club announces that Santa Anita Park has been entirely completed as the most magnificent racing plant yet conceived—thus fulfilling its first obligation and responsibility in bringing back the game to Southern California on the highest possible plane. More than $1,000,000 was expended.

The club has moved its executive offices to the park to put everything in readiness for the opening of the 53-day racing season on Christmas Day. Early arrival of horses of national reputation and preparation of racing cards give assurance that the greatest array of the stars of the turf ever gathered on one track will be in evidence—thus making good on another publicly-announced plan.

That record crowds will turn out for the return of the "king of sports" is indicated by reservation for season boxes and the enthusiastic interest displayed throughout Southern California. Provision has been made at Santa Anita Park for 45 acres of convenient parking areas to take care of upwards of 60,000 spectators.

Detailed information released by the Los Angeles Turf Club is that the first race each day will start at 1:30 p. m.—rain or shine.

Grandstand admission (for enclosure and paddock) will be $1.10, including federal tax; season box seats for six, $220.00; single box seats, $1.10 additional to grandstand admission; clubhouse, $2.20 additional; membership in Los Angeles Turf Club, $20.00, by invitation; all tax paid; free admission to paddock gardens. Complimentary passes are restricted by the California Horse Racing Board to working press only.

There will be no raise in prices for opening day—Christmas. The Los Angeles Turf Club is receiving box reservations at its executive offices, Santa Anita Park, Arcadia, California, telephone Arcadia 2173.

Tartars Robbed of a Possible Score By Poly

Ball Is Jerked Out of Javens Hands After He Catches Long Pass

North triumphed over South in the big football carnival at the Coliseum last Wednesday afternoon, but only after half of the games had been played. The first three southern teams were pretty well matched with their northern opponents and held up the reputation of the south in fine shape.

Jordan lead off and battled Belmont to a standstill. Neither side scored although the tide of battle flowed from one end of the field to the other.

The Jordanian left the field with the ball on Belmont's 20-yard line, which gave South Gate its chance for the first score of the afternoon. San Fernando came back to tie, and this 20 minutes ended with the ball deep in South's territory.

Gardena and Eagle Rock put on the best show of the afternoon. Gardena took the ball 75 yards, which was increased by a couple of penalties to about 90, straight through on downs to North's 15-yard line where Van Riper rifled a pass to Campbell on the goal line. A conversion made the score 13-6 in South's favor. The Eagle Rock outfit took the ball and marched another 75 yards for a touchdown and conversion, making it 13 all. Both teams were lions on offense but weak on defense, but the crowd enjoyed the show more than any other period.

Beverly Hills outclassed Huntington Park so far it was pitiful and slammed over two scores.

Torrance came on to meet Poly high, the biggest team on the field, which had been substituted, which was increased by a couple of penalties to about 20 pounds to the man, and were in a tough spot but did their best. After the first touchdown the Tartars dug in and held Poly fairly well. They were robbed of a possible score when a Poly man jerked the ball away from Javens who had received a pass on Poly's 10-yard line, and ran to midfield before he was stopped. Later Poly recovered a fumble on the 35-yard line and scored.

Fairfax outplayed Manual Arts, and added one more touchdown to the North's score, making the final, 19-13.

The scene in the stadium was brilliant and colorful, with a crowd of about 45,000 people watching the games.

Just before the start of the games, a band of 12 carrier pigeons were loosed on the field, each bird carrying the name of a team. They flew to their home loft in Fullerton and the results of this unique race were telephoned to the field. Torrance's bird placed fourth.

Broadcasts from the booth on the field were not very satisfactory on account of the numerous interruptions from the massed bands, and the announcement regarding the Torrance and Poly teams scheduled to be made by Louis Zamperini, was canceled.

MARKON, O. (U.P.)—Akron, for the first time since the signing of the Armistice 15 years ago, publicly celebrated the anniversary this year. One thousand young men and women marched and a Gold Star Mothers' war memorial was unveiled.

OPEN HEARTH LEADS AT HALF IN COLUMBIA LEAGUE SERIES

Yard and Foundry Stage Great Battle in First Game Saturday With Venable Shutting Out the Foundry For Seven Frames

The Columbia Steel baseball league reached the half way mark this week with three games having been played. The first game Saturday was the big shot of the week and it turned out to be the best game played this season. The Foundry met the Yard department with the Yard battling to stay in first place.

The Foundry got the jump though by scoring six times in the first two innings. They went out into the lead and with Louie Simson pitching great ball they defeated the Yard by the score of 6 to 2. Joe Venable also pitched great ball, blanking the Foundry for the last seven innings, but the first two innings were all the Foundry needed.

The Open Hearth now has undisputed possession of first place, though they did not play. The Electrical department was unable to come out Saturday on account of having a big repair job on one of the mills. In the other games, the promised improvement in the Sheet Mill teams did not materialize and they "also ran" to the scores of, Rolling Mill 25, "Daubers" 6, and the Warehouse 24, "Cobblers" 4.

Whale's Skeleton to Harvard
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U.P.)—The skeleton of a rare False Killer whale, mystery mammal of the seas, has been presented to Harvard University by the British Museum. The 15-foot skeleton is from one of a herd of 150 whales washed ashore at Dorroch Firth, Scotland, seven years ago. For many years the only evidence that such a mammal existed was a semi-fossil skull. Then, 15 years ago, the herd came ashore.
