Narbonne High SCHOOL

Miss Margaret McGarry, teacher of journalism, sailed Monday morning on the S. S. Pennsylvania for South America, where she will spend the summer as one of a party of students delving into the lore of the Incas, and searching for fragments of their forgotten civilization.

Recognition assembly, the period when all letters are awarded, and all scholastic honors are announced, was held Wednesday June 12, at 11 o'clock.

Tuesday, June 18, will be Senior Class day and Homecoming day for the Narbonne alumni.

Miss Clementina de Forest Griffin, principal, believing that variety is the tabasco of life, will offer her administrative character with the close of school and present herself at the Curtiss Wright Airplane factory for a six weeks training course as a student mechanic.

Claude Kincannon and Betsy Ann Hunt have been selected to receive the medals presented by the Harbor City Post, American Legion, to the outstanding students of the Junior A-9s.

Jury Sustains Autopsy Finding In Local Death

Inquest In Carrigan Case Held In Los Angeles Monday

Chief of Police G. M. Calder, Captain John Stroth and other Torrance officials and citizens were called to Los Angeles Monday to attend an inquest held to determine the cause of death of John P. Carrigan, who was found dead in the Torrance jail on May 30.

The autopsy, according to the physician's report, disclosed a gash in the scalp, but no injury to the skull or brain.

When the body was shipped to Ohio, former home of the deceased, a second autopsy was performed, which report declared that Carrigan's skull had been fractured in two places and that the brain showed signs of a hemorrhage.

Testimony of witnesses varied as to the condition of Carrigan's body, when it was removed from the jail to Stone & Myers mortuary, where it was prepared for interment.

A & P Stores Will Continue N.R.A. Policy

In keeping with their age old policy, since way back in 1859, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company (A & P Food Stores), have announced their intention to uphold the salaries and minimum working hours which were in effect prior to the abolishment of the N.R.A.

Mr. J. J. Coonan, general superintendent of the Pacific coast division, said, "A & P Food Stores have always taken a vital interest in promoting the welfare of the communities they serve, not only in maintaining reasonable working hours and living wages for their employees, but in making available the food requirements of their customers at prices which are possible only under the company's efficient operation."
