Miss Hollace Shaw In Palos Verdes Concert

The Palos Verdes Community Arts Association will present for a second time in concert, Miss Hollace Shaw, coloratura soprano. Miss Shaw delighted a large audience in Palos Verdes in April of 1935 when she appeared as soloist with the Pomona Girls' Glee Club. Since then she has climbed steadily in achievement and has received flattering publicity on several concert tours, topping her success with the winning of a radio contest.

Miss Shaw is young, pretty and perfectly sure of herself. Among press comments it is constantly repeated that her charm and personality quickly win an audience and that her purity of tone and perfection of execution hold it entranced. Music critics predict a brilliant future for her.

Violinist

On the same program with Miss Shaw will appear a young violinist of equal promise in her field. Miss Orline Burrow has played as soloist with the Pasadena civic orchestra, on Behrmer programs, and in the Philharmonic auditorium. She is also charming in appearance and stage presence, and musical critics describe her as having the "native gifts of the violinist" accompanied by unmistakable temperament, complete musical understanding and fine technique.

The Palos Verdes Community Arts Association invite the public to hear these two artists at the Malaga Cove school auditorium on Friday evening, Dec. 4, 1937, at 8:15. There will be a small admission fee.

Women Head New Departments For Union Pacific Railroad

Mrs. Grace V. Merrill (left) promoted to Supervisor of Dining Service of the Union Pacific Railroad, and Miss Florette C. Welp appointed Chief Nurse Stewardess in charge of training of the corps of registered graduate nurses on Union Pacific trains.

Two more women have been promoted to department heads by the Union Pacific Railroad. Miss Florette C. Welp has been appointed Chief Nurse Stewardess and Mrs. Grace V. Merrill has been named Supervisor of Dining Service. Both will have their headquarters at the company's general office in Omaha and both will have jurisdiction over the entire railroad system over their respective departments. Two years ago the Union Pacific broke American railroad precedents when it named Miss Avis Lobdell, former Portland, Ore. newspaper woman, as special representative of the executive vice president.

Miss Welp, native of Bancroft, Ia., is a registered graduate nurse trained at St. Joseph's Hospital, Omaha, from which she graduated in November, 1932. When the Union Pacific established its now famous "Challenger" train on which registered nurse-stewardesses are a feature, Miss Welp was the first employe of the new department. She entered service with the Union Pacific in August, 1935. Since that date the growth of the stewardess service on Union Pacific trains has resulted in the employment of 32 registered graduate nurses and further expansion is planned. Miss Welp will have charge of the training of these new women employes.

Mrs. Merrill is widely known in business and professional circles. She is a graduate of Bradley Polytechnic Institute in home economics and of Battle Creek College in dietetics. Following five years as dietician at Battle Creek Sanatorium she conducted cooking schools and was connected with several hotels in the capacity of food specialist. She became assistant to the manager in charge of restaurants of the Union Pacific in August, 1935, and in her new capacity will have charge of dining service of the company's dining cars, hotels and restaurants.

Paris Styles

By MARY FENTRESS United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS. (U.P.)—Reversible capes and coats combining two shades of the same material or two contrasting materials are shown for everything from straight sports wear to the most formal evening wrap. Plaids take the first prize for sports wear in swaggar coats with a solid material on the outside and the plaid used as lining and trimming of reverses and cuffs. A matching skirt or dress of the same two-faced material usually completes the reversible sports coats.

Many of the winter suits are made with fur-lined top coats that are reversible. These suits usually include a plain skirt of solid tweed, a sweater or woolen blouse, a tweed jacket of a contrasting color to the skirt and a three-quarter or full-length top coat lined in fur. Leopard or astrakhan are favorite furs used as linings as they are fairly flat. Beaver linings are bulkier but richer looking. As is the case with plaid suit coats, these garments are made with tailored reverses and cuffs which are of fur if that is used as lining or of cloth if the coat is reversed and the fur worn on the outside.

Fur-lined capes are popular for afternoon and evening wear. Many of the afternoon dresses in broadcloth are fur-trimmed and the same fur frequently forms the lining of a reversible cape to match. Similarly, many black velvet evening gowns are trimmed with touches of white ermine. Their matching reversible capes are most luxurious and can be worn with the ermine as lining or outer part of the cape.

TODAY'S FASHION TIP

Reversible coats of two different materials are smart. College Keeps "Date" File CHICO, Calif. (U.P.)—Chico State College has decided to install a "date" bureau. Files will be kept on the social proclivities of all students.
