

Helen Heffernan Tells Frills In Education Few

Sixty women attended the Elementary Parent Teachers Association meeting in the school bungalow Tuesday and heard Miss Helen Heffernan, a member of the board of education in Sacramento, explain the need of closer cooperation between parents and school if the present high standard of education is to be preserved.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. O. Bishop, president of the association. William Bell, Jr., principal of the school, explained the situation in the local school and urged parents to cooperate by complying with the school schedule regardless if children must attend school in morning or afternoon as it is utterly impossible to place those who attended school in the morning during the first semester in the afternoon class during the second semester which begins February 4. The local school will not be completed until the opening of school in September.

American Legion Auxiliary News

Thirty American Legion Auxiliary members donned the attire of hoboes and joined in the annual hobo party which was held in the American Legion hall Monday evening. Every real hobo since Rip Van Winkle was represented. There was the modern hitchhiker, the crafty dodger and the old man of the mountains. Hedges of tumbleweed surrounded the hall which was lighted with red lanterns. Refreshments were served from newspapers on the floor.
