New Man Added To Local Agency

Coming to Torrance as a new man on the sales staff of the Lewis Motor Company, local Buick agency, Ernest R. Smith, formerly employed by the Arkenberg Motors of Gardena, is in charge of the establishment during the time Manager Bardwell is in Flint, Mich., attending the national Buick convention. Smith, who came to California originally from Racine, Wis., has been on the Pacific coast since 1917, and has been active in the automobile business ever since his arrival. The new salesman is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and has had a great deal of experience in the automobile business both here and in the east. He and his wife, whom he met while attending the university, own their own home in Gardena where they will continue to live until he can sell his present home and find housing accommodations in Torrance.

Shawger's Car Is Stolen

Bill Shawger, president of the Kiwanis Club, lost his new Oldsmobile Tuesday night. Shawger left his car in a parking lot in Los Angeles while he attended a meeting, and on his return after midnight he found the lot deserted by attendants and his new car missing. He had had the machine only a short time, driving out from Detroit not long ago.

Preliminary Work On New Building Starts This Week

Contractors for High School Gymnasium Erect Office Quarters

Erection of offices for the contractors, Brunzell & Jacobsen, was in progress on the high school grounds this week in preparation for the erection of the new boys' physical education building.

The building, a P. W. A. job, to cost $32,080, will consist of a one-story reinforced concrete building with concrete floor and roof, fireproof and earthquake resistant.

Wesley Eager is the architect. In preparation for the work, men are removing a number of fine deodar trees east of the present gymnasium building. These trees were to have been presented to the city for transplanting in the city park, but as the cost of their removal was too high the trees will be hauled off and discarded or cut up for firewood.

At the same time that work is proceeding on the physical education building, the auditorium damaged beyond repair by the earthquake of three years ago will be torn down.

No plans have been worked out for replacing the structure in which all the student body entertainments and aud. calls were held. The loss of the auditorium is a great handicap to the normal activities of the school.

pleurisy recently, is reported to be much improved.

Hospital Care For Wage Earners Is Fostered

National Organization of Association to Be Formed

Hospital care for wage earners at a cost of a few cents a day is being realized in many communities today, with a prospect for an immediate increase in their number during the next few months. Fifty communities in the United States have adopted the plan whereby the cost of hospital services is carried during the earning period of the beneficiary and its benefits are realized when the services are required.

At a meeting held last week during the convention session of the American Hospital Association at Cleveland, Ohio, steps were taken to form the 50 units already established into a national organization. More than 450,000 persons are now taking advantage of the plan.

Under the arrangement the payment of a small monthly sum entitles the subscriber to free bed and service in a ward or semi-private room, depending on the amount paid per month, for as many as 21 days a year.

Few families have a cash reserve to pay for emergency hospital service. By joining a service association the cash reserve can be built up monthly so that when a worker or any member of his family falls sick or requires surgical attention the hospital service is provided free for the term established under the rules of the association.

This of course does not mean that all expenses are paid but only that service of the hospital is free so far as room and nursing is concerned. Other medical fees for physicians and medicines are not included.

The proposed national organization will endeavor to foster new units and to curb the activities of unethical groups which may seek to establish associations on a basis of profit to the organizers.

Miss Esther Z. Maxwell, superintendent of the Jared Sidney Torrance Memorial hospital, is attending the convention in Cleveland, which is discussing many phases of hospital work.

CURRENT AFFAIRS at TORRANCE HIGH

By JOHNNY McDONALD

Mr. Arthur Waldelich, former principal of Torrance high, died of a heart attack Monday, Oct. 5. At the time of his death he was principal at Alexander Hamilton high school. An assembly was held first period Tuesday, in honor of Mr. Waldelich. We were all bereaved at his death, and feel that we have lost a friend. Torrance high sent a delegation composed of some of the members of the student body and faculty to attend the funeral. Flowers were also sent.

Last Friday, Oct. 2, Torrance beat Phineas Banning high school at football on the losers' gridiron. Johnny Schmidt was the star, but we hear he had some good interference. Looks like a swell start for the Torrance griders. They play Leuzinger tomorrow, there, so be out there, all you loyal supporters!

At an assembly held sixth period Monday it was announced that a model airplane group, under Mr. Austin, is to be organized. One of their plans is to make a gas model. This will be powered by a midget gas engine, which will be made in the machine shop. We hope they can construct it so that air will cool it satisfactorily. Whether or not they intend to enter the finished model in a Sunday morning gas model meet at Gus Gotch's airport is not known. Joe F. Battaglia, national gas model champ, had better look to his laurels!

Millicent Lincoln, Torrance high S'34, who is attending Santa Barbara State Teachers College, says in a letter that she is homesick. Her family and friends think she will be home during the Thanksgiving or Christmas breathing spell.
