

Concert Will Star Morini

Erica Morini, greatest woman violinist with Philharmonic orchestra in the fifth pair of concerts, Feb. 4-5, Otto Klemperer conducting, will be heard playing the great Peter Tchaikovsky concerto for violin and orchestra, opus 35.

At the present time the great Russian composed this very melodious but tremendously difficult concerto he dedicated it to Leopold Auer the grand old man, as he came to be known before his death a few years ago—who was the teacher of most of the world's famous violin virtuosos.

Of such technical ability and virtuosity is Morini made that this most stupendous concerto of all time for the violin is one of her regular repertoire numbers. Otto Klemperer will conduct Brahms' Tragic Overture, Richard Strauss' Der Burgher als Edelmann or as the French have it, "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme", and Wagner's Bachanale from Tannhauser.

ASK FOR THESE BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY

An American Doctor's Odyssey by Victor Heiser: For more than 30 years Dr. Heiser was a physician in modern preventive medicine. Up and down the world he has gone many times and has been contact man between millions of unfortunates and the best in medical science. "The book for all the world might be Dr. Heiser talking. He has the trick of painting characters and conditions so that both live vividly before you." Well seasoned with a keen sense of humor and a tolerant kindness, it is a volume anyone will enjoy and as it already reached its 90th thousand, many have enjoyed it.

Three Bags Full by Roger Burlingame: Set in upstate New York which has been the scene of two recently popular books, "Drums Along the Mohawk", by Walter Edmonds, and "Listen for a Lonesome Drum", by Carner, this is a story of history of the Van Heyton family. Burlingame has approached the story and carried it through with insight and compassion through each of the new generations. The characters are flesh and blood and the portraits he draws will not easily be forgotten. Here is history come to life in vivid, purely fictional story of a typical American family from the time of its founder, hard drinking, high living old Hendrik Van Heyton, down five generations, culminating in the story of the modern Van Heytons against this background.

ARE YOU FORTY?
If you are, perhaps your eyes are crying out for extra help when you read fine print. Have your eyes examined. Then, if bifocals will help you, ask us about the new type that is so much more comfortable for your eyes—the modern, Fulvue bifocal, that reduces the uncomfortable "jump" of vision found in ordinary bifocals and avoiding "rainbows" before your eyes.

Universal Language

Help in Establishing Peace Among Nations

In Speaking before the Elementary Parent Teachers Association in the school auditorium Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Luise Kilbright urged parents to attend adult education classes and to study Esperanto, an artificial language designed to be universal. Esperanto was devised by Dr. Zamenhof, a Russian, who accepted as his pen name Dr. Esperanto in publishing his first pamphlet regarding the language in 1887. The vocabulary is based as far as possible on words common to the chief European languages and sounds peculiar to any one language are eliminated. The spelling is phonetic and the accent is always on the last syllable.

A universal language would be of great help in establishing world peace. At present there are, Mrs. Kilbright stated, 3500 different languages which would make it very difficult to address all nations in a world wide radio hook up without a group of interpreters.

PLAYLET BY PUPILS
Children of the second grade, under the direction of their teacher, Sylvia Nelson, presented a delightful playlet entitled "World Friendship".
