A delicatessen department has been added by the Oetken Grocery, 1001 Sartori avenue. Among the inviting items carried in stock are home-baked hams (sliced thick or thin as you like it), home made potato salad, cabbage salad and salad basis, luncheon meats, pickles, olives and chips.

Scout Troop On Camping Party
Boy Scout Troop No. 250, sponsored by the Moose lodge, was represented almost 100 percent at a recent camping trip at Green River camp in the Santa Ana canyon. Of the 30 members in the troop about 25 spent a happy week-end at Green River. They were accompanied by Thomas J. Wilkes, Tony Figueredo and Sam Humer. On Sunday several of the mothers of the Scouts joined the party and spent the day in outdoor amusements climaxed by a big feed.

"Double Cross" Is Charged In Harbor Project
Redondo Beach Citizens Up In Arms Over Alleged Slight
"Ominous signs of trouble ahead for John R. Quinn, county supervisor, when he seeks re-election next year, bubbled above the brim of the local political horizon this week," says the Redondo Reflex. "When civic leaders working in behalf of a yacht harbor, breakwater and beachside playground complained to the city council that Quinn and his colleagues on the board of supervisors had 'double-crossed' them."
"Whether it is all a misunderstanding of whether Supervisor Quinn personally favors the Malaga Cove site for a yacht harbor in preference to the old salt lake region in Redondo Beach will be determined in the next few days, the council decided, in voting to have the city clerk notify the supervisor that the council wishes to confer with him at a meeting to be arranged and held in the Redondo Beach city hall."
"Among those who appealed to the council at Monday night's meeting for action to settle the issue one way or the other, so far as the supervisors are concerned, were Maud Dawson Shea, Don McCarty, Paul Temple and T. J. Hoyt."
On the other hand, it is stated that the plans which were submitted by James K. Reid, superintendent of the county department of recreation camps and playgrounds, include a mammoth sea wall extending from Malaga Cove to Santa Monica. Behind this wall would be a boat harbor, still water beaches, lagoons and other recreational features.
The plans call for a 4,000-foot breakwater to provide 180 acres of still water, 130 acres of which would be used for mooring pleasure craft. The project is intended to be built under the federal works program, under an application already filed.
The extension of the breakwater to Santa Monica, will probably be completed later, but immediate plans it is said include only the construction of a yacht harbor at this end of the line.

Dog Is Killed Defending Home
On a green hillside overlooking the blue Pacific, at 900 Via Panorama, in the Palos Verdes Estates, is a fresh turned mound, the marker at one end showing it to be a small grave.
Buried there is a canine hero who died defending the home of his owner, J. Norman Phillips, from the attack of armed intruders, last week, says the Redondo Reflex.
The dog, Baron, was left at home while the Phillips family were on a short trip. When they returned they found Baron in an outhouse, a .45 caliber revolver slung had entered his body while the animal, a trained police dog, was in an attitude of defense.
Another attempt was made to enter the Phillips home Monday, which for some reason was unsuccessful, inasmuch as nothing was found missing, caused deputy sheriffs to be summoned for an investigation which they are now making.

A liberal allowance will be made on your old ice or mechanical refrigerator.

Only ice provides air conditioning.*

POSTMASTERS state convention AT SAN DIEGO
Postmasters of the state will gather at San Diego next week for a three-day convention starting July 17. This convention will bring together the largest attendance ever experienced in a state convention, since California is now well organized, some counties reporting almost 100 percent.
Several national officers are expected, but the main attraction will be the presence of Postmaster General James A. Farley, who will address the convention on its closing day, Sunday, July 20.
Postmasters from this section who expect to attend are C. Earl Conner, of Torrance, and Mrs. Conner; Birda Paddock, of Lomita; Mrs. Maude Shea, of Redondo Beach, and others.

Read this money-saving tip before you shop today

By Jim Edwards, Safeway grocer

EVER been disappointed with a "bargain day" suit or a "special sale" hat—the kind where the ad didn't tell you all the story?

We all know that "bargain" food prices can be just as deceptive as "bargain table" prices on hats.

So we are not going to print any disappointing bargain day food prices on our ads.

Most of the items in this ad are regular prices. We think you will find that these regular prices on quality foods are very low.

Why real savings are possible

We SAFEGWAY grocers have a whole FAMILY OF FOOD EXPERTS who are "partners" of ours.

The Safeway family of skilled buyers, shippers and testers work right with the farmers. They get fine foods from the farm to our stores faster. Foods are fresher when you get them.

More important, these Safeway experts cut down the expense that comes in between the farm and your table.

That means you get fine foods at lower cost—not just on "specials" but on ALL ITEMS—EVERY DAY.

Tear out this ad. When you shop today, check both the prices and the quality. That will prove what the Safeway family can save you.
