PARIS. (U.P.)—It's hard to keep from harping on a good thing, once we find it, which is in no way an apology for speaking again about Spiralspun. It speaks for itself.

Maggy Rouff has designed an ensemble in black printed Spiralspun with an intricate ribbon design that gives a Chinese effect in white. This is certain to be seen at the races this summer. Maggy also does a dress, apparently simple as they come, but in reality reeking with intricate workmanship. There is, among other things, a multitude of invisibly stitched pleats, and the frock is slim with a knee-length coat treated in the same manner and touched off with a little cluster of white flowers on the lapel. Lucile Paray uses this magic material for an evening gown. It is in white Spiralspun tweed, woven with a raised weavy line. The skirt is long and full and the low-cut corsage is of royal blue Spiralspun. Over the gown is worn a long coat of the same fabric with bands of royal blue let in to appear as a belt and to give the effect of a bolero. The wide sleeves reach to just below the elbow.

TODAY'S FASHION TIP

Spiralspun is spinning along to a newcomer's success, and it looks as though this Irish linen is going to remain an old timer's favorite.

State President

Urges Women at Club Luncheon To Support Organizations

Grace Y. Hudson, state president of California Federation of Woman's Clubs, was a real inspiration to 75 club women of Torrance when she spoke at their meeting in the clubhouse Wednesday. She urged women of Torrance to be true to their organized women's clubs. If possible, she stated, members should attend at least one of the convention meetings in Santa Monica, April 22, 23 and 24. Convention meetings will be held at the Del Mar club and all members are welcome.

The club has done so much for women during the depression. It has been an uplift, helping women to live graciously under the most simple conditions.

Mrs. Oscar Carson sang a group of three numbers: "Spirit Flower" by Gilbert Spross, "Trees" by Rasbach, and "The Wren" by Lisa Lehman. Mrs. Juliette Johnson played the piano accompaniment. Mrs. Kemp J. Winkler gave a short Bible talk, which she illustrated with pictures. "The Mighty Mountains O'er It," by Lloyd B. Austin, a travelogue on the California Sierras, illustrated with motion pictures and colored views from photographs, was thoroughly appreciated by all present.

The program was presented by Mrs. May Sidebotham, program chairman. Mrs. Juliette Johnson, club president, presided at the meeting. Interesting reports were given by club chairmen. Mrs. Jas. Crumrine told of the county federation convention, which was held in Covina, Thursday, April 24. Several surprises are in store for those who attend. The affair will be held in the clubhouse, 1422 Engracia avenue. Tickets may be secured from Mesdames Willis Brooks, J. S. Lancaster, W. J. Neelands, Carrie Parks, O. W. Hudson or Caroline Collins.
