Shirley Temple Wins Highest Award in First Annual Doll Show

Competition for prizes was keen last Thursday in the first annual doll show, sponsored by the Recreation department, held at the civic auditorium. The show drew a large number of entries and many spectators. Judges of the affair found their task an exacting though pleasant affair, with so many high class dolls to inspect, but finally awarded prizes as follows:

Best dressed doll, Patty Geraghty.
Best home-made doll, Polly Janet Bartlett.
Oldest doll, Malker Tillman.
Twins, Margy Riley.
Most unique doll, Joan Emerson.
Tallest dolls, Glory Zahradnik and Marjorie Obole.
Smallest doll, Shirley Guttenfelder.
Honorable mention went to Barbara McCune, Margaret Bolander, Charlotte Weichman, Lorraine Miles, Marvel Tate, Helen Erison and Charlene Modisett.

Judges were Mrs. Enid Miles, of the Woman's Club; Mrs. Bud Edwards, Parent Teachers Association, and Mrs. Addie Montague, National Business and Professional Women.
Decisions reached by the judges were based on sound conclusions. The best dressed doll was selected because of its general freshness of appearance and lovely blond curls held in place with a pink ribbon. The dress was of blue printed organdie, trimmed with lace, of the pantaloons type, the pantaloons being of white dotted swiss combined with white net. The doll represented Shirley Temple in her role as "The Littlest Rebel." A cash prize of $5 was awarded. Barbara McCune's skating doll, dressed in white wool pleated skirt, orange sweater, white tam and accessories, received honorable mention. Polly Janet Bartlett's "Colored Mammy" doll received a cash prize of $3. The doll is 14 years old, has jointed hips, knees and elbows with fingers sewn in shape. Dressed as a typical old negroess.

The oldest doll, entered by Malker Tillman, is 75 years old, and is wearing the original clothing, has a porcelain china head, legs and arms. A cash prize of $3 was awarded.
Margy Riley's twins, which won a cash prize of $2, were handmade and were cleverly dressed.
The most unique doll, entered by Joan Lee Emerson, was a Chinese doll brought from Yunnan in West China. Such a doll can only be purchased during the Festival of Spring, on the fifth day of the fifth month of the year. Wears an elaborately embroidered Chinese silk costume. This was awarded a prize of $2.00.

Dolls entered by Glory Zahradnik and Marjorie Obole tied for first place in the largest doll contest, which carried a cash prize of $2.00. They were 28 inches tall, both nicely dressed.
The smallest doll, entered by Shirley Guttenfelder, was less than one inch in length and was cradled in half a peanut shell.

RECREATION Department Notes
Winners at the card party held Monday evening at the Recreation Center building were Mrs. Mary Baker, first prize at pinocle; J. B. Cook, first men's prize; Mrs. Nelson, of Long Beach, first prize at 500; George Dilley, first men's prize.
The museum of natural history which was opened by Mr. Stevens last week has already received some interesting pieces and more have been promised. All those who have curios to give or lend, are invited to bring them to the Recreation Center.
The recreation department is much pleased with the success of its first doll show and plans to make it an annual affair. Plato the Magician, the local orchestra, and all vaudeville acts, which made up the entertainment, were all furnished by the WPA, and gave a very fine program.

Sheer Black for Summer Town Wear

Wherever well-dressed women are gathered this year black is the most prevailing note, and in the smarter shopping districts one sees little else. Invariably these black dresses achieve their trim look from the crispness of the white touches that are combined with them. One of the most elegant gowns in the parade of black on Fifth Avenue the other day was trimmed down the front with a wide strip of white lace, running from the neckline to the hem, with the quarter-length sleeves capped with a small edging of the same lace, and a neat lace collar about the neck. Two lengths of lace edging had been cleverly sewn together, their keelings fitting neatly, to make the interesting front strip.

Novelty in Luncheon Tables

An attractive table, seen at one of the smart china departments recently was set with white china and sparkling crystal, and had luncheon mat made of lace. The lace was about two inches wide, and had been interlaced together, leaving open spaces about two inches square. The crossings were tacked to keep the cross pieces from slipping. These looked very dainty, and on a beautiful table, the contrast of the lace and dark wood made a very pretty picture. Bridal wreath in a low green glass bowl completed the table. This was placed on one corner, leaving the center open. It is surprising how very different this arrangement can make your table look.

ONCE DEAF; NOW HELPS OTHERS TO HEAR

The prescription of a Vienna ear specialist has been brought to this country by Charles Foucek, a well known Chicago druggist, who was once deaf but who cleared up his condition through this prescription. Through him thousands of other sufferers have tried this formula and secured amazing relief from head noises, ringing and buzzing in ears, earache, and are now able to hear more distinctly. This prescription called Ourine, costs only a few cents a day—your money back if not delighted. Dolley Drug Co., Torrance.—Adv.

HOUSEHOLD ARTS By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

Attractive Table Mats
Imported table mats made of paper are being featured in all smart stores. Some of the sets even go as high as $8.75, but clever women know how they can be duplicated for a fraction of this cost. You need to buy only a few folds of crepe paper to make a set that will be greatly admired by your guests as well as your family.

The following directions are for an attractive white and green mat, and six of these will make a lovely summer table setting. These mats which are so simply woven are as practical and durable as any fabric. A thin brushing of an inexpensive water repellent solution will make the mats even more durable.

First cut a rectangle of stout cardboard 13 1/2 inches by 10 inches. Mark both edges of the length every 1/4 inch with pencil. Insert pins at these points. Cut one fold of white crepe paper across the grain one inch wide and string board. Thread a darning needle with green cord or string and weave back and forth, 1 under, 1 over, for 5 rows at both the top and bottom. The middle of the mat is divided into 2-inch sections and these have 3 rows of weaving. Keep weaving close together and tie ends at the sides of the mat. Cut from cardboard. Make 12 tassels, 15 windings each over a 2-inch board, trim, and tie on the sides of mat at each weaving interval.
