General Petroleum Holds First Place In Accident Prevention

First place in accident prevention among the marketing departments of major oil companies of the nation. Such is the distinction won by the marketing department of General Petroleum Corporation for the first five months of 1936, according to news just reaching F. C. Davies, Southern California sales manager for this large oil producing, refining and marketing company of the West.

"It will be remembered," he says, "that, about a month ago we announced General Petroleum marketing department in second place in the safety campaign for the first four months of this year. At that time, the prediction was made that our department would go to first place nationally. When all records were tabulated by the National Safety Council, Inc., for the five months ending May 31, we actually were found at the top of the list.

Only One Mishap
"General's marketing department, embracing approximately 1,500 persons engaged in operating cars, trucks, bulk plants and service stations, had but one disabling accident in this five months' period in all the territory served by the company, including Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona and Nevada. "This one accident—a slight one—happened during the period in which this department registered 1,059,587 man-hours of labor. This is a frequency of .944—or 94 hundredths of one accident per million hours. The average number of accidents in the marketing division of major oil companies during this five months' was 9.92 per million hours."

Former Resident Accepts Position At Wagon Wheel

George W. Lawrence, former resident of Torrance and brother-in-law of Harry Dolley of the Dolley Drug Company, has recently taken a position as manager of the Wagon Wheel restaurant in Redondo Beach.

Entering the catering business many years ago, Lawrence has served in important capacities on the staffs of many large cuisine departments throughout the country.

Steward On Liner
Early in his career Lawrence was chief steward on the transatlantic liner "George Washington." Later he operated the cuisine department for two Great Lakes steamers where he was responsible for the preparation and serving of over 1,800 meals per day. During the 17 summers he directed this staff, Mr. Lawrence never missed one day of duty.

The first in his profession to employ women on the serving staffs of liners, Lawrence made it a custom to select young women from the colleges of the country for the jobs, and thus afforded them the opportunity to spend their summer months traveling. At times co-eds from a dozen or more different schools were included upon the same staff.

Executive Transpacific Lines
Arriving on the Pacific coast many years ago, Mr. Lawrence took a position as an executive in the catering department of Transpacific Lines, in whose service he remained until a few years ago when he came to Torrance. While Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, nee Miss Irene Olson, were residents of Torrance they resided at 1443 Post avenue.

WALT LINCX SAYS:

To Make a Long Tale Short

Man comes into this world with nothing on him, but he can't live in this man's town very long until everybody has SOMETHING ON HIM. He grows up, marries one of his school day sweethearts, and before long he is tossing on sleepless beds at night wondering where the next alimony installment is coming from. Instead of tossing, wondering where the next alimony is coming from he should take a spin in the moonlight in one of our used cars.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

Histories In Brief of Business Directory Advertisers

Mrs. Paula Ross Hays, manager of Smith's Super Service Station and Garage at the corner of Torrance Boulevard and Portola, arrived in Torrance about three years ago. Paula was born in Leominster, Massachusetts, and came to California from there.

Taking charge of the service station three years ago Paula operated it entirely by herself until May of this year, when she became the bride of Homer G. Hays, whom she met through her business.

Shortly after their marriage Hays resigned his job as a brakeman at the Columbia Steel plant and entered the service station business with his wife.
