Buffalo Gnats Routed Farmers
SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.)—Big buffalo gnats invaded fields in such swarms that farmers, taken unawares, were forced to abandon their plows and flee. The large gnats appeared earlier than usual.

POLICE SCHOOL will be held each SATURDAY

Following the lead of the federal government and alert police departments in other cities, the Torrance police will hold a school for officers every Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock at the station.

MACHINISTS have prospect FOR WORK

Journeyman machinists of Torrance or vicinity, who are now unemployed, may learn something to their advantage by an interview with Mr. Austin at the machine shop, Torrance high school, any afternoon of a school day, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The interview has nothing to do with school work, but may lead to employment, provided the candidate fits the requirements, laid down by a certain industrial concern not far from Torrance, which has requested Mr. Austin to act as its mediator in selecting men for work. Applicants must be not over 28 years of age, experienced, and native born Americans.

Are We To Make The Same Mistake Again?

Acute Housing Shortage Recalls Error Made 24 Years Ago When First Factories Located Here

Faced with an industrial expansion in the immediate future, comparable in size and importance to the location of the three original major plants—which first located in Torrance 24 years ago, is this city going to make the same mistake it made a that time? Old residents will recall that the original factories to locate here were built before there were adequate homes to take care of the employees.

Are we going to sit by and see our local industrial plants and others which are to locate here in the immediate future, add hundreds and perhaps thousands of new employees to their payrolls, and yet do nothing to encourage new housing construction so that the men who work here may also bring their families here to live?

Industrial payrolls alone do not make a city. There must be adequate dwellings to accommodate the workers if a city is to reap the major benefits from payrolls. In the last analysis, people make a city—not factory payrolls.

Perhaps no one realizes the importance of providing adequate housing facilities more than the industrial executive, as he knows from experience that men living close to their work are in a better physical and mental condition when they arrive on the job in the morning than are those who must "buck the traffic" for an hour or more each morning before they begin their tasks at the plant.

In a determined effort to "do something" concerning the acute housing shortage which faces Torrance, an open forum meeting has been called at the Torrance Chamber of Commerce for next Tuesday, April 16, at 7:30 p. m., to which everyone interested in the future welfare and development of Torrance is invited. Prominent industrial, business and civic leaders have promised to attend, and an urgent appeal is made by Chamber of Commerce officials to all others to attend and take part in the discussion. Will you be there?
