

Medaks Here Again

Last Game of the Season With San Pedro Played Here Tomorrow Night

San Pedro Medaks will furnish the opposition to the Bluebirds at the municipal park tomorrow night, the last time these two teams will tangle this season.

Murphy's men are still in the running on the strength of their decisive win over Montebello last Friday night when they ran up a 11-1 score in seven innings.

Van Vliet started for the Birds, and was very effective. He was relieved in the fifth by Wilford, a newcomer, who got into the box in his street clothes, and pitched the heart-out of Montebello, allowing no hits and no runs.

Acting Manager Red Moon put in half a dozen new players during the game, which added a great deal to the effectiveness of the Birds' attack.

Only two more games will be played at home, tomorrow and Friday of next week. After that comes the play-off, with Hollywood meeting the winners of the second half. It may be the Birds.

SPORT SHOTS

If the University of Southern California does not win the National football championship in 1936, it will not be because the Alumnus of this school has not been on the job.

Track scouts for the Trojans have not been sleeping, they also have great athletes to fill the shoes of men of the past who have made U. S. C. the greatest producers of track and field in the world.

I would like to see the Torrance Kiwanis Juniors play the great Torrance Bluebirds in a game of football some evening.

The Kiwanis Juniors and Long Beach Angels met Saturday night in the third game of their inter-city championship and with a surprising reversal of form on the Kiwanis' part, the Angels won in a walk by the score of 25 to 5.

Anell Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, former champion of the world, plans to have Max's mother and father live at the training camp, while the playboy prepares to fight Joe Louis.

Ben Ogden, track coach of Temple University, and coach of the great Negro athlete, Eulace Peacock, believes that the United States will have little difficulty in "running away with track and field championship of the 1936 and subsequent Olympiads."

Life Of A Swimmer Not So Bad

"With those muscles he can't lose," Marylene Hulter (left) comments to her friend, Sara Elizabeth Lous, as they examine the bulging biceps of Paul Choteau, noted French distance swimmer now in training at Santa Monica for his attempt, around Sept. 1, to swim the 35-mile stretch of water from Catalina to Santa Monica.

Football Schedule

Opening Games on Pacific Coast Will Be Played Sept. 28; Close Dec. 7

Final football schedule for games on the Pacific Coast shows September 28 as the date of the opener for all teams except U. C. L. A., which starts its schedule with a night game against Utah on September 27.

College of the Pacific plays U. S. C. at Los Angeles, October 5; Illinois, October 12; Oregon State, October 19; California at Berkeley, October 26; Stanford, November 9; Washington State, November 16; Notre Dame at South Bend, November 23; and Washington, December 7.

Charles F. Myers, Sid Smith and D. A. (Spud) Murphy, were three successful nimrods, who brought home the venison after a trip to the mountains last week.

Mezzanine Floor

Planned At Westside Auditorium to Take Care of Increasing Crowds

The Westside Auditorium, 645 West Anaheim street, Long Beach, last Saturday had architects drawing plans for a mezzanine floor in the west wing of their building to accommodate an additional 1,200 fans.

All New Team Will Be Seen Here On Sunday

The Westside presents this Friday night what they declare will be their seventh straight sell-out.

Manager Jack Saunders reorganized baseball team, formerly the All Stars, now playing under the name of the City of Torrance, will take on the Belvedere club at the ball-park next Sunday afternoon.

Art Hawkins, an ex-Eastern League pitcher, here as catcher, and also has a line out for another good catcher from the Greater Southern California Association who is highly recommended.

Torrance police were again victors in a pistol match with Redondo Beach police, held last Saturday, scoring 1,021 to the visitors' 928.
