Society Editor Takes Her Turn As Top Picker

Herald's Football Race Draws To a Close This Week

The battle of the Herald's master minds is drawing to a close. With this week's picks they bid the fans adieu till next year.

Society Editor Roxie Sleeth moved into fourth position last week by virtue of her stellar picks and shoved the sports editor into the cellar section. Roxie was the only picker to hit a score on the nose, the same being the U.C.L.A.-Oregon game, when she chose the U-Clan to win by seven points.

Brooks tightened his hold on second place with eight wins, and while Champion Hinds slid down a bit he is still out in front for the cash prize which will be awarded after the figures are toted this week-end.

With second and third places pretty well outlined the race this week will be for the fourth spot, with only four points separating the contestants.

On games won and lost the five contestants have staged a fairly even race, but Hinds has shown the most consistent judgment on picking the scores. Or else he has been mighty lucky.

Standings for the week:

	W.	L.	Plus
Sleeth	8	4	38
Brooks	8	4	38
Hinds	7	5	35
Lewellen	7	5	35
Fraser	7	5	35

With the final week of the picks at hand the master minds are now lined up as follows:

	W.	L.	Pts.
Hinds	59	20	122
Brooks	58	21	216
Lewellen	53	28	268
Sleeth	47	32	447
Fraser	48	31	451

Arts, Crafts Class Offered Now At Evening High

The new class in arts and crafts started last Monday at the Torrance evening high school. Among those suggested were pottery, Christmas presents of various kinds, basket weaving, block-printing and leather-tooling.

If the people of Torrance do not take advantage of this opportunity for expert instruction, they will be the loser. Besides this, the evening high school offers classes in music, sewing shops, beauty culture, commercial, English, mathematics, public speaking, dramatics, chemistry and mechanical drawing.
