

Old Fashioned Turkey Shoot Held At Gardena

American Legion Post Sponsors Sporting Event Ending New Year's Day

Back in the 17th century when the first Thanksgiving was celebrated, our distant forefathers shot wild game for the feast. Today, men and the ladies too, can bring home the game for the holiday dinners by shooting if they follow the plan that has been announced by the Gardena American Legion Post No. 187 that is sponsoring a turkey shoot.

Today and every day hereafter until Wednesday, January 1, 1936, the shoot is open to all competition at a specially prepared range at Main and 186th streets.

Several hundred turkeys have been procured by the Legion for the event, and will be awarded daily to the shooting contest winners. According to the Legion's plan, those entering the affair will be divided into groups of six, and the person out of the six who gets the best mark on the target will be awarded an order for a turkey which may be obtained dressed at any time it is called for.

A Few Games Remain On 1935 Football Schedule

Saturday afternoon, the once great Trojans of Southern California, entertain Washington University in the Los Angeles Coliseum. Coach Jim Phelan of the Huskies graduated from Notre Dame in 1917, and uses the Notre Dame system of play. Pick U. S. C. to win, but a tough game.

St. Mary's college will entertain Oregon University. Look for the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's to ride over the Oregon team. Santa Clara will entertain the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian. It looks as though the Santa Clara team will have frog legs for dinner Saturday evening. The Farmers of Texas A&M will try and upset the great Southern Methodist team. Yes I said try, and upset them.

All-Time All-Torrance Football Team Next Week

Next Thursday the Torrance Herald will publish the public's version of an all-time all-Torrance football team. If you have not sent in your choice for the mythical team, tomorrow is the last day. Any letters post-dated in the postoffice after Friday, December 6 will not be accepted.

Notre Dame University Leads In Coaching of Large Schools

The former players of the great Notre Dame University seem to have the upper hand in the coaching jobs of the largest colleges and University of the United States. Here are a few of the largest schools that use the Notre Dame system of play, with a former Irish player as coach.

We will start off with the famous "Four Horseman" of the great Knute Rockne team. Yes three of the boys who rode rough shod over the United States in 1924 are "head men" at different schools.

Elmer Layden '25, Notre Dame. James Crowley '25, Fordham. H. A. Stuhldreher '25, Villanova.

Now for a few of the other former "greats" of Notre Dame. (You will note that I am including the year that they graduated.)

Frank Thomas '21, Alabama; Jack Meagher '17, Auburn; A. J. Bergman '20, Catholic University; Marcy Schwartz '31, Creighton; Charles Dorais '14, Detroit; Harry Baujan '22, Dayton University; Chris Flanagan '28, Duquesne; Harry Mehre '22, Georgia University; Edward Anderson '21, Holy Cross; Chet Wynne '22, Kentucky; Tom Lieb '23, Loyola of Los Angeles; Charles Bachman '18, Michigan State; W. H. Anderson '22, No. Carolina State; N. E. Kizer '25, Purdue; E. P. Madigan '20, St. Mary's of California; Maurice Smith '20, Santa Clara of California; Jim Phelan '17, Washington University; Joseph A. Meyer, Xavier and Jack Chevigny '29, Texas University. This list only includes the largest football schools in the country. The former players of the Blue and Gold are scattered from one end of this great country to the other, but are too numerous to mention.

Football Plays and Events That Make History

The longest run for a touchdown in history was 115 yards, made by Wyllys Terry of Yale, November 4, 1884, against Wesleyan. Fields were 110 yards in length in those days. The longest field goal in history was made by J. T. Haxall, of Princeton in 1882, the kick was good for 65 yards. Arthur Poe of Princeton holds the record of the all-time "thief" of football. In a game against Yale in 1898, Poe wrenched the ball from a Yale player and ran 100 yards for the winning score of the game. Arle Davis of Oklahoma kicked 23 extra points from placement in one game; Oklahoma vs. Kingfisher in 1917, the final score was Oklahoma 179, Kingfisher 0. The shortest "pep talk" in history was made by the late Knute Rockne. During a game, with Notre Dame trailing their opponent, Rockne came in the dressing room between halves, looked the team over, and made this stinging remark, "Fighting Irish." Notre Dame won the game in the last half. Rockne always used these few words as his best pep talk before the game and between the

Is Torrance to Be Represented At Berlin Olympic Games in 1936?

Because so much argument has arisen over the participation of the United States in the coming Eleventh Olympiad, to be held at Berlin, Germany, August 1-16, a poll is being taken of the candidates for the United States team to determine whether a majority of the athletes favor it.

Since most if not all of the opposition is coming from outsiders, the American Olympic committee, headed by Avery Brundage, has asked for an expression from every candidate the committee considers worthy or likely to qualify.

In a letter addressed to Louis Zamperini, interscholastic world's champion, Brundage says:

"By your performance you have marked yourself as one of the outstanding candidates for the American Olympic team.

"All the athletes with whom members of the American Olympic committee have talked have favored participation in the 1936 games. It is the duty of this committee to provide for this participation and to raise funds necessary to finance the team.

"Outsiders have challenged the decision of the committee, claiming many athletes do not want to go. To refute this challenge and remove it as an obstacle to contributions to the fund, the committee desires an expression from a large number of actual candidates.

"Are you planning to try out for the team, and if you qualify, will you be ready to make the trip to the 1936 Games in Berlin?"

"Please indicate your intentions on the enclosed card, by an X marked in the 'Yes' or 'No' square, and send it by return mail.

"Thanks for your co-operation. Sincerely yours, Avery Brundage, President, American Olympic Committee."

Louis has sent in his card, indicating that he will participate in the games provided he makes the team. Pete Zamperini, who will compete under the banner of U. S. C., has also mailed his approval of participation.

Louis will graduate from Torrance high school next February, and is already in training for the first competitive events which will lead to the actual try-outs for the team. This brings up to Torrance the matter of backing for their candidate in these early matches. When and if Louis makes the team, his expenses will be taken care of out of the fund raised by the Olympic committee. Prior to that time he will be on his own, and if Torrance is to have a man on the Olympic team, it will be up to this city to see that he gets the necessary backing.

With the Eleventh Olympiad only eight months away, it is not too early to begin planning for this necessary financial backing. All Torrance wants to see Louis on that world famous team. There is only one way to accomplish this and that is by getting behind the boy with all the resources this community has. He will do his part in bringing world renown to the community.

Louis's spectacular successes of the past two years are an indication of what he can do this year. "On to Berlin" is his slogan of the hour, and it should be the slogan of Torrance. What about it, Chamber of Commerce, city dads, business men, and sportsmen? Winners in this section will have to compete in the middle west and east. Travelling expenses cost money. Is the boy going to be left out for the sake of a few shekels or is Torrance going to Berlin in 1936?

half, "Block, block, block." Another famous "pep talk" was given by Harry Mehre, coach of Georgia University while playing Yale in 1931. The Yale Bulldogs were the favorite to win the game, as they were undefeated team for the year. Mehre stood in the center of the dressing room looking his squad of players over, hands on his hips and said in tones of chagrin, "Well, boys, we're just a one dollar game in New Haven." The Georgia Bulldogs won the affair with a score of 26-7.

Cock fights, bull fights and dog fights hold no interest for Barton MacLane, Hollywood's new "Public Enemy No. 1." Yet this same Warner Bros. actor wouldn't miss a black widow spider fight for any money. In fact he sponsored a spider fighting contest during the production of the Warner Bros. picture, "Dr. Socrates," which comes to the Torrance Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

MacLane's "protégé" is "Murdering Minnie," a female black widow spider he captured in his garage.

Impressed with the spunk of "Murdering Minnie," MacLane, a "killer" in "Dr. Socrates," took the spider over to the T. C. Gibson store in Encino, California, and announced that "Murdering Minnie" would meet all comers.

"Murdering Minnie" met and defeated 14 other black widows. "Dr. Socrates" is a powerful drama starring Paul Muni.

Kirkpatrick Second In Harrier Race

Torrance high school's annual cross country run, slated to be a feature of the interlocking game between the Tartars and Bell of the Pacific League, postponed because of the transfer of the game to Bell, was run off Wednesday afternoon. Louis Zamperini, world's champion miler, crossed the finish line nearly 1800 yards ahead of his nearest competitor, Lee Kirkpatrick. Louie's time was 7:06 for the mile and a half or 12 and two-tenths seconds faster than his time for last year. The champ finished in good shape and ready for another round.

Kirkpatrick, Harestad, in third place, and Schimick, fourth, made it a good race for second, until the last lap when Kirk sprinted out and took the honor. The real race was between these contenders, as it was a foregone conclusion that Zamperini would win.

COLUMBIA LEAGUE QUILTS

Owing to the press of business in the plant, the Columbia Steel baseball league has quit playing for the present. As soon as work slackens off enough to let the boys get out on the diamond, play will probably be resumed.

Father of Casaba Game Is Honored

LAWRENCE, Kan. (U.P.)—Plans to honor Dr. James Naismith of the University of Kansas, who founded basketball, with a trip to the Berlin Olympic Games, are going forward rapidly, according to Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics here. The idea is sponsored nationally by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Basketball will be played at the Olympics next year for the first time. Dr. Naismith started the game 30-odd years ago when he was an athletic instructor at the Y.M.C.A. college at Springfield, Massachusetts.

According to Dr. Allen, all basketball teams and organizations will be asked to set aside one game in the week of February 9-15 and contribute one cent from each admission toward the Naismith fund.

Beside the personal honor to Dr. Naismith, it also has been proposed that a permanent memorial to the founder of winter's most popular sport be erected either here or at Springfield.
