

Will Reflects Hate

TIFFIN, Ohio, (U.P.)—Paternal relatives of Miss Arvilla Albright, a suicide, will have no part of her $100,000 estate, all of it going to relatives on her mother's side. Her will says: Under no circumstances shall any heir of the Albright family have any portion."

Everybody Isn't

By VERA P. THISTLE

Everybody's doing it. Doing it, doing it; Everybody's doing it. Now!" Thus the slogan of the day. That we hear so many say. But I object—for it isn't true. The phrase is false, and the meaning too; And it rolls and rolls beneath the tongue Like a piece of music nicely sung. What is the outstanding thing, you ask. On many lips that you take to task? Why! It may not be any one particular thing. But something they at the moment bring. Up to their minds—that seems the fashion. And they, for one, have such a passion. It does not matter, if right or wrong. They'd have you think—you must go along. With their line of thought; and if by chance. You should decline (because you differ) you thus enhance. Your right to act—And thus it proves you don't depend. On anyone your time to spend. In order that they can ease their mind. By having a companion so inclined. To follow them—at their beck and call; No! "Everybody's not doing it!"—I know—at all.

Decision In Fishing Case Sets Up Precedent For Future Actions

Decision in the case of the State vs. Anthony Bozanih, San Pedro fisherman, which first came before Judge Frank Carrell of the Inglewood township justice court sitting in Torrance on July 16, was handed down this week. Judge Carrell, who has had the case under consideration since last July, set Monday, November 18, for the final chapter in the matter and handed down a decision in favor of the state. Bozanih was given a fine of $250 or 125 days, of which $200 was suspended and the fisherman was given until December 18 to pay the balance.

The incident attracted wide attention at the time since it involved questions of maritime law as well as state law, on which few if any decisions had ever been handed down.

On June 27, Bozanih was given a citation by Captain L. G. Smith, of the state fish and game department, to appear for hearing on a charge of using a round haul net larger than sanctioned by law in district 19, which is a closed area. Complaint was issued on July 8 and Bozanih, his crew, and their attorney, Arch Eckdale, of San Pedro, appeared on July 16 to answer to the charge.

Eckdale contended that at the time of the arrest the "Success" operated by Bozanih had fouled her propeller in the net and had drifted inside the line of the closed area. His argument attempted to show that at the time, the "Success" was unseaworthy, since it was out of control, and that, further, the state of California had no right to declare a closed area within a line drawn from headland to headland of a bay more than two marine leagues (six miles) wide. He contended that since the place where the alleged offense had been committed was more than six miles wide on the line of the closed area should follow the contour of the shore line at a distance three miles from the high tide line, or

In other words international law and usage should apply.

The state law defining a closed area distinctly states that such an area shall be within a line, drawn from headland to headland, and shall include all bays, inlets, etc., within that line. Judge Carrell in handing down his decision took cognizance of the fact that for many years, maps, historians and geographers have referred to the district involved in the case as Santa Monica bay, its area being enclosed in a line from Malibu on the north to Rocky Point on the Palos Verdes coast on the south.

The leading case which could be construed as setting a precedent for Judge Carrell's decision was a case against the Ocean Industries, involving activities in Monterey Bay, which has been for more than 100 years referred to as such. This case was decided two or three years ago, and hinged upon much the same points as were involved in the present action.

Other cases of note, which involved questions of the state's jurisdiction over coast waters, were the famous gambling ship cases heard several years ago, when the state was declared to have jurisdiction over the waters within the three-mile limit, and as a result gambling boats off Long Beach moved farther out to sea. Recently, one of the gambling boats was raided and robbed by a band of five or six men, who were arrested and tried on a charge of piracy on the high seas. Judge Albert Lee Stephens, of the superior court, handed down a decision in this case that the defendants were not liable on charges of piracy since the offense took place within the boundaries of San Pedro bay, subject to state jurisdiction.

Since no notice of appeal was given by Attorney Eckdale, it is probable that Judge Carrell's decision in the local case will establish a precedent for actions which may arise in the future, not only in this section but in other territorial waters of the state.

who is able to bring out such excellent results.

Mrs. Gifford made a charming soloist. She was lovely to look at, had a most pleasing personality and sang with style and artistic finish. She has a brilliant soprano voice with particularly lovely quality in the middle register. Her numbers were "Spring's Awakening" by Sanderson, "Oh, Promise Me" by DeKoven, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "The Star" by Rogers, and aria from Robert le Diable, and "I Dreamt I Dwelt In Marble Halls." The accompanist did fine work under the great difficulty of being at a distance from the artist.

V-8 LEADERSHIP

ON OCTOBER 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year. One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm. These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out, in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.
